The Faculty

MR. ALBRO

A jumble of nonsensical, bewildering syllables and longmarks are brought under the capable tutelage of Mr. Albro. Latin classes are kept lively by his omnipresent wit, for Caesar, Cicero and corn constitute an unbeatable combination with Mr. Albro at the helm. Here is an extremely well-liked gent who will always be welcome at WHS.

DR. ALLEY

Guardian of the most popular room in the school is Dr. Alley, possessor of an unsurpassable knowledge of all things scientific and otherwise. He is the high school's shining example of a "jack of all trades." Industriousness is the key note of Dr. Alley's success which has put him high in the field of science.

MISS ALLISON

The tiny mistress of room twenty is likely to greet you with a stream of Spanish as you enter her room, but it's usually accompanied by a smile, so it can't be too bad. Miss Allison is popular with all her students, and with Latin America becoming of more and more interest to us here in the North, her job is increasingly important.

MISS BAILEY

Can such enthusiastic voices coming from Room 4 belong to Freshmen? It is not impossible, for with Miss Bailey anything can happen, and it usually does. With her effervescent enthusiasm for English literature, backed by personality plus, she makes the hours in her room unforgettable.

MISS BENNETT

Miss Bennett is that everlastingly patient person who starts our typists on the right road to success. Poised, efficient, and very modest, Miss Bennett quietly produces some exceptionally fine typists. She also has taken over the reins in homeroom 24, and has done a fine job in replacing "Bart."

SAMUEL M. GRAVES, Principal

MR. BRANLEY

Printing, mechanical drawing, shopwork, bowling, and basketball are among the many talents of Mr. Branley. All of you have seen him run down the basketball floor in those flashy faculty-student games. Presiding in the Junior High and Wadleigh, he ably instructs us in the finer points of Industrial Arts.

MISS BRONSON

Here is the capable head of our commercial department. Being herself an expert typist and stenographer, she inspires our seniors to their best work at all times. School wouldn't be the same without Miss Bronson and her annual spring crop of successful secretaries.

MR. BROWN

"One, two, three, AND — " issuing from the center of a group of perspiring musicians could be only the voice of Mr. Brown. Our energetic, likeable orchestra-band leader's unceasing efforts have finally provided for WHS a band and an orchestra of note. The student body thanks you, sir.

MR. BUTTERS

Dean of all mathematicians is amiable Mr. Butters, to whom is assigned the trying, uphill task of enlightening our students on a host of baffling figures. Invariably, he launches a top-notch group of mathematicians into the world, and that peerless record itself speaks louder than any other meritorious praise we could accord him.

MISS CARMICHAEL,

With her twinkling eyes and inimitable sense of humor, Miss Carmichael is one of Wadleigh's most popular teachers. Always seeming to have the right answers, she solves the perplexities of the freshmen with ease and there is never a dull moment in her Latin and Algebra classes.

MISS CLARK

Well-dressed attractive Miss Clark, carries on her interesting classes with the same efficiency she always has. Under her direction, her French and English classes ought to be responsible for "bigger and better" vocabularies this year.

MR. COOPER

The upholder of democracy in Winchester High is Mr. Cooper. Taking an active part in the student council, he also teaches Problems of Democracy, explaining why and how our democracy works. One of the youngest members of the faculty, he is an understanding and able instructor.

MISS FENTON

"Debs," you're a peach. All the girls love gym with you at the head of the class, and everyone in the Vau-Devil show has the utmost respect for your capabilities and the greatest liking for you, personally. Here's best of luck to you with the Navy!

MISS GOODRICH

Winchester has many aspiring artists, but Miss Goodrich can take care of them all with tact and friendliness, helping each one personally to do the best he can. Her own abilities are admired by her students, and she herself is a grand friend.

MR. GRAVES

Once we had Mr. Graves for Ancient History, but now he is busy with more important and immediate problems: the expert management of a large high school. He has done a wonderful job in filling Mr. Grindle's shoes, and we want to offer our heartiest congratulations on the work he has done, and our sincere thanks for the help he's given us.

MISS HALL

Some people just walk through room 26 to get to the back stairway, glancing only casually at the maps on all the walls and the seeming jumble of words and phrases on the blackboards. But Miss Hall's students understand all the mysteries of histories (ouch, excuse it, please!) and have a very good time in the process.

MISS HANNON

Custodian of the office is this attractive and efficient secretary to the Principal. Whether we are called in for some error of commission, or willingly drop in seeking information, it's always "service with a smile."

MR. HAYWARD

Our nomination for cross-examiner for WHS and business man extraordinary goes to Mr. Hayward who has kept our English classes on their toes all year with his super-fast comebacks. "Ray" also runs the Vaudevil and financial end of our sports as a "side-line." And have you seen him at the billiard table!

MR. KEENEY

That man is here again! Seriously, Mr. Keeney conducts some of the most interesting classes in the school and is a real friend of all seniors. Although you may leave his room with a sore back and a new name, it's very unlikely that you'll ever forget "Tex" Keeney's classes.

MISS KNOWLTON

If there is any one in WHS who doesn't know his French, it won't be the fault of Mlle. Knowlton. Our spirited "n'est-ce pas" instructor whose hobby seems to be burying herself in a pile of tickets and tax receipts and then happily coming out on top.

MR. KNOWLTON

One of the school's most outstanding Alumni, "Coach" has added great fame to WHS by his remarkable teams. In his second year he produced a championship baseball team; and now in his third, a state championship football team and a better than ever basketball team. "Nuf sed."

MR. LEARY

With great responsibility resting on our future carpenters and lathemen, the school shop is busy all the time. Mr. Leary certainly is a great help with his patience and good nature in spite of all his recently-acquired problem children. Never mind, girls, we know you mean well!

Front Row: Mr. Nichols, Miss Fenton, Dr. Alley, Miss Mackedon, Mr. Graves, Mrs. Stacy, Mr. Butters, Miss Bronson, Mr. Keeney.
Middle Row: Miss Wilfert, Miss Hall, Miss Goodrich, Miss Peabody, Miss Hannon, Miss Bennett, Miss Swymer, Miss Carmichael, Miss Clark, Miss Bailey, Miss Skornik.
Back Row: Mr. Hayward, Mr. Rodgers, Mr. Stevens, Mr. Smith, Mr. Swenson, Mr. Cooper, Mr. Knowlton, Mr. Newton, Mr. Palmer.

MISS MACKEDON

French becomes the most enjoyable period of the day under the guidance of vivacious Miss Mackedon. Her popularity can be traced to her sense of humor and method of enlightening her classes on French verbs, nouns, and sailors. Graduates never forget the cheerful atmosphere and the goodnatured teacher of room 22.

MR. NEWTON

Our hats are off to Mr. Newton, the gentleman who did such an excellent job directing this year's Junior-Senior Class Play. Besides helping to make it the success that it was, he has skillfully filled the vacancy which was left by Mr. Small in the English department.

MR. NICHOLS

"In Math, a rule's a rule and there's no exception!" These immortal words will go down in history, at least in the minds of Mr. Nichols' students. Seriously though, he's a swell teacher and although we may forget our Algebra, we'll never forget the hours spent in his classes — (will we, girls!).

MISS NIVEN

If you want a reliable recipe, advice on how to break an egg, or just a friendly chat with a swell person, see Miss Niven. She has loads of good ideas on how to have a "personality plus," and can always find time to hand out suggestions, although she is one of the busiest people in the school.

MR. PALMER

Here's one of the most versatile men in the high school — he teaches bookkeeping, science, and math as well as assistant-coaching the football team. As an athlete, he has become very popular with the boys, and his good-natured grin when you bring him a broken crucible has endeared him to his chemistry classes.

MISS PARKER

Talk about being busy — you can find Miss Parker in her room at four o'clock almost any afternoon, correcting English themes, working over her problems as advisor to the senior class, or straightening out the personal problems of all her friends in the student body. She has a grand sense of humor, and will be long remembered as one of our best teachers.

MISS PEABODY

One of our most patient and hard-working instructors is Miss Peabody, biologist and chemist in her own right. She labors unceasingly to pound the mysteries of "protoplasm" and "life functions" into strongly resisting skulls in her lab at Wadleigh. Hats off to you, ma'am!

MISS RENEHAN

Maybe you wouldn't think that a beautiful blonde with a lovely soprano voice and a big smile could handle a chorus of two hundred voices, but she does, and more. She makes us all sing like sixty, and the many friendships formed with her will last and affect us for a long time to come.

MR. RODGERS

Mr. Rodgers is the man who has the thankless job of introducing the mysteries of Geometry to bewildered sophomores. Besides this, he aptly teaches Victory and General Math, and coaches the boys' tennis team. Incidentally, he plays a pretty good game himself!

MR. SHUTTS

Mr. Shutts hails from Simsbury, Connecticut, and teaches recalcitrant freshmen the high points in Ancient History and Civics. He's always ready for a friendly argument, especially over politics, but we suspect that his chief interests are in the sports world. You ought to see him bowl!

MISS SKORNIK

A round, little face, a big braid of hair wrapped around her head and a charming, low voice are the exclusive properties of Miss Skornik, secretary-supreme in the school. Her nimble fingers jumping over a typewriter are fascinating to watch, and her chic clothes and manner are the envy of us girls.

MR. SMITH

With an active interest in general school activities, Mr. Smith is popular with all students. His Civics classes are undoubtedly turning out some of the future leaders of the United States, and the Wadleigh traffic squad couldn't get along without him.

MRS. STACY

Mrs. Stacy is that busy woman who does such a good job of teaching American History to the seniors and encouraging thrift among all. Events from the discovery of America to the New Deal are brought to life and made so interesting that we will long remember our vivacious instructor!

MR. STEVENS

An institution in himself is the interpreter of all literature from Shakespeare to Sheridan, Mr. Stevens. Usually, however, the "Mr. Stevens" is irrelevant, for the time-honored tab of "J. D." has clung to him through thick and thin. His close associations with Red and Black are enjoyable for his cohorts, his basketball ability is unquestioned, and his popularity unparalleled.

MR. SWENSON

You know him — tall, efficient, with a ready smile for everyone and a great desire and ability to help us plan our years ahead. Mr. Swenson has made a definite place for himself in the heart of the student body in the short time since his arrival.

MISS SWYMER

Quiet, attractive Miss Swymer has a heart of gold, and will lend you a pair of scissors or a paper clip on first request. Her pleasant smile and sense of humor have made her a grand friend to all the office-frequenting students.

MISS WILFERT

Miss Wilfert is that cute blonde who rules over our library with a firm but gentle hand. She is a walking dictionary, knowing the answers to all questions, and always putting her hand on the right book. We shall regret losing her to the WAVES, but we are sure she will be an outstanding success in performing her patriotic duties!

BUILDING CUSTODIANS

We can't end the year without acknowledging the efforts of our several janitors —

Daniel O'Donnell

William McLaughlin

Fred Morris

Peter Benson

You, gentlemen, have put up with our childishness, overlooked our "shenanigans," and admired our growth. Hail to you four!

History of the Senior Class

Ours was a war class from the very start. We walked into Wadleigh accompanied by the first booms of the guns being fired across the waters. All year in Ancient History class we heard Mr. Graves discourse on current events, listened to the radio newscasts, and made prophecies on how long each small country would hold out. But America was still fiercely isolationist, and, except in the classroom, we left the arguments and worries to our parents.

We were initiated into a good many things that freshman year. Under Miss Bailey's guidance we became acquainted with "Treasure Island," "Sohrab and Rustum," and "The Lady of the Lake." Miss Carmichael, with her wonderful smile and standards of excellence paved the way to make Caesar easy for us. And that Mr. Nichols made algebra a joy and delight for all the girls, as well as coaching to its first successes a football team with a great future.

Jack Errico, Mary Wood, Joy Pray, and Pete Twombly were our class officers. As the largest freshman class the school had ever seen, we participated in all extra-curricular activities in a big way. Bill West and Jack Errico co-captained a successful freshman football team. Dave Holmes, Bob Goddu, and Bert Gurley played ice hockey. Pete Twombly, Bob Goddu, Bill West, Robbie Ramsdell, and Charlie Murphy were stars on the diamond. And as for track, well—Jocko Murray, "Whew" Hawkes, Bob Pynn, Bob Coon, Bob Johnston, Paul Blake, and Frannie Poirier formed the basis of a swell squad. An unprecedented number of girls went out for all sports; Mary Keyes won a first-team letter in tennis.

Excited at finally being allowed to go to such definitely high school affairs, we danced dreamily in the gym to "Deep Purple" and "Begin the Beguine." We did the Big Apple, and when we were so tired we could hardly stand, we refueled on cokes and cookies or cider and do-nuts. Our officers went to the prom, loved the decorations, the formality, the "Gold Coast" Orchestra.

This was the year we took turns going up to assemblies; lined up for "A" lunch by homeroom tardiness records; dropped our money and our food in the cafeteria; bought the new "Red and Black" and avidly read the gossip column. We got into snowball fights, arguments with teachers, and left poor old Wadleigh glad for a summer's rest.

Dear old golden rule days . . ."*

Before we knew what had happened, we were up in the main building, still an over-confident, super-size group, undismayed by frequent four o'clock detentions and limitations on our activities. Many of us blossomed forth with good marks all of a sudden; still more of us, attacked by growing pains, let studies go to the four winds and spent our time outside enjoying the fine weather and a good football team.

Bill West, Pete Twombly, Bob Ramsdell, and Marie Moore attended the prom in the capacity of class officers. Many more of us went out for sports: Betsy Drake played first team hockey, while Dottie Richardson, Shirley Palson, and Esther Capone earned second team awards. Mim Philbrook, Joan Wild, Ellen Jackson, and Marjorie Smith wowed the boys at the basketball games.

Student government was in full swing, gaining influence over us. In our up-in-the-air third floor homerooms we debated important questions, and resisted the teachers' attempts to curb our enthusiasm. We gayly clattered into "B" lunch, proud of associating with the upperclassmen, and disdainfully pushing aside the junior-highers when we met them on the stairs. We ate hot-dogs and hamburgers, placed on the menu by popular request. The "Red and Black" conducted quizzes, only to find that the teachers prefer classical music, to an overwhelming majority of students in favor of jazz, swing, blues. We loved the "Beer Barrel Polka," "Frenesi," and "Little Sir Echo," and pushed down the gym floor a couple inches under their strenuous influence.

The White Cliffs of Dover . . ."*

We came to school with the echoes of England's horrible summer of bombing in our ears. Roosevelt's "Stab in the Back" speech had stirred our patriotism, and we were all involved in Lend Lease and Red Cross work. Our sympathies were enlisted for the tragic story of Greece; Russia began bearing the brunt of Hitler's attacks.

The second day of school a new enlarged "Red and Black" was flaunted in our faces by the enterprising senior editors. A few days later we were floored, amazed, and all that to have the A.A. tickets reduced in price from one dollar to eleven cents (remember the tax!) to increase the percentage of members in the school. During the year cafeteria prices went up, and we bowed under the added weight of pennies in our pockets.

Competent and popular class officers were elected in Bill Mooney, Pete Twombly, Franny Poirier, and Helen Elliott. We invaded room 35, sacred to the juniors, and caused Mr. Stevens to pull out a few more handfuls from an already thinning head of hair. Mr. Butters asked us, "Don't you remember any algebra?", and we were introduced to that renowned radiator of French wit, Miss Mackedon. We did a bang-up job on a tenth anniversary Vau-Devil, with most of the talent in the class participating in the "Cowboy Act." Bill West, our three-letter man, won the Harvard Book Award as the outstanding junior boy. Claire Smalley, Frank Horne, Parker Symmes, Janet Eaton, and John Maynard held feature roles in that smash-hit comedy, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court."

Pearl Harbor! We sat in the assembly hall, listening to the President's message and endless debates in Congress. We were awed by the swiftness of events, and couldn't really believe we were at war. But later that year we lost Mr. Grindle to the colors, along with several of the faculty and some schoolmates. New dim-out rules were established, and we had air raid drills. This was the year, too, that we kept on daylight saving time throughout the winter — arriving at school with flashlights and watching the sun come up during first period class.

Remember the paper drive? We were all set to get a band, and help the government out too.

In the sports world, we were a wow - with Bill West, Bob Jackson, and "Fatty" Buzzotta outstanding stars on the gridiron, while Bill Mooney raced around the basketball and tennis courts. Dick Briggs captained the cross-country squad, and many hustlers were on the track team. First team field hockey was played by Esther Capone, Betsy Drake, Shirley Palson, Dottie Richardson, and Phyllis Russell. Mim Philbrook was captain-elect for next year in basketball, with many able followers.

And in this junior year we mustn't forget that championship baseball team which for the first time in years brought glory to that side of Winchester's sport life. Frank Russo, captain-elect, was the only first-team letter winner from our class, and he contributed more than his share to a winning team.

Identifications will be found on the last page.

"On Winchester, on, Winchester, Plunge right through that line . . ."

1942—Will you ever forget that football season? Every Saturday was as clear as could be; we met one team after another; our excitement grew deeper and deeper as we won each game; no one had really expected a year like this! Framingham, Swampscott, Punchard, and so on down the list, not forgetting Stoneham and Belmont—we beat them all—until finally that wonderful Thanksgiving morning in Woburn when the kids came through at the last minute, to win 13-3. At last we could relax, resting on our laurels as Class "C" Champs! Captain Bill West and "Crusher" Jackson made the all-scholastic teams; Bill was high scorer in the state with 97 points. Other first team letter winners were Dave Holmes, "Fatty" Buzzotta, Gaspie Lentine, Harry Boodakian, Bob Treacy, Jim Farrell, Franny Poirier, Jack Errico, John Murray, and Frank Melargni. Second team stars were Bill Daley, Addison Augusta, and "Nini" Luongo.

Our officers for this memorable year were Frank Buzzota, Bob Jackson, Dave Holmes, and Bob Ramsdell. Charlie Murphy was president of the A.A., and Paul Blake headed the Student Council, Jean Stillman and Alice Parker co-edited the Red and Black, while John Murray topped off the Thrift Association. We were true leaders in all schools organizations, and whatever we were associated with was successful.

Gas rationing affected the date problem a great deal, but attendance at school functions suffered no letdown. We danced to Bing Grindle's orchestra in the gym, listening to "I've Got Spurs" and "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition." Student Council dances were a great success—and the Prom was too wonderful to describe.

Remember the fun we had singing behind the scenes at the Vau-Devil? Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean? Peggy Fitzgerald's voice? and all the other acts that were such fun?

Frank Horne starred in the Junior-Senior Class Play as "Magee" in the "Seven Keys to Baldpate," while Claire Smalley, Janet Eaton, Parker Symmes, John Tarbell, Stearns Ellis, Bob Coon, and Bob Goddu held down supporting roles.

Football wasn't the only sport with Championship records and players. Field hockey fiends were Captain Esther Capone, Betsy Drake, Mim Philbrook, Shirley Palson, Phyllis Russell, Mary Keyes, Doey Wild, and Carol Crandall. Girls' basketball beauties included Captain Mim Philbrook, Betsy Drake, Doey Wild, Shirley Palson, Esther Capone, Carol Crandall, and Marjorie Smith. And Betsy Drake and Mary Keyes played top-flight tennis.

The boy hoopsters got invited to the Tech tournament, as the result of an excellent season. Pete Twombly captained the squad; senior letter winners were Bill West, Franny Poirier, Charlie Murphy, Kenny Wright, Jack Errico, and Jim Farrell.

Heroes of a swell track team were Fred Lindberg, Phil Ewell, Dick Briggs, Andre Redding, Robert Donahue, Parker Symmes, and Hugh Hawkes. Captain Jack Tarbell, and Chubby Ellis floored their opponents in tennis, while on the baseball diamond we were represented by Captain Frank Russo, Charlie Murphy, and Addison Augusta.

The process of education was interrupted for many of the boys by their leaving for the armed services. John Murray, Bill Daley, Bradley Batson, and Manning Farrell left before the end of school. Those registered in reserve, to be called for training after graduation, are Bill West, Jim Farrell, Kenny Wright, Franny Poirier, Bob Coon, Paul Blake, Bob Cox, Bruce Hamilton, David Holmes, and Bob Ramsdell. Others have left for training in essential war industries, and many girls have already left to accept secretarial positions.

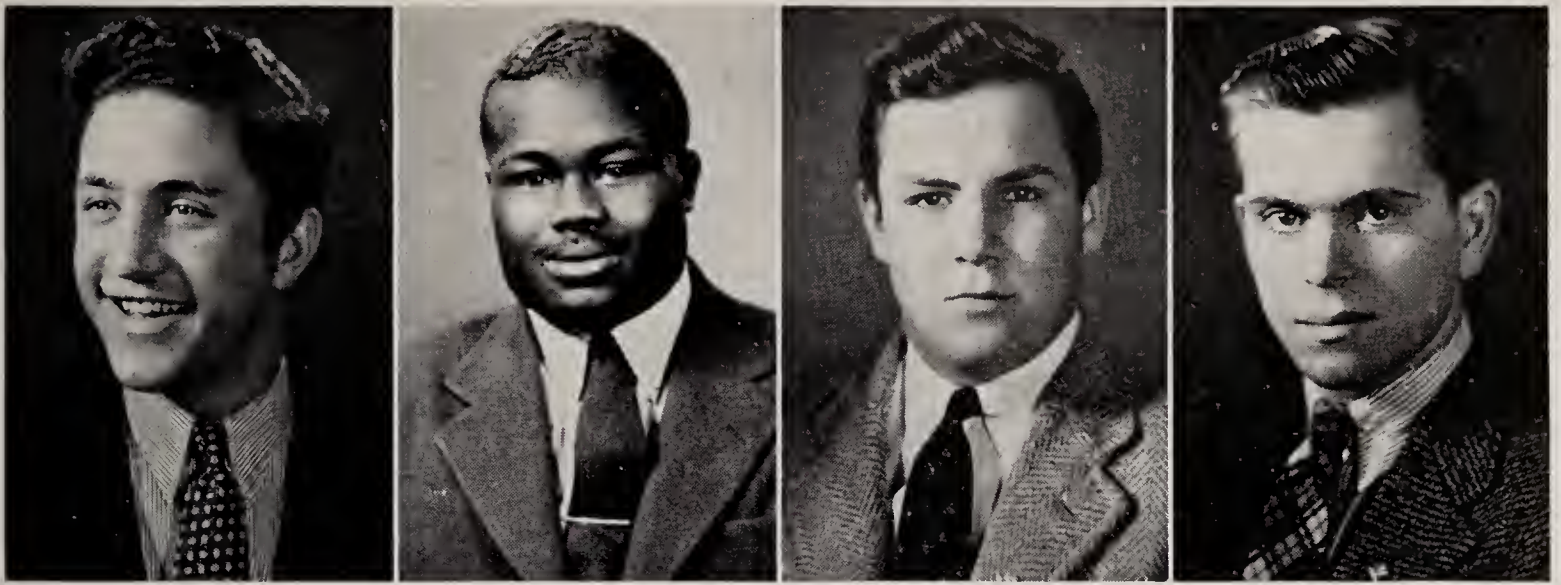

For the first time in many years there was a banquet held in the gym on Class Night, followed by an evening of hilarious entertainment. Movies and dancing made our last informal get-together a complete success.

And then there were all those last minute graduation rehearsals — the suppressed excitement all day Friday — and finally that breath-taking moment when we stepped forward to receive our diplomas, and heard the scholarships and prizes awarded.

They've been a full four years. We've all had fun, learned a lot, and made a firm basis for future development. Sound friendships have been formed; we'll never forget these years.

"I'll take a cup o' kindness yet For auld lang syne . . ."

Class of 1943

PHYLLIS ANDERSON

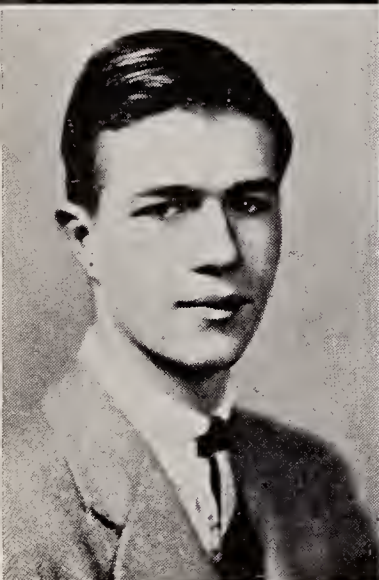

"Phyl" Secretary
Secret Ambition: He's a secret.
Activities: Traffic Squad, A. A. Rep., Basketball.

Phyl is a likeable girl with a most nonchalant air about her, is a swell jokester and proves herself a friend to everybody. May she always get the most out of life.

ADDISON AUGUSTA

"Ad" Army or Navy
Secret Ambition: See two speeding trains hit head on.
Activities: Traffic Squad, Football team.

"Ad" is a very quiet young man, at least to all outward appearances. He really can let loose if he has the inclination. He is the object of Mr. Keeney's favorite remark, "I don't understand you!"

LAWRENCE PILLSBURY BACON

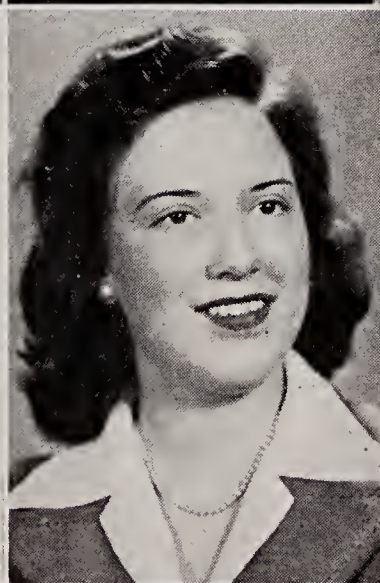

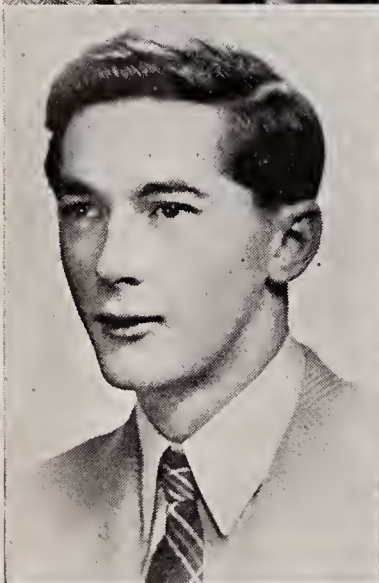

"Larry," "Bake" U. S. Navy
Secret Ambition: Naval officer.
Activities: A. A., Football, Basketball, Chorus.

Quiet, unassuming, yet one who can be looked upon as a true friend. He believes that although speech may be silver, silence is golden. His amiable personality is his most valuable asset.

MARIE BERTHA BARRON

"Shrimp" Secretary
Secret Ambition: Marines.

Short and sweet describes Marie to a "T." Her true characteristic of brightening up her surroundings always will be remembered. Shrimp is always in a hurry, but never can her wonderful personality pass you by.

PAUL GIRARD BLAKE

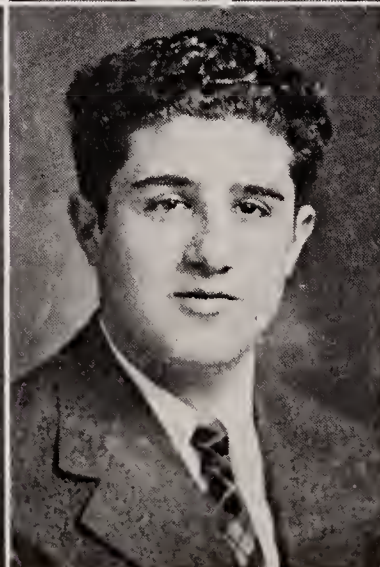

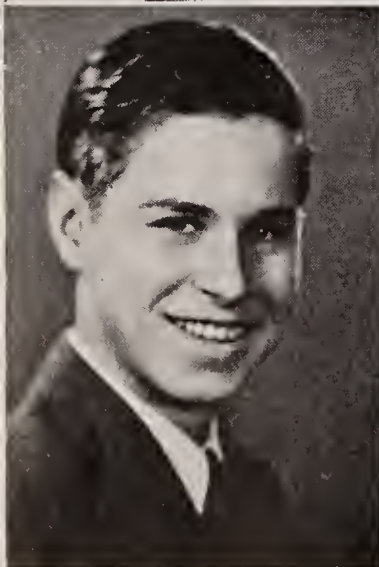

"Bonzo" College and Marines
Secret Ambition: He has her, and it's no secret.
Activities: Track, Traffic, Student Council, Council Pres., Council Treas., Thrift, Freshman Football, Red and Black, Science Club, Vaudevil Committee.

The genial President of the Student Council, is famous for a brain that can drag down 90's. His ability with the pen, and his power on the track, label him as one of our class leaders.

JOAN BLANCHARD

"Joanie" Work with Shirley
Secret Ambition: To share a N. Y. apartment with Shirl, Yvonne, Char. and "Cokie."
Activities: Basketball, Traffic, A. A., Dramatic Society, Vaudevil, Chorus.

Joanie is a true friend with plenty of pep and personality and none of us will ever forget that famous laugh.. She is capable and responsible. These qualities will assure her of success always.

ROBERT ALBERT BOLIVAR

"Bulldog" Army Air Corps
Secret Ambition: To beat Rickenbacker's record.
Activities: Traffic Squad, Commando Squad, Banker.

Here is a shy suave lady's man, who believes there is safety in numbers, if the number is one. Bulldog is one good all-round fellow and a staunch advocate of flying. Seriousness plus ability will make life easy to meet.

HARRY BOODAKIAN

"Eva" Army Air Corps
Secret Ambition: To be present at Hitler's funeral.
Activities: Football, Traffic.

Known to his friends as "Eva," a name acquired during football, Harry may be found directing traffic on the second floor. He is never without a smile for everyone who kids him about Josephine.

NORMA GRACE BOYLE

Secretarial Work

Secret Ambition: To join the Waves.
Activities: Cum Laude, Banking.

Norma is that petite brunette who has an ear for music and an eye for a certain Navy boy. To all outward appearances, she is very serene, but to her intimate friends she is a fun-loving girl. Best of luck, Norma!

BARBARA MARY BRAY

"Barb" Wilfred Academy

Secret Ambition: Join the Waves.
Activities: Chorus.

"Good things come in small packages," thoroughly describes "Barb." This neat little package is full of energy and ready for action. She is a faithful worker and efficient with complete silence. She has a habit of avoiding service men!

RICHARD BROWNELL BRIGGS

"Dick" U. S. Navy

Secret Ambition: A four minute mile.
Activities: Science Club, Red Cross, Captain of Cross Country, Co-Captain of Track, Intra-mural Basketball, football team trainer.

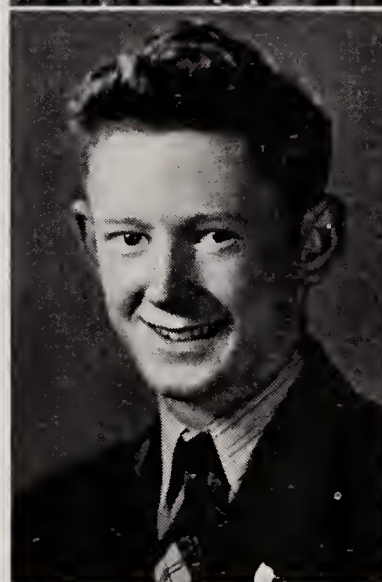

A pleasing personality combined with abundant energy makes Dick an all-round sport. Well liked, he is always willing to do his part. His pet peeve is taking care of his kid sister. When you see a cloud of dust on the track, you'll know Capt. Briggs has just passed by.

BARBARA BROWNING

"Barb" Cornell College

Secret Ambition: To get enough sleep.
Activities: Softball Team, Class Basketball, Athletic Association.

Barb is that cute, little blonde whose heart is at Medford. She is better known as "Cookie" over there. She likes sports but is more outstanding on her roller skates down at the Bal-a-Roue. She is, best of all, a true friend.

LILLIAN WINIFRED BRYCE

"Babe" Business School

Secret Ambition: Travel.
Activities: A. A. Representative, Red Cross, Chorus.

Good looks, personality, pep, and intelligence are what make Babe such a popular girl. We know it won't be long before her dreams of being a super-secretary come true.

JAMES MICHAEL BURKE, Jr.

"Jimmy" Lawyer

Secret Ambition: President.
Activities: Track.

Jim joined us in October, '42, after attending schools in Portsmouth, O., Binghamton, N. Y. He spends much time on Red Cross at Town Hall, is a chess champion and great track enthusiast. Winchester has been just that greater because of Jim.

SUZANNE BOYNTON BURR

"Sue" Chandler

Secret Ambition: Foreign Correspondent.
Activities: Basketball, Student Council, Class Play Committee, Chorus, Vaudevil.

Coming to Winchester as a Soph, Sue hit WHS with a bang. How can we ever forget her stellar performances in our Vaudevil Shows with her vocal renditions? And we do hope she can straighten out that military situation she has on her hands!

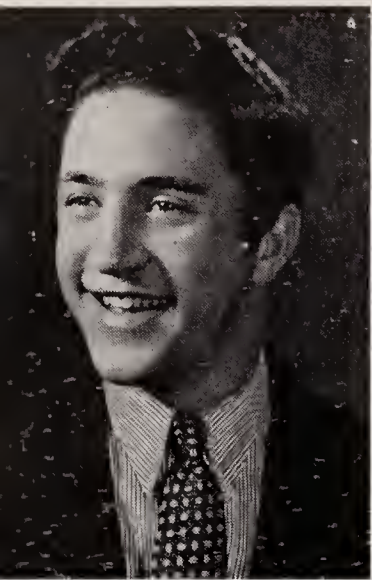

ARTHUR ERWIN BUTTERS, JR.

"Art" College

Activities: Banking, Student Council, Camera Club, Traffic, Class Play Committee, A. A. Representative, Vaudevil Stage Committee.

Quiet and hardworking, "Art," a devoted camera fan, was born and brought up in Winchester. An untiring worker with a natural ability for math, makes Arthur a worthy descendant of The House of Butters.

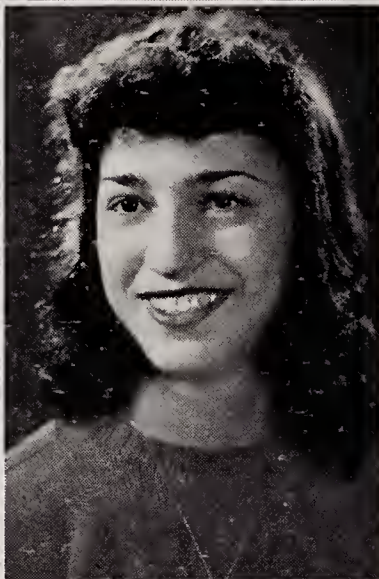

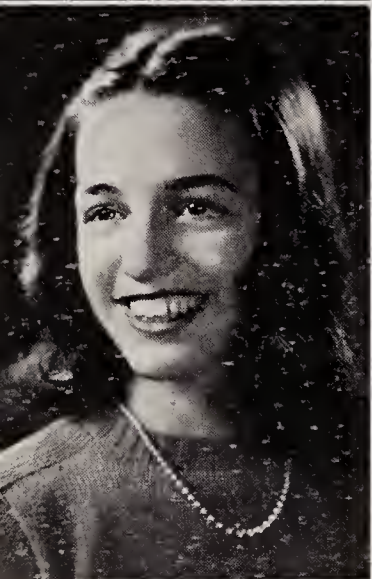

FRANK PETER BUZZOTTA
 "Buzz," "Fat" To be a success
 Secret Ambition: Travel through the National Parks.
 Activities: Student Council, Traffic
 Squad, Football, Basketball, Senior Class President, Class Play Committee, Vice-Pres. Chorus, Red Cross.

A broad grin and a grand personality have won for "Buzz" many friends.
 Besides being quick-witted in calling plays on the gridiron, he has a certain technique in captivating the hearts of the fair sex. We all know that "Buzz" will be as successful in life as he has been in school.

CLARA CAPONE
 "Cla" Secretary
 Secret Ambition: Join the Waacs.
 Activities: Chorus.

Clara has not made much noise in dear old Winchester High, but she has always been a friend upon whom one can depend. Her ambition is to get a good position as a typist, and we predict that if ever the chance comes, she'll be an asset to her employer.

ESTHER BARBARA CAPONE
 "Es" Secretarial Work
 Secret Ambition: Join the Marines.
 Activities: Varsity Hockey, Varsity Softball, Varsity Basketball, Cum Laude, Captain of Hockey.

She's that short whizz you see throwing those curve balls in basketball. "Es" has quite a crush on "Victor Mature" — but strictly admiration!! She has her spells of solitude in which she acquires that stuff called "work." All in all, she's a wonderful kid to know.

FRANCES MARION CAPONE
 "Kay" Copley Fashion School
 Secret Ambition: To meet Ted Williams.
 Activities: Hockey.

Without "Kay" what would "B" lunch be like? All her time is spent in talking about Ted Williams. Let's hope she meets her idol someday. Without a doubt she's one of the best kids in the Class of '43.

HERMAN C. CARLSON
 "Hermie" U. S. Navy
 Secret Ambition: To become famous.
 Activities: Traffic.

The baby of the family has grown up to be quite a "man." Herm's a sure hit for success, one of the school's smartest students, quiet unless there is an argument on baseball, and he knows a beautiful gal when he sees one.

DOROTHY MAE CARROLL
 "Dottie" Business School
 Secret Ambition: Private Secretary.
 Activities: Library Club, Glee Club, Chorus.

Dot is our quiet attractive brunette.
 in spite of her quietness, she is a delightful person to have around. She has a contagious sense of humor and is liked by all who know her.

CHARLES GENARO CIRIGNANO
 "Gerry" College
 Secret Ambition: Write up first world series in Boston.
 Activities: Aberjona, Red Cross, Art Club, Class Play, Vaudevil Show, Honor Roll.

Although you may not know Gerry,
 you must be acquainted with the swell drawings and posters he does for everything that happens in the school. This boy has real talent, and with this ability plus his good nature, he is sure to succeed.

YVONNE MERCIL CLENNON
 "Steve," "Pep," "Evie"
 Bouve or Wisconsin University
 Secret Ambition: To share a N. Y. apartment with Joanie, Char, Shirley and "Cokie."
 Activities: Basketball, Red and Black, Vaudevil, Red Cross, Dramatic Society, Chorus, Aberjona.

Yvonne is the name that brings but one word to our minds — talent. She is so accomplished in her dancing, singing, painting, and general musical ability that she will be remembered by all. The most perfect romance in WHS is that of Yvonne and Bob.

ANNE LOUISE COGAN

"Two-Gun" Secretarial Work
Secret Ambition: To spend a week in each state in the union.
Activities: Cum Laude.

With her sunny disposition and pleasing smile, Anne's a girl you ought to know. She's got that certain something that makes her fun to be with, plus a brain that will help make her a success in any work she chooses to do. Here's to Anne — always ready, willing and very able.

ELIZABETH MARY COMITA

"Betty" Office Work
Secret Ambition: Become an expert in hair dressing.

Betty's flashing brown eyes filled with laughter, and a sunny smile cheerily greet her friends every morning. Quiet, unassuming and a rare package of shyness, Betty will always be a friend upon whom one can depend. We wish her bon voyage in her life's journey.

RICHARD CONRAD CORDICE

"Dick" Armed Forces
Secret Ambition: To woo and win.
Activities: Student Council.

Dick is a quiet, intelligent (and how!), fellow who minds his own business and gets along with everyone. He also possesses a dual personality. In public, he seems very modest and timid, but elsewhere he is just as lively as the best of us. Here's the best to the best.

CAROL FRANCES CRANDALL

"Cary" Radcliffe
Secret Ambition: "Brazil."
Activities: Banker, Basketball, Softball, Hockey, Second Team Captain; Cheerleader, Head Cheerleader, Chorus, Associate Editor of Aberjona, Dramatic Society, Vaudevil.

Always getting in "dutch" or out of it! Generous, warm hearted, capable, plus good looks describes one of the most faithful and sincere friends a person could have. Cary will always come "smiling through," and we wish there were more like her.

CLARK WILKINS COLLINS, JR.

"C. C." Army Air Corps or Dartmouth Secret Ambition: To break 80.

Clark is the tall, dark and handsome boy who is usually seen escorting a former student of WHS. A quiet disposition does not hamper his making many friends. This combined with good manners insure him a high place in later life.

RALPH ROBERT COON

"Bob," "Deacon" U. S. Marine College
Secret Ambition: To become a minister.
Activities: Tennis Manager, Banker, Freshman Football, Cheer Leader, Science Club, Track Team, Vaudevil, A. A. Representative, Class Play, Red Cross, Class Basketball.

Bob is the blonde gentleman commonly seen strolling leisurely down the corridors kidding with the weaker (?) sex. The "Deacon" enlisted in the Marine Reserve while a senior, but we hope he fills out his secret ambition. P.S.—It will be in Portland, Me., if he does.

ROBERT EDWARD COX

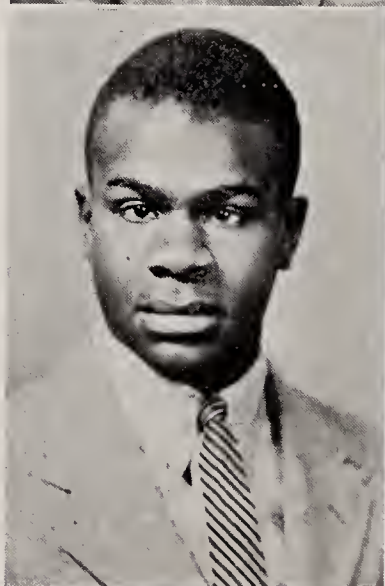

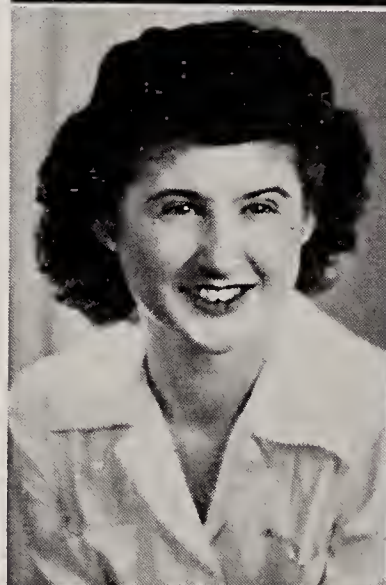

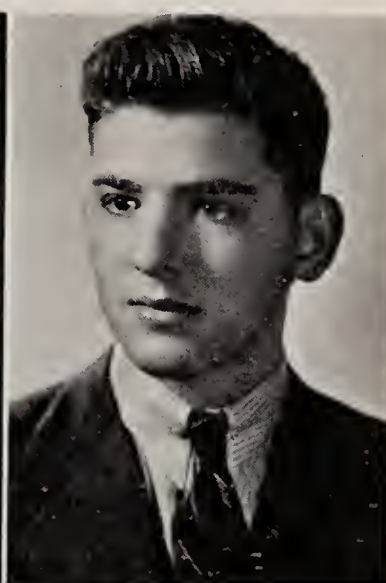

"Bob" Armed Forces
Secret Ambition: To be a doctor.
Activities: Football.

His whole life has been spent wandering, and the latest place is the first floor of WHS. Bob enters college after graduation as a private in the Marine Corps. In case you are still in doubt, he is the fellow who always wears a smile and a wink for the fair sex.

ANNETTE CROUGHWELL

Post Graduate and Junior College
Secret Ambition: To ride in a locomotive.
Activities: Dramatic Society, Aberjona Circulation Mgr., Vaudevil, Chorus, Class Play Committee, Class Ring Committee.

Full of fun, a vivacious personality, friendly, and yet a serious side describes Annette. An alluring smile has won her a place in many extra school activities. Her golden voice is admired by all who have been privileged to hear it.

ARNOLD CUMMINGS

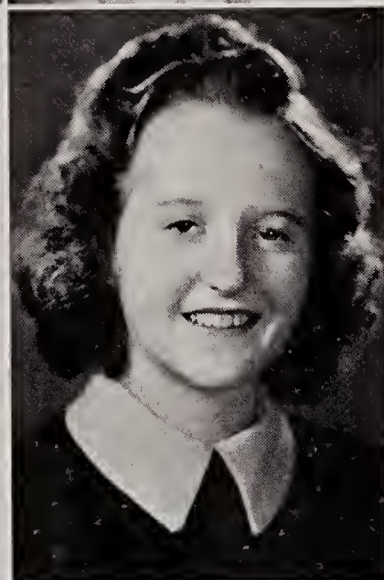

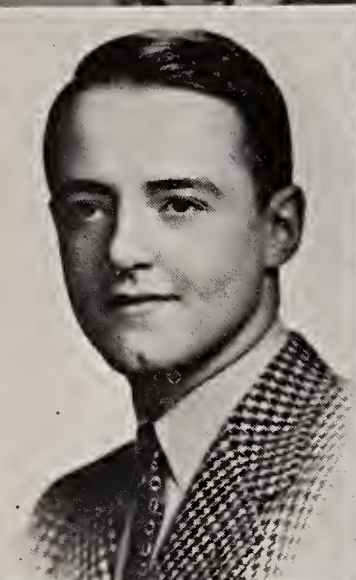

"Farmer" U. S. Navy
Secret Ambition: To become a Naval officer.
Activities: Football, Vaudevil.

"Better late than never," must be Farmer's motto, whether it's graduation, math class, or getting to school. His characteristic, carefree manner gives him "what it takes" to acquire friends and keep them. Farmer will succeed in whatever he undertakes.

DORIS DAIGNEAULT

"Squirt" Secretarial Work
Secret Ambition: To invent a squirtless grapefruit.
Activities: Red Cross, Cum Laude.

Nothing worries her and nothing bothers her! Independent, sincere, quiet, modest with a will of her own, she is noted for her frankness. We all wonder why Doris blushes so easily. You know Doris — that won't do if you want to be a private secretary.

WILLIAM HENRY DALEY III

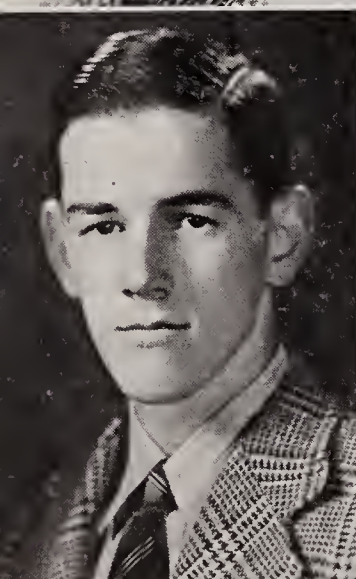

"Bill" Army Air Corps
Secret Ambition: To go steady.
Activities: Class Play, Vaudevil, Red and Black, Football, Class Nominating Committee.

Hail fellow well met, with a personality liked by all. His sense of humor makes the classroom pleasanter by its presence. Entering as a Soph. he stepped at once into school affairs. Bill displays an artistic talent in charming the fair sex.

ELIZABETH MADORA DEROO

"Libby" Secretary
Secret Ambition: It wouldn't be secret if told.
Activities: Library Club, A. A.

Mix up a vivacious nature, throw in a couple of winks, plus a sparkling smile, yes, that's "Libby," with her happy-go-lucky way. She is the life of any party.

ROBERT DONAHUE

"Bob" U. S. Army
Secret Ambition: To live among the pampas.
Activities: Track, Football, 2nd team; Traffic Squad, Camera Club, Vaudevil, Basketball.

Bob is that tall senior with the impressive vocabulary. He has a hand in almost everything going on from the Camera Club to Vaudevil. Bob expects to enter the Army soon after graduation and as he is an expert cook, it is easy to see that he will be very popular.

MILDRED DORSEY

"Sally" Nursing School
Secret Ambition: To know how to play the piano well.
Activities: Dramatic Club.

Millie is the girl with the nicest disposition and the yearn to help all man-kind! Her future will compare with Florence Nightingale's and in her spare time she will fascinate her admirers by playing the piano. Besides these talents Millie could do well in the theatrical world making up the stars of Hollywood. Here's to a real gal!

BETSY DRAKE

"Bets" Cornell Pre-Medical
Secret Ambition: Enlist in W. A. F. S., drive to Alaska, to be a vet.
Activities: Varsity Hockey, Varsity Basketball, Varsity Tennis, Tennis Captain, Student Council, Cheerleader, Dramatic Club, Traffic, Red and Black, Science Club, Vaudevil, Class Play Committee, Orchestra, Chorus.

Here she is — the all-round girl of WHS! Active in sports and extra-curricular activities, "Bets" has an excellent scholastic record as well, and her cheerful smile and unbounded enthusiasm liven up every class she's in. Best o' luck to you, "Bets."

JANET CARY EATON

"Jan" Colby Junior College
Secret Ambition: To have as much fun in the future, as in the past.
Activities: Dramatic Society, Class Play, Vaudevil, Banker, Chorus, Red and Black, Cheerleader.

What will the tap chorus and the class play do without Jan? She's the popular and snappily dressed gal with the "Navy" blue eyes. Sincerity, looks to fill the eye, and personality plus, that's Jan!

WILLIAM JOSEPH EATON

"Bill," "Joe" U. S. Navy
Secret Ambition: To dance on roller skates.
Activities: Traffic.

Bill is that tall, dark and handsome chap who is often seen chatting busily in the lunchroom or in Room 12 with WHS beauties. As he is efficient and well mannered, he will make some lucky organization a fine secretary. Most of his spare time is spent at Bal-a-Roue.

HELEN F. ELLIOTT

"El" Boston University
Secret Ambition: To be private secretary to —!
Activities: Second Team Hockey, Vaudevil Ticket Committee, Junior Class Treasurer, Cum Laude, Aberjona.

Although she's shy and quiet when one first meets her, Helen's friends know that she is just the opposite when the occasion arises. With the brilliant record Helen has made at WHS, we are confident that she will succeed in life.

ROBERT WILLIAM ELLIS

"Robbie" The army is making plans
Secret Ambition: It's still a secret.
Activities: Science Club, Student Council, Traffic.

His engaging personality, humor, and ambition will take this — "a 'wow' with the females" — gentlemen a long way on life's highway. More power to a great guy!

STEARNS RUSSELL ELLIS, II

"Chubby" Harvard
Secret Ambition: A two weeks' hike to the White Mountains.
Activities: Dramatic Society, Vaudevil, Chorus, Banker, Class Play, Varsity Tennis, Science Club, Aberjona.

"Chub" is that good-looking chap you see rushing about school. A marvel on the stage, a genius with a tennis racket. He occasionally extends his versatility towards scholastic endeavors. With his happy-go-lucky way, he will be a sure success in Harvard.

GIACOMO JAMES ERRICO

"Boss," "Reek," "Jock"
Work for Uncle Sam
Secret Ambition: To kill a Jap.
Activities: President of Freshman Class, Co-Capt. Freshman Football, Freshman Traffic Chief, Basketball, Football, Baseball, Student Council, Traffic, Vaudevil.

If ever you want to meet a swell fellow, get acquainted with Jack Errico. He is never seen with a serious look. When it comes to women, "The Reek" is another Casanova. Best of luck to you, Jack!

ROSE MARIE ERRICO

"Rosie" Secretarial School
Secret Ambition: To find one.
Activities: A. A. Representative.

"Rosie" is a quiet girl while in school, but when school's out — wow! Her outside interests are centered around Connecticut, but with the rationing and all, it's hard to get around. Her likeable personality and taste for swing are famous.

PHILIP LAWRENCE EWELL

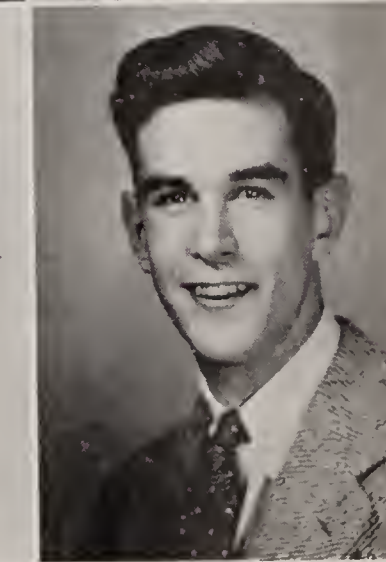

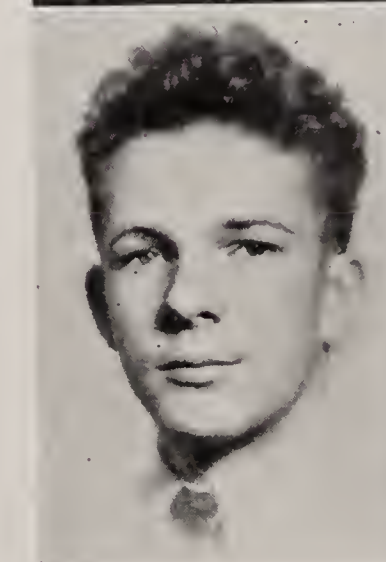

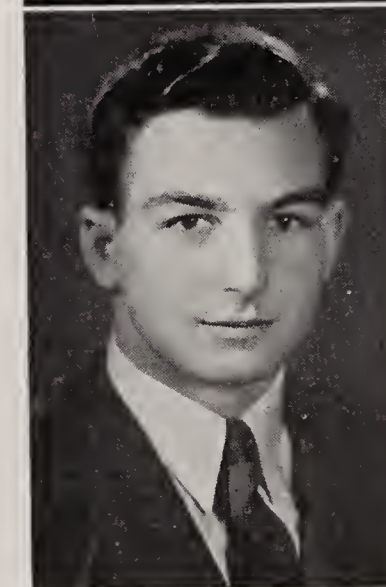

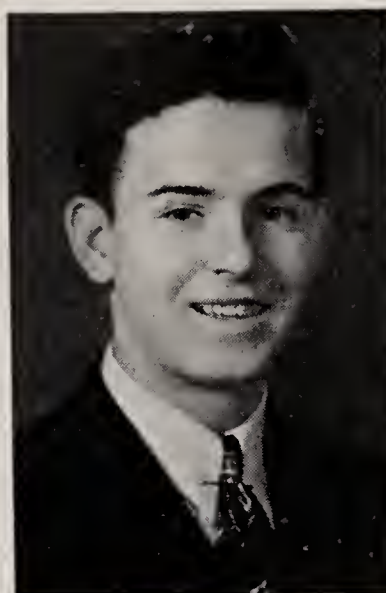

"Phil" Armed Services
Secret Ambition: None!
Activities: Track, Vaudevil.

Always with a smile and never downhearted, "Phil" will continue to make friends throughout his life. While a student at WHS he has been one of the leading runners on the track and his ever-present enthusiasm has made him one of the most popular members of the class.

JAMES F. FARRELL

"Jim," "Jeff" Army Air Corps
Secret Ambition: To be a Gremlin.
Activities: Football, Basketball, Traffic, Red Cross, Business Manager of Aberjona.

"Down by the Ohio" — that's where Jim hailed from. This year a whiz who is equally at home on the football field or basketball court. Personality plus, a twinkle in his eyes, and a red-hot temper all serve to make him most likable to the boys — and fascinating to the girls.

P.F.C. F. MANNING FARRELL
 "Lucky" Army Air Corps
 Secret Ambition: To do something someone else hasn't already done.
 Activities: Traffic, Football, A. A.

The well known guy with the unsurpassed grin, and a laugh that is catching. He was one of the first from "hi" school to enter the service. "Lucky" is noted for his "Ford" and his individuality. His motto: "Praise the Lord, and pass the ammunition!"

MARGARET ANN FITZGERALD
 "Peggy" B. U. School of Music
 Secret Ambition: To travel.
 Activities: A. A., Dramatic Society,
 Chorus, Vaudevil, Red and Black.

"Peggy's" outstanding qualities are a tendency toward bashfulness and a sense of humor. She loves singing, reading Wodehouse and Benchley, and cooking lobster Newburg! She also has a passion for travel, and will probably be the only singer who really likes to go on the road with the band.

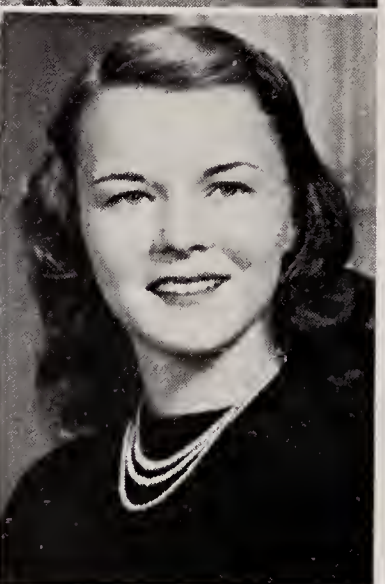

SHIRLEY M. FITZGERALD
 "Shirts" Nursing
 Secret Ambition: It depends on "him."
 Activities: Red Cross.

A flaming torch and a dazzling smile best describes the red-haired gal. She is forever picking out tunes on the piano, and well done, too! What she can't play herself, that dark-haired man teaches her. The field of nursing can also look forward to a bright and industrious worker.

RITA THERESA FLANAGAN
 "Raye" Clerical Position
 Secret Ambition: To be a success in life.
 Activities: Cum Laude, Red Cross Representative, Chorus, A. A.

Full of fun is this dimple-faced girl. She's a great sports fan who passes her time writing letters. (The armed forces!) Her grades for the year prove that she will make a successful secretary.

MARY CHARLOTTE FOLEY
 "Char" College
 Secret Ambition: Share a N. Y. apartment with Joanie, Shirley, "Cokie," and Yvonne.
 Activities: A. A., Aberjona, Vaudevil Committee, Red and Black.

A sunny disposition is synonymous with "Char" Foley. She's the good-looking girl with the good natured giggle, but she just won't acknowledge her handle — "the lassie with the classy chassis!" Her beautiful wavy hair is the envy of all. She's a pal to everyone.

KATHRYN IRENE FREYGANG
 "Kaye" Undecided
 Secret Ambition: To be a riveter.
 Activities: A. A., Red Cross, Vaudevil, Dramatic Society.

Our "glamma gal"—and how! Long, luxurious hair, sweetheart of the campuses (from coast to coast), heart-breaker on sight, and possessed with a capacity for collecting "those" pins. Congrats on a long line of successes "Kaye," and may you have many more!

ANNA MARY GALLELO
 "Annie" Bookkeeper
 Secret Ambition: Go out West.
 Activities: Glee Club, Chorus.

This short, blue-eyed miss, has hopes of sitting at a typewriter, typing a letter for a handsome young employer who sits across the desk smiling down at her. Well, a hard working girl like "Annie" can't help but be a success. Here's all the luck in the world to her.

CAROLINE THERESA GALLELO
 "Carol" Office Work
 Secret Ambition: Designing.
 Activities: Chorus.

To the casual observer she seems to be quiet and reserved, but those who know her will vouch for her merry sense of humor. Caroline's friends know how to arouse her. Just mention the Marines and watch her eyes light up.

CAROL GAY

"Dimples" College
Secret Ambition: To travel in my own plane.

Activities: Dramatic Club, Student Council, Traffic Squad, A. A. Rep., Aberjona, Class Basketball, Banker, Cum Laude, Vaudevil, Class Ring Committee.

Carol is the girl with the sunny smile and laughing eyes. With us only two years, she has made everyone aware of her pleasing personality, sympathy and good naturedness. WHS is the better because of Carol's presence.

ROBERT FENNO GODDU

"Bob" Harvard, U. S. Army
Secret Ambition: To be a chemist as good as "Doc" Alley.

Activities: Football, Thrift Association, Math Club, Vaudevil, Class Play Committee, Treas. Student Council, President Science Club, Baseball, Cum Laude.

A promoter, Bob has probably done more for the Student Council than any member of WHS. Easy to know. Always has something to say. Chemically inclined and bent for success. Is bound for the Army by way of Harvard.

MARJORIE ELIZABETH GRIFFITHS

"Betty" Junior College
Secret Ambition: Air hostess.
Activities: Dramatic Club, Vaudevil Show, Aberjona.

Betty's natural blonde hair and wonderful smooth complexion are the envy of the girls. She goes for dancing, knitting, movies, and boys in a big way. Always full of fun and ready to laugh. She's a swell gal.

ROLAND HALLBERG

"Hooks" U. S. Navy
Secret Ambition: To become a journalist.

Roland, affectionately known as "Hooks," is that curly-haired jack-rabbit whom you have seen scampering through our corridors. Arriving last year he has proved a worthy addition to WHS. After graduation, he intends to join his brother in the U. S. Navy, and having the blood of the Vikings, he should be a winner.

CATHERINE ANN GIULIANI

"Cashie," "Kay" Typist
Secret Ambition: A double wedding with Bette.
Activities: Prom Committee, Traffic, A. A.

Crash! Here comes "Cashie." Bang! There goes "Cashie." She spends her outside time divided between work and fun. During study periods she writes a few lines to Ted (Navy, of course). She says that all of the best men have gone, but then sometimes she wonders.

EILEEN GRAY

"Ei" Business School
Secret Ambition: Secret.
Activities: Vaudevil, Class Basketball.

There's a lot more to Eileen than most people know. One of the sincerest and happiest girls in WHS, she's also about the only girl left who still drives a car! And those dimples are bound to insure her success wherever she goes.

CROSBY REDMAN GRINDLE

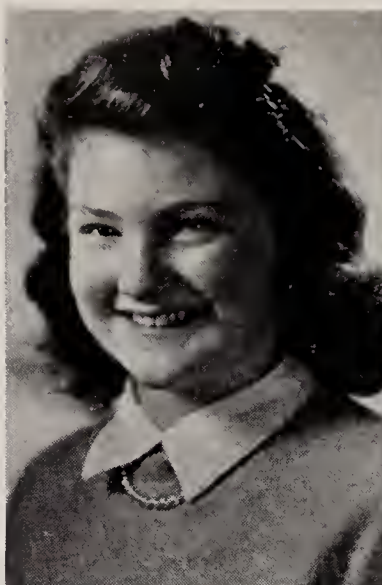

"Bing" U. S. Army Tank Corps
Secret Ambition: To play with Stan Kenton.
Activities: Football, Red Cross, Traffic, Orchestra, Vaudevil, A. A. Board.

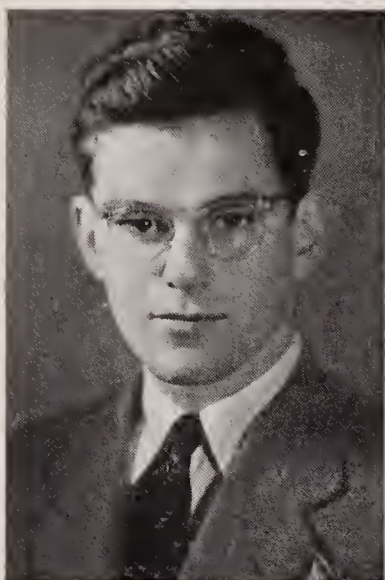

If you have been to the dances in the past two years, you need no introduction to this '43-man. Bing's time is not entirely given to the band, however, as there are few activities in which he does not find a part. Versatility as well as good naturedness give proof of his popularity.

BRUCE RAY HAMILTON

Coast Guard
Secret Ambition: Semper Paratus.
Activities: Vaudevil.

Tall and quiet, Bruce is a lad who has always liked boats and hopes to go far in the Coast Guard. Good-natured and easy going, he is willing to help and take no credit. Has been an invaluable Vaudevil stage helper.

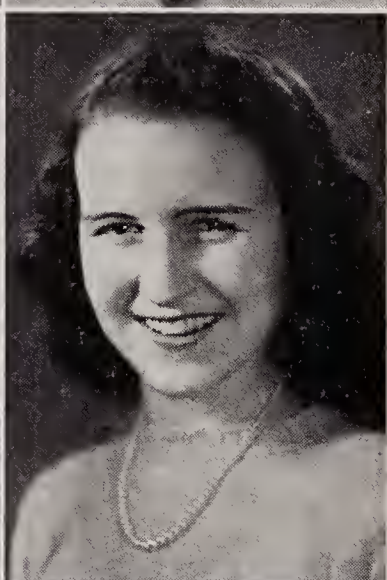

HUGH McLELLAN HAWKES
 "Hawkeye" University of Pennsylvania
 Secret Ambition: Two sets of twins.
 Activities: Cross Country, Track, Dramatic Society, Red and Black, Thrift, Vaudevil, Math Club.

Hugh, the lad with the Ipana smile is always ready to lend a helping hand, whenever there is an important production to be put on. Adept at lighting, wiring, and all sorts of radio work, it's sure that Hugh will go far — maybe even to Broadway!

MARIE PATRICIA HERLIHY
 "Herls" Centenary Jr. College
 Secret Ambition: Be a riveter.
 Activities: Basketball, Class Play, Vaudevil, Aberjona.

Marie is that gal who can make friends most easily and holds on to them. She is full of fun and very dependable. Loves to knit, gab about this and that, goes in for sports — in fact she likes to do everything. A grand classmate!

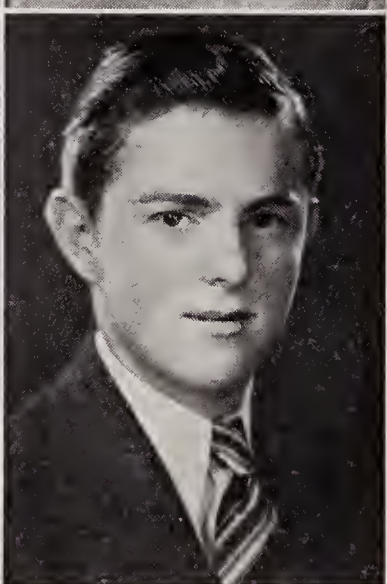

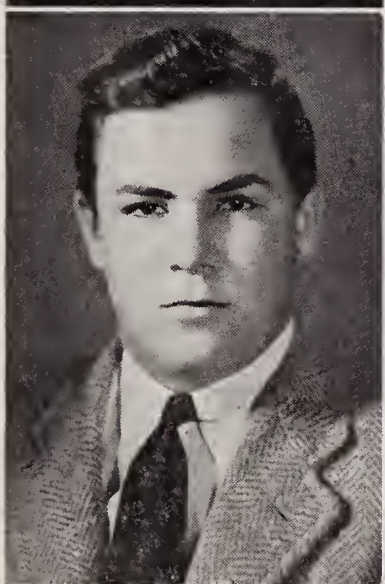

JOAN MARIE HEVEY
 "Joanie" Simmons College
 Secret Ambition: To reach the top.
 Activities: Manager of Basketball, Cum Laude, Girls' Sports Editor of Aberjona.

This happy-faced girl is none other than Joan, an honor roll student. She has always been ambitious, and her activities in school well display it. Joan enjoys skating, dancing, and the movies. To be a great nurse is her desire and we are positive that she will make good.

SHIRLEY JOSEPHINE HOLBROOK
 "Shirl," "Weepy" Boston University
 Secret Ambition: To find out what's wrong with the last drop of coffee!
 Activities: A. A., Science Club, Dramatic Club.

Tall, dark and smiling is "Shirl," and she expends most of that personality on Junior boys! She's always jabbering on the phone with Jeannie, Charl, or Pris. With that irresistible smile, she's going to go a long way.

DAVID BULLARD HOLMES
 "Stuffy" Dartmouth, Army Air Corps
 Secret Ambition: To blast a Jap.
 Activities: Football, Baseball, Student Council, Traffic, Vaudevil, Senior Class Secretary.

"Stuffy," that "Mr. Five by Five," is the good-humor man of this class. "Dave" may have been side-lined with a bad knee in the last of football, but you can't keep a man like him down. Watch out, Japs!

FRANK WILLIAM HORNE, JR.
 "Red," "Pro" M. I. T., U. S. Army
 Secret Ambition: To prove Dr. Alley wrong.
 Activities: Math Club, Science Club, Freshman Football, Varsity Football, Traffic, Class Play, Red and Black, Orchestra, Class Basketball, Vaudevil.

A true friend, that's "Pro." He is usually in a hurry, and who wouldn't be with only 24 hours each day to do all he does! Math mad, and with an eye for the stage, Frank will succeed no matter where his secret ambition leads him.

SHIRLEY MAE HOWLAND
 "Shirl" Westbrook Junior College
 Secret Ambition: To share a N. Y. apartment with Joanie, Char, Yvonne and "Cokie."
 Activities: Vaudevil, Class Basketball, Dramatic Society, A. A., Chorus.

"Shirl" is the girl famous for that incomparable giggle. An enthusiastic sports lover, her favorites are skating, skiing, horseback riding, bowling, and swimming. "Shirl" is a most competent girl, one on whom you may always rely. Such qualities will assure success for her.

ELLEN JACKSON
 "El" Smith College
 Secret Ambition: To visit Russia.
 Activities: Basketball, Banker, Science Club, Red Cross, A. A. Rep.

Ellen is exceptionally versatile—from sailing to dashing off short stories. Is an ardent concert go-er and art enthusiast. She advocates "modesty is a false virtue." A possessor of rare rumor, and as a seeker of the exotic, she looks forward to a visit to Russia.

ROBERT LAWRENCE JACKSON

"Bob" U. S. Army or Navy
 Secret Ambition: If I told, it wouldn't be a secret any more.
 Activities: Traffic, Freshman Football, Varsity Football, Vaudevil, Vice-President, Senior Class.

Bob is the type of fellow that we all like. Not only is he well-known and popular in the field of sports, but also in the social life at school. Good natured, he is full of fun at all times. All will agree that this 200-pound boy is a real classmate!

PAULINE BERGIT JOSEPHSON

"Polly" Secretarial Work
 Secret Ambition: To travel.

"There's Polly, you know that cute, ambitious gal in our English class." That's what we think of Polly. To some of us who don't know her very well, she seems shy, but I heard "Joycie" say, "I don't know what I'd do without her, she's a real pal!"

BARBARA JOYCE

"Joycie" Secretary
 Secret Ambition: To be a "private secretary."

Petite, cute, and lotsa fun — that's our "Joycie." She spends her spare time at the movies, dancing, skating, and oops! censored! She possesses the fine characteristics which are bound to make her a success.

PHYLLIS FRANCES KELLEY

"Phyl" To Model Skates
 Secret Ambition: To acquire a set of photogenic limbs.
 Activities: Science Club, Traffic Squad, Basketball.

Phyl has always been looking for her share of fun. She picked a queer place to look for it — school — but has certainly been successful. She aspires to be another Sonja Heinie and anyone who has seen her display her talents on the ice would bet their last dime on her making it.

JANET ADAMS JOHNSON

"Jan" Mt. Holyoke
 Secret Ambition: Deep secret.
 Activities: Cum Laude, Red Cross, Chorus, Science Club, A. A.

Tall and good looking describes Janet. She's cheerful, capable (cum laude!), an avid reader, and athletic. Sure to be a success at Mt Holyoke, Janet's interest in post-war reconstruction work will make her life a fascinating one.

SHIRLEY NANCY JOSEPHSON

"Shirl" Work
 Secret Ambition: To be a secretary.

This gal can be found taking pictures, skating, or doing something more mysterious! With her unexcitable ways, pep, and being a "good fellow" — we hail "Shirl."

MARTIN FRANCES JOYCE

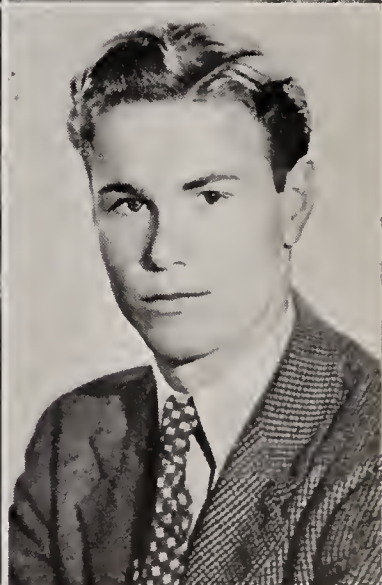

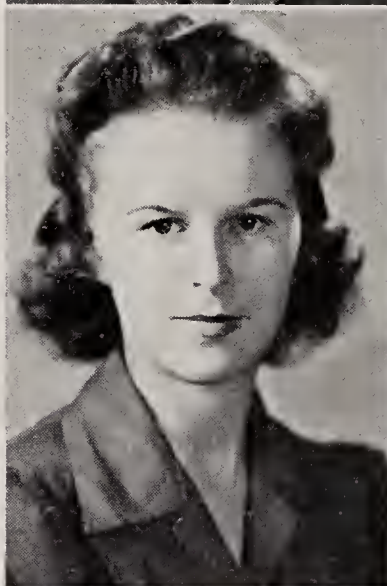

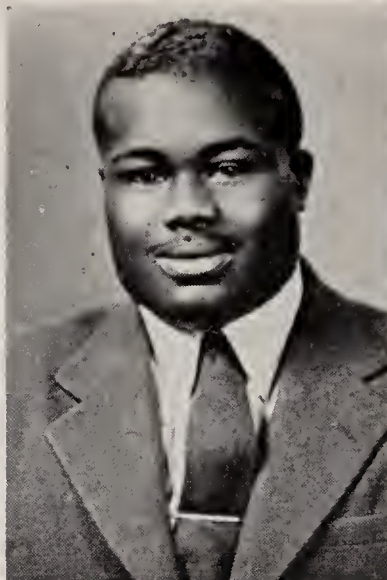

"Marty" Naval Air Corps
 Secret Ambition: Get married at 25.
 Activities: Second Team Baseball, Class Basketball.

"Marty" is a boy who is inclined to take life seriously. Whom are we trying to kid! Some people think he's lazy, but that's just the way he looks at life! Always ready with a greeting for the fairer sex — and do they love it! The library will seem like a coffin without this dynamo!

JEAN MARGARET KENTON

"Jeannie," "Frosty" Boston University
 Secret Ambition: To see the man behind the Paramount news camera!
 Activities: Banker, Basketball, Student Council, Red and Black, Dramatic Club, A. A.

Jeannie with the light brown hair, who is a "wow" in slacks, and who blushed her way through Junior English class, thanks to J. D. Did you know she has a preference for the Navy and the Navy Air Corps? And the Navy will accept if it is looking for a swell kid with a winning smile and grand personality.

MARY STOWELL KEYES

"Keysie" Mass. Gen. Hospital
Secret Ambition: To do the Highland Fling.
Activities: Varsity Tennis, Varsity Hockey.

She was born with the gift of mimicry, and the sense that the seas were hers. Superb tennis star, seasoned sailor, and marvelous skier, she has blazed trails. Inimitable as a music connoisseur, she is good old "Keysie" with her keen and subtle sense of humor. There'll never be another.

PEARL LA FONTAINE

"Sis" Nursery School
Secret Ambition: His name is ———.

Pearl is the shy, unobtrusive girl with the big smile. We're not sure whether that smile is the cause or result of those weekly letters from Florida, but there must be some connection. At any rate, her future patients will appreciate it and her swell manner.

NATALIE ELIZABETH LARSON

"Nat" Nursing
Secret Ambition: Join the Merchant Marine.
Activities: Red Cross, Chorus.

A very attractive brunette is the one and only Nat. She is full of fun and raring to do something different every minute. Nat is going to be a nurse and we know she will make a good one, as she has plenty of what it takes. Oh, nurse!

DORIS HILDEGARDE LAWSON

Secretary
Secret Ambition: Guess!
Activities: A. A., Red Cross.

Quiet and modest is Doris. Hardly a peep is heard from her direction, although she gives WHS her share of school spirit. Her happy nature is bound to take her far in life.

CHARLOTTE ANN LEARY

"Charl" Bates
Secret Ambition: To find a good name for Mr. Keeney.
Activities: Dramatic Society, Hockey,
Traffic, Class Play, Vaudevil, Class
Basketball, Science Club, A. A.

"Charl" greets you with a cheerful grin as you approach the third floor — guess it's her ability in hockey that gets her up there so fast after lunch! She loves Maine and the Navy — and we're sure she'll be a wonderful teacher. Here's to Charl!

GASPARE LENTINE

"Slim" To be a good soldier
Secret Ambition: To get a few Japs.
Activities: Freshman Football, Varsity Football, Class Basketball.

"Slim," semingly a quiet boy, gets into more women's hair than a good 25c comb. On the serious side, Gaspary is well-liked by a host of friends. He was one of the sparkplugs of this year's championship eleven. Judging from the way Gaspary tackles, the Japs had better watch out for him.

FREDERICK LANG LINDBERG

"Fred" Army Air Corps
Secret Ambition: Go to Christmas island with "Nuts."
Activities: Track, Vaudevil, Banker.

Fred is that suave young man-about-town who can be seen tearing down the track in the spring. Tall, debonair, and full of fun, he's known for grabbing the seat under the clock at basketball games for himself and someone he thinks is the "nuts."

NORMAN EMIL LUNDIN

"Norm" Army Air Corps
Secret Ambition: Make love to La
Dietrich or Lamour.
Activities: Aberjona, Red and Black.

"Norm" is the handsome chap you discern waltzing about the corridors with the loud neckties. He says his hobby is collecting phonograph records, but we'd rather believe it is having the showiest necktie in school. Quiet, unassuming and modest, Norm couldn't possibly encounter anything but success in future years.

ANTHONY PAUL LUONGO

"Greek," "Nini" Army Air Corps
Secret Ambition: To "Keep 'em Flying."

Activities: Freshman Football, Varsity Football, Intramural Basketball, Co-Capt., Student Council, Baseball, Vaudevil.

"Greek" is one of the most jovial and likeable characters WHS has ever had. How well we will remember his grand job as a running guard. "Nini" is one of the "Three Musketeers" and usually scoots around town every night looking for dates on the loose. All in all, "Greek" is one swell pal.

NANCY LOUISE MARCEAU

"Nance" College

Secret Ambition: Travel in America.

Activities: Science Club, Dramatic Club, Chorus, A. A.

"Nance" has big brown eyes and a subtle humor which is likely to come out at the unexpected moment. Her quiet grace and smile liven all her classes — and school isn't the only place where she has fun.

ROSEMARY McGUINNES

"Mac" Undecided

Secret Ambition: Bachelor girl.

Activities: Chorus.

"Mac" is a quiet appearing girl that hailed from Woburn for her senior year. She spends a great deal of her time writing letters to the Army. She also likes to dance and roller skate. It has been understood that "Mac" gets along well with the opposite sex — especially from Woburn.

FRANK JOSEPH MELARAGNI

"Jeep" Army Air Corps

Secret Ambition: Beat Rickenbackers' record.

Activities: Freshman Football, Varsity Football, Class Basketball.

Frank is a quiet and likeable fellow. He makes no enemies, but makes plenty of friends. He plays end on the football team and how he will be missed. We're sure Frank would succeed at his ambition if he ever was forced down at sea for he has courage and stamina.

MARY CAROLYN ANN MacISAAC

"Rocky," "Mac" Secretary

Secret Ambition: Oh, oh!

Activities: Chorus, Vaudevil.

A delightful combination of sunny hair and a sunny disposition is "Rocky," who is always climbing into or out of mischief. She really tries hard to get to homeroom before 8:15, but seldom makes it. Popular with boys and girls alike, "Mac" is sure to be a success in life.

DONALD FREDERIC MARCHANT

"Don" College

Secret Ambition: Censored!

Activities: Track, Science Club, Camera Club, Vaudevil.

"Don" is one of those people that get things done quickly and well. Remember his efficiency, as student representative on the Planning Board for Vaudevil. In the senior class Don is outstanding for his capability and likeableness.

MILDRED McLAUGHLIN

"Tillie" Jackson

Secret Ambition: To see a barn dance.

Activities: A. A., Science Club, Vaudevil.

"Tillie" is among the best lookers in the class. She tapped for two years in Vaudevil. Her one ambition is to be on time; if you see Tillie running toward school, you know you're late. Her sparkling blue eyes and beautiful black tresses catch many a roving eye! She is shy to those who don't know her well, but when she is outside of the classroom, ———!

PAULINE FRANCES MILNE

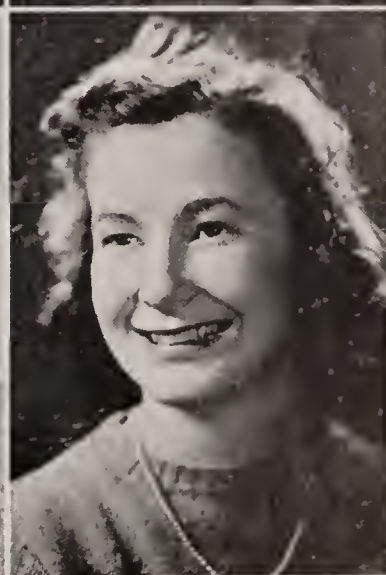

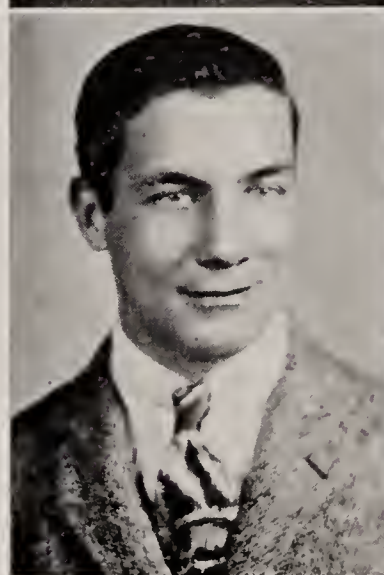

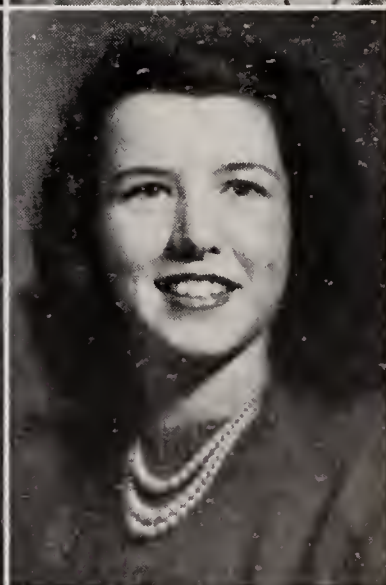

"Babe," "Queenie"

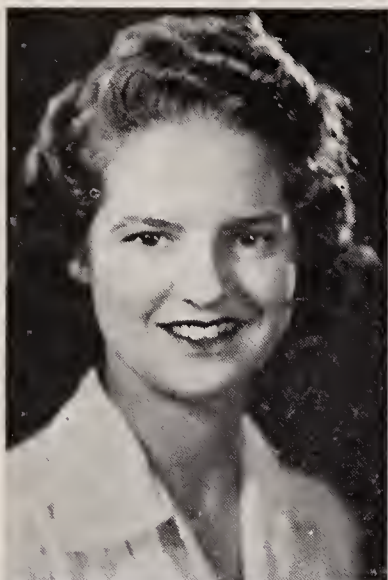

Music with Phil Saltman

Secret Ambition: To surprise Shirley by singing in tune!

Activities: Orchestra, Cheerleader, Vaudevil, Red Cross, Chorus, Cum Laude.

Pauline, that cute senior, usually seen at a piano, is one of the outstanding members of the class. She is continually busy and her outside interests center around the Navy Air Corps. How will Vaudevil get along without her? Keep 'em flying, Queenie!

BARBARA MITCHELL

"Mitch" College
Secret Ambition: To go back to Brazil.
Activities: Traffic, Basketball.

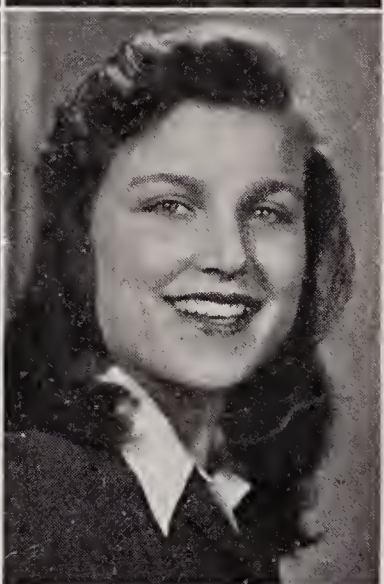

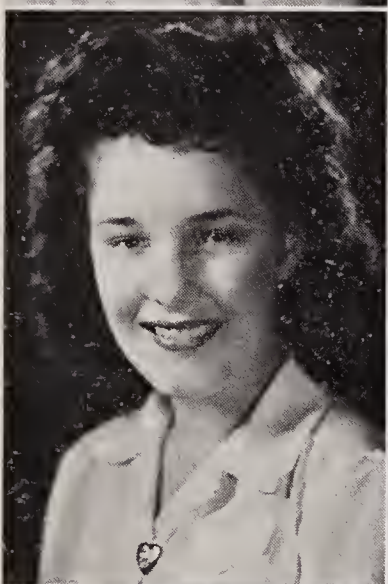

She's straight from Brazil! Personality plus, and a figure that makes even the wind whistle when she walks by! Appears very shy, but she sure can get that "come hither" look in her eye. In short, she might be termed "the Brazilian Bombshell." How those Junior wolves will howl on May 28!

MARIE CATHERINE MOORE

"Ree" Kathleen Dell
Secret Ambition: Own my own wood-working shop.

Activities: Treasurer of Sophomore Class, Library Club President, Student Council, Science Club, Red and Black.

She's attractive, blond, industrious, intelligent, and a wonderful friend on top of that. Her main outside interests are swimming and "Pete." Everyone in the class knows her swell personality and charming smile, and she's an outstanding figure in all the work she does.

RUTH MAE GRAHAM MORROW

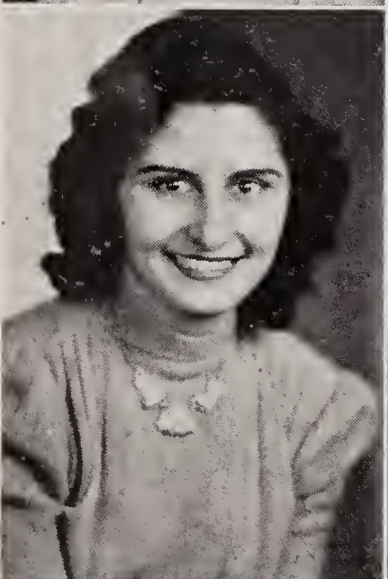

Chamberlin
Secret Ambition: To have her own Marionette theatre.
Activities: Chorus, Red Cross.

Dark, sparkling, vivacious, constantly on the jump with the Merchant Marine and Navy. Mae is bound to be a success in every way. Have you noticed the ring on the third finger, left hand? Yes, it's the Navy!

NANCY MARIE MORTENSEN

"Nanc," "Mort" Kathleen Dell
Secret Ambition: To have what she wants when she wants it!
Activities: Traffic, A. A. Representative, Red Cross, Class Play, Dramatic Society, Aberjona.

"Nanc" has that certain laughing personality that's catching (especially the male species — ask "Derb"). She loves to walk in the rain, and talks of going around the world someday.

ELVIRA HILDA MOTTOLO

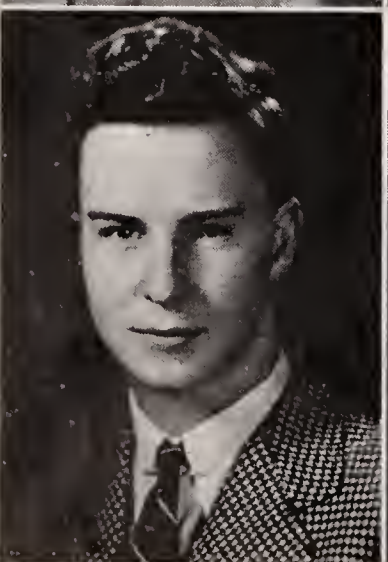

"Vera" Secretary
Secret Ambition: To be an accordionist.

"Vera" is one of the most serious girls in our class, but maybe that's only in school. Some of Vera's time is spent at the movies, the rest in taking beauty naps. Is that the reason for your loveable complexion, Vera? Seriously though, Vera is one swell girl.

CHARLES PHILLIPS MURPHY

"Valvo" Army Air Corps
Secret Ambition: Own an airplane.
Activities: Red Cross Representative, Baseball, Basketball, Manager of Basketball, Manager of Football, Red and Black, Student Council, President of A. A.

Charlie is one of those reserved chaps who never says much of anything. When he does, it is usually some witty bit. He is ambitious and talented in journalism. His senior year was his first out for basketball and he played first string right through the season. And best of all, it's easy for a fellow to claim "Valvo" as a true friend.

JOHN MILNE MURRAY, JR.

"Jock" College
Secret Ambition: Get out of this rut.
Activities: Freshman Football, Football, Track, Co-captain of Track, Student Council, Thrift Association, President of Thrift, Vice-President of Thrift, Traffic, Vaudevil, Class Basketball.

Here he comes. There he goes. You don't need to ask who the smooth looking fellow is who won that race. That's "Jock" Murray. Always ready with some "corny" crack to amuse the crowd. You'd never guess he is an honor roll student by his speech, but watch him shine in Math and Physics.

ALICE FRANCES NASH

"Al" Secretary
Secret Ambition Let's keep it a secret.
Activities: Chorus, Basketball, Red Cross, Class Play Committee, Vaudevil, A. A.

"Allie" is that cute brunette with the dazzling smile. She appears to be the quiet type, but you should be at some parties with her! She just loves to roller skate (hmmm?) and plays the piano as a pastime. All in all, one swell pal.

NATALIE RUTH NELSON

"Nat" Burdett
Activities: Basketball, Class Basketball, Aberjona.

Take a sense of humor; add a normal share of serious thought and an enthusiasm for sports to a natural inclination towards mischief, and you get — why, "Nat," of course. Altogether she is a true friend with a personality hard to duplicate.

MARJORIE ELIZABETH NOWELL

"Mergie" Secretary
Secret Ambition: To have my cake and eat it too.
Activities: Chorus, Red Cross.

Mergie is that proud little Miss with the "pepsodent" smile and a personality plus. She's always willing to help those who want her assistance, a true friend always. Has a great love for bowling and dancing, especially with that certain tall, dark, and handsome lad from Medford. How about it, Mergie?

JOHN MADDEN O'LEARY

"Baron" Army Air Corps
Secret Ambition: To fly around the world.
Activities: Traffic, Banker, Red Cross.

"Baron" is one person who drifts around the corridors between periods eyeing the opposite sex. He is a non-chalant sort of a person, whom you can't help but like. We know he'll go to the top in the Army Air Corps.

ALICE STUART PARKER

Smith
Secret Ambition: Lead the Boston Symphony.
Activities: Dramatic Society, Vaudevil, Science Club, Honor Roll, Orchestra, Chorus, President of Girls' Chorus, Manager of Girls' Tennis, Circulation Mgr. of Red and Black, Editor of Red and Black, Editor of Aberjona.

Whatever Alice has a hand in, it is always successful. Her gay smile greets everyone and her enthusiasm is as boundless as her curly hair. Alice more than fills out the requirements for an ideal friend and many lucky people enjoy this position. Our loss will be Smith's gain.

LAURANIA NICKERSON

"Laurie," "Nicky" Wheaton
Secret Ambition: To raise thoroughbred horses.
Activities: Dramatic Club, Orchestra, Science Club.

The gal with a laugh and dimples as cute as her name, lucky enough to have beautifully curly hair, and with a deep down love for horses and Cape Cod. The best of luck to you, Laurie, wherever you may go.

GEORGE DAVID O'LEARY

"Zurch" Navy Air Corps
Secret Ambition: To be a successful bum.

"Zurch" is that little lad who is always smiling and whistling at the girls in the corridors. George is an angel. He wouldn't do anything to or against WHS. We wish him all the luck in the world in the Naval Air Corps.

SHIRLEY ANN PALSON

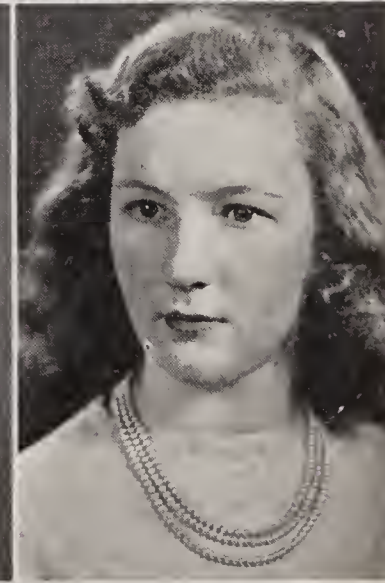

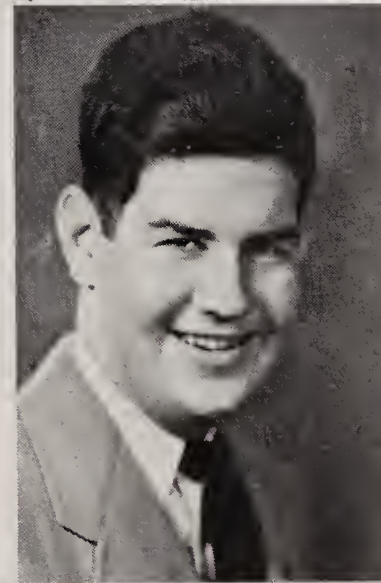

"Poly," "Shirl" Radcliffe
Secret Ambition: It's a secret — even to me.
Activities: Chorus, Red Cross, Banker, Hockey, Basketball, Dramatic Society, A. A., Class Play.

Breezy, blonde, obliging, Shirley is the athletic type, a star in every sport. A whiz at hockey, swishes her way thru basketball, and a veritable mermaid in the briny deep. You've seen her flitting around doing anything from ditty bags to ticket selling. All in all, a great addition to WHS.

WALLACE GALE PARKIN

"Walla" U. S. Maritime Service
Secret Ambition: To own a ranch.

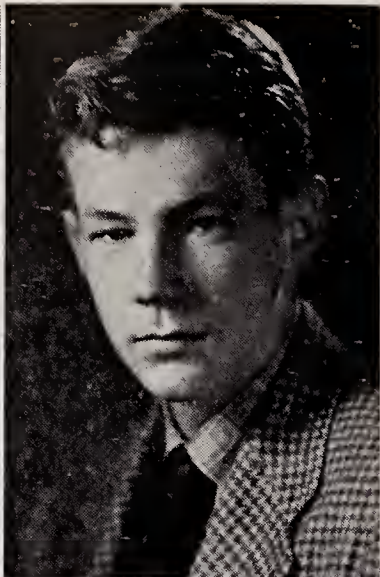

"Walla" is a real swell fella. Although he is reserved, he is liked by everyone. A lover of horses and outdoor life. Because of his ambition and ability, we all know that as an officer in the U. S. Maritime Service he will be "tops."

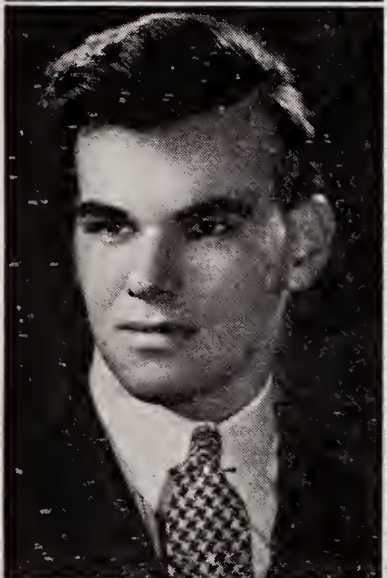

MARION LOUISE PHILBROOK
 "Mim" Bouve
 Secret Ambition: To own a teddy bear.
 Activities: Banker, A. A. Representative, A. A. Board, Traffic, Dramatics, Basketball, Captain of Basketball, Softball, Field Hockey.

Sparkling eyes, ski-jump nose, engaging grin and a figure to match — that's "Mim," popular Capt. of Girls' Basketball. She is noted for her "Barbara Lee's" and is one of our best dressed seniors. As far as we're concerned "there'll never be another you."

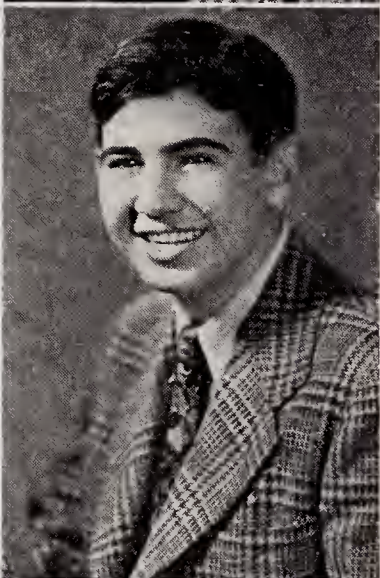

MAURICE RICHARD PHINNEY
 "Rube" College
 Secret Ambition: To kill one of Bob Hope's gags.
 Activities: Red Cross, Freshman Football, Vaudevil.

"Rube" is one of those fortunate individuals who always has an appropriate quip or witty saying to fit any situation. He is always smiling and ready for a good time. With his talents and personality, Dick is bound to establish a place for himself in the world of success.

FRANCIS LESTER POIRIER, JR.
 "Pants" Tufts
 Secret Ambition: If I told it, it would no longer be a secret.
 Activities: Track Team, Baseball, Basketball, Football, Traffic, Class Treasurer, Class Secretary, Student Council, A. A., Vaudevil.

Frannie's the boy with all the personality and athletic ability to make him a leader in whatever he does. Dark brown eyes and "physique superb" give him the title of a woman's "perfect man." Success to "Pants" in the Army Air Corps.

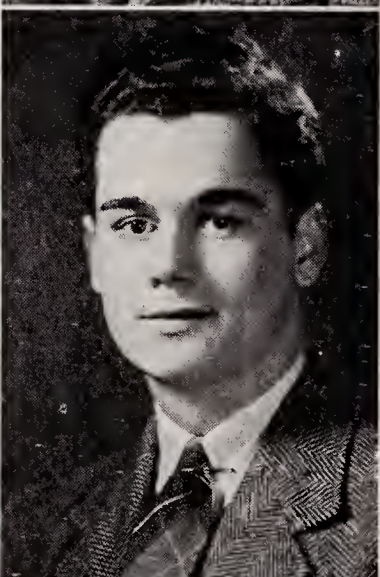

JOHN DEXTER POST
 "Posty" Armed Forces
 Secret Ambition: To become a poet.

"Posty's" the fella that always has a comeback. Don't think you can go over John's head when it comes to sports, for in that field he is an authority. He's a grand friend and will be a success in whatever he does, including playing ball with Uncle Sam.

PRISCILLA PERKINS PRATT
 "Percy" Mt. Holyoke College
 Secret Ambition: to see the little man who puts the light on in the refrigerator.
 Activities: Science Club, A. A., Cum Laude.

"Pris" is a good-natured cheery soul who always has an idea of what to do with a spare afternoon! In school (where she parades her beautiful self-knitted sweaters), she is relatively quiet, but outside — well, she enjoys sleeping, eating, phone-talking, and doodling.

ROBERT BRADFORD PYNN
 "Bob" Armed Services
 Secret Ambition: To be U. S. Representative.
 Activities: Traffic Squad, Student Council, Track, Freshman Football, Chorus, President of Boys' Chorus, Vaudevil.

Short, but definitely handsome. Holds a good record with the women! Classified 1A, he will be doing his bit for Uncle Sam in the Army. Wishes he was married with a houseful of kids. Likes a quiet evening. Luck to you and may all your dreams come true.

FRANCES SCOTT QUIMBY
 "Frannie" College
 Secret Ambition: Still secret!
 Activities: A. A., Dramatic Society, Chorus, Glee Club, Science Club, Traffic, Librarian of Glee Club.

"Frannie" is a blushing, jolly belle. She always has a comeback for everything, and excels in solo work in chorus. Her chief delight is talking, but when ambitions are mentioned she claims this is no place to tell secrets. Like "Tillie" McLaughlin, she is constantly saved by the 8:13. Frannie is the first girl in WHS to take physics and chemistry in the same year; ample proof that she has what it takes.

ROBERT RAMSDELL
 "Ramy" Merchant Marine
 Secret Ambition: To own and sail his own ship.
 Activities: Traffic Squad, Orchestra, Senior Class Treasurer.

"Ramy" is now a midshipman in the Merchant Marine Reserve and is headed for the Merchant Marine Academy after graduation. He is a traffic squad member and plays a solid trombone in the orchestra and elsewhere. In spite of his quiet and bashful appearance, they say Ramy has his own technique with the fairer sex. Seriously, he is a quiet unassuming young man with a highly technical mind that will really take him places in the Merchant Marine.

BERNARD RASSAT

"Bud" Armed Services
Secret Ambition: To go to Alaska.
Activities: Baseball.

"Bud" Rassat in the classroom is a faithful subject to Shelley, Keats, Shakespeare, etc., but outside is always ready to try his fortune at bowling, billiards, baseball, hockey, tennis, and anything else available. Bernie is at present waiting for an invitation from Uncle Sam to join the "big show." Count on him to come home a decorated hero.

ANDRE W. REDDING

Coast Guard
Secret Ambition To have plenty of time to make model airplanes.
Activities: Football, Varsity Track, Vaudevil.

Andre is no giant, as far as stature goes, but if energy counts, he'll be right up on top. He is a good all round track man, running many a good race for WHS. He can always be found tinkering with a gasoline motor for his planes. A boy that is as good a craftsman as he is will go a long way in the world.

PHYLLIS RUSSELL

"Phil" Business School
Secret Ambition: Oh! oh!
Activities: A. A. Member, Hockey Team, Softball Team.

Phil is the gal with those deep blue eyes and the dimples, always full of pep and loads of fun. She has many friends far and wide, is a wow on roller skates and on the athletic field; in fact, she's a peach of kid all around.

ROBERT BLAKE SALZMAN

"Tank" Army Signal Corps
Secret Ambition: To own "Birchmont."

Bob is the likeable chap with the sandy hair and blue eyes whom you'll find getting his friends out of difficulty and himself in, with his very appealing personality and good judgment. We wonder whether or not Bob ought to establish a personal bus line from Winchester to Woburn.

JUNE RECORD

"Jr." Mass. Gen. Hospital
Secret Ambition: Medical School.
Activities: Red Cross, Banker, Vocational Day Chairman, Chorus.

We can just see you, June, as a cheerfully efficient (or efficiently cheerful) nurse. We might even go so far as to say that if you become a doctor we'd ask for you. Such a hard-working likeable person can't help but succeed!

DORIS RITA ROBERTS

"Dorie" Secretary
Secret Ambition: Join "Marionettes."
Activities: Red Cross, Chorus.

Blonde — full of pep and personality, plus one of Winchester's ardent swimmers and makes a neat cut on ice. Her chief interest of late is a soldier in Oklahoma, who keeps mailmen and telephone operators busy continually. The crystal ball says a diamond soon and success for this "ball of fire."

FRANK PAUL RUSSO

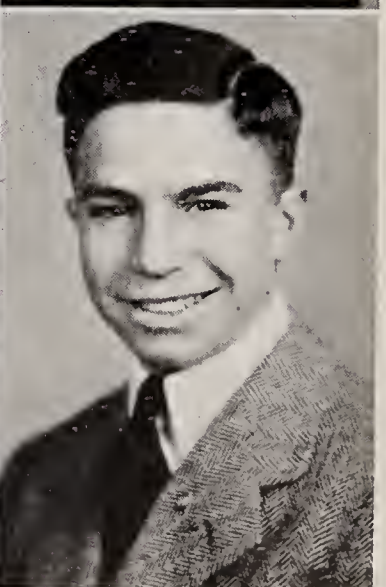

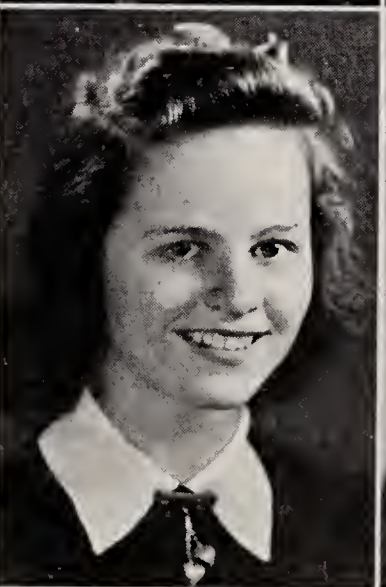

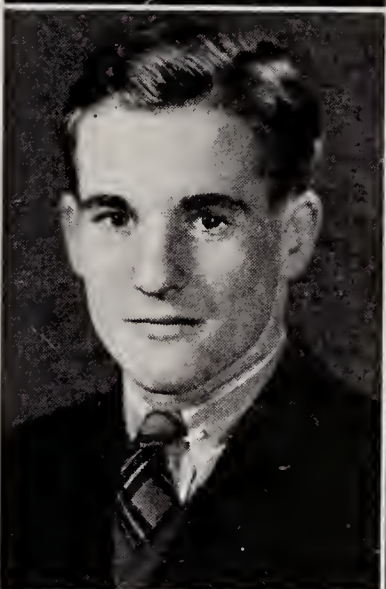

"Gee" U. S. Navy
Secret Ambition: To own coast-to-coast trucking company.
Activities: Class Basketball, Varsity Baseball, Captain of Baseball, Traffic Squad.

"Gee-whiz," the mighty mite of our fair town, patrols the outfield limits for Coach Knowlton. "Gee" the hard-working captain of the 1943 diamond forces. He is a mischievous little rascal who causes our highly esteemed librarian no end of trouble. Seriously though, Gee is a sincere young man who has his eye on the future and because of it, will go far.

THOMAS SARAGOSA

"Tom" Radio School
Secret Ambition: To beat up Hero-Hito personally.

The most inquisitive person you ever saw is Tom. Ask him anything about a radio, and he will know it. He calls everyone a wolf, except himself. His real ambition is to be a mad scientist. However, the U. S. Army has its eye on him, and we know from experience that he will give his all.

GEORGE WALTER SCHAD
 "Shadrack" Army Air Corps
 Secret Ambition: To make $10,000 a year.
 Activities: Traffic, Banker, A. A.

George is the prospective Gene Krupa who is usually seen at the second floor window standing with Eloise, that attractive newcomer to Winchester. Quiet, but with a certain something that gains for him many friends, we are sure that George will be a success in whatever he undertakes in later life.

KATHERINE ANNE SEATON
 "Kay" Kathleen Dell
 Secret Ambition: To live in Canada!
 Activities: Vaudevil, Thrift, Dramatic Society, Chorus, Class Nominating Committee, Red and Black, Cheerleader.

Half of that inseparable team of Janet and Kay. The Vaudevil proved her to be tops on taps! Kay is sincere, energetic, and has an unbeatable sense of humor; not to mention a slick figure, super-fashionably garbed. Nothing but the best for Kay.

JAMES CHARLES SHAUGHNESSEY
 "Clark" U. S. Army
 Secret Ambition: To build a bridge to Ireland.
 Activities: Red Cross, Student Council.

James is that five-foot giant, who's always hanging around the second floor lockers getting into trouble. Beware, femmes! However, we know he will be a success as long as American women remain beautiful. "Clark" is one who will do the Army uniform proud.

ELIZABETH FRANCES SHEA
 "Toasty" Burdett College
 Secret Ambition: To have a double wedding with Caskie.
 Activities: Banker, Red and Black, Advertising Manager.

If you hear a giggle and then see a dimpled smile, you know that Bette is around. "Toasty" to some of her friends, "Senator" to others, she has a winning personality, and a delightful disposition. Toasty sports a friendship ring from a Woburn boy named Johnny.

RICHARD SHEEHAN
 "Dick" U. S. Army
 Secret Ambition: To see the world.
 Activities: Cum Laude, A. A.

Dick is the tall, silent lad you find very often in Room 12. He is a very conscientious worker in class, but once it is over, he is a changed man. He spends his time telling and listening to jokes. Soon after graduation he expects to enter the Army. Here's a real classmate!

WILLIAM AUGUSTUS SHEEHAN
 "Bill" Undecided
 Secret Ambition: It's still a secret.
 Activities: A. A., Red Cross.

"Bill" is the kind who sits back in a corner and doesn't say much, but just remember this—"still waters run deep." Tall and dark, "Bill" is active in school work and is popular with his many friends.

SALLY ELIZABETH SHERBURNE
 "Sal" Pierce's School
 Secret Ambition: To be successful in whatever I attempt to do!
 Activities: Traffic, Student Council, Science Club, Athletic Association, Red and Black, Aberjona.

A beautiful complexion, long curly hair, and big eyes make "Sal" one of the loveliest girls in WHS. She's mixed up in all the activities, and her weekends are filled up way ahead. We'll all remember "Sal" for her gay smile and happy ways.

COSIMO DOMINIC SIMONETTA
 "Cos," "Bud" Army Air Corps
 Secret Ambition: To own a band better than Glenn Miller's.
 Activities: Vaudevil, Class Basketball, Chorus.

"Cos" is a great fellow when it comes to talking about girls. He has been a quiet but not inconspicuous member of our class, playing the accordion for the Vaudevil Show for the past four years. A "king" on the pool table, he will some day become an expert. Wherever he goes everyone likes him.

CLAIRE SMALLEY

Powers School

Secret Ambition: To have my green eyes work!

Activities: Vaudevil, Red and Black, Advertising Mgr. of Aberjona, Red Cross, A. A., Dramatic Club, Class Plays, Student Council.

"Tall, blonde, and lovely," best describes her. From dancing with Dick to "top-notch" acting she goes over the top. A devoted lover of horses, and her favorite haunt — Harwichport. Here's to you, Claire, the halls of Winchester High are going to seem gloomy without you.

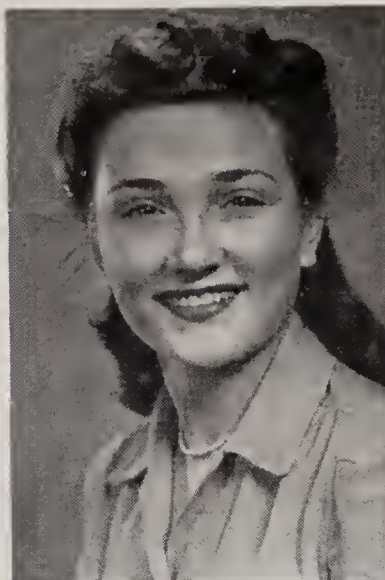

MARJORIE LOUISE SMITH

"Smitty"

Kathleen Dell

Secret Ambition: To be Nancy's cousin.
Activities: Cum Laude, Class Play Advertising Committee, Varsity Basketball, Vaudevil Ticket Committee, Student Council, A. A., Thrift Association, Dramatic Society, Class Play.

You always know when Smitty's around by her gay chatter and contagious laugh. Along with her gift of gab, she has a swell personality, good looks, and plenty of grey matter which go far to make any girl a success. Here's to you, Smitty, and three cheers for the Army!

FRANK PATTERSON SMITH, 2nd "Pat"

M. I. T.

Secret Ambition: Ah! woman.

Activities: Science Club, Vice-President of Camera Club, Vaudevil, Class Play, Traffic Squad.

The active Vice-President of the photographers club, chief spot light spotter for Vaudevil, a genius at mathematics — that's our Pat. Very much at ease in female company, Pat wows 'em in the Junior class. Headed for M. I. T., Pat has plans for being a radio engineer.

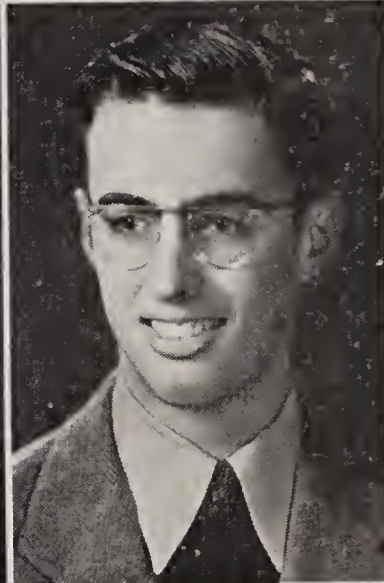

PORTER HALSART SMITH

Medical School

Secret Ambition: Secret.

Activities: Orchestra, Science Club, Camera Club, Traffic Squad.

Maybe he looks quiet and bashful — even studious (he is!) — but the first thing you know he sneaks up behind you and practices a little jiu-jitsu! If you saw him in first-aid class, you'd know he'll make a swell doctor — he'll be a success.

SHIRLEY HILDA SNYDER

"Shirts" Simmons

Secret Ambition: To read Doc Alley's autobiography.

Activities: Dramatic Society, Glee Club, Orchestra, Science Club, Cum Laude, Chorus.

Quiet, demure, and persevering is Shirley who has her share of brains and uses them to their best advantage. We wonder why she gets that dreamy look when Woburn is mentioned. "Shirts" makes a fine companion and an excellent friend.

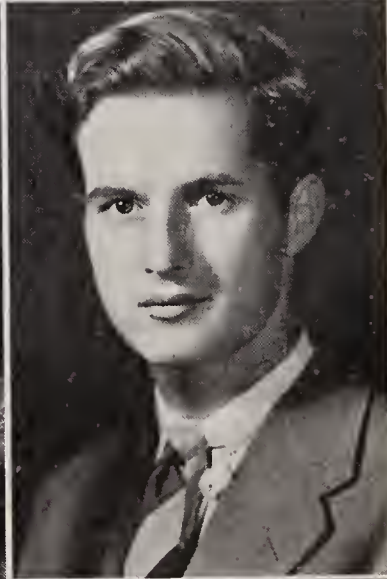

NEWELL DEANE SQUIRES

"Straw-Top" Merchant Marine

Secret Ambition: To write a psychological essay.

Activities: Student Council.

Deane is the tall, yalla-haired boy to be found asleep (more often than not), in the study halls. A likeable fellow, with brains to boot, is "Straw-Top," the laziest boy in class. Even Mr. Keeney will concede that Deane is going places!

ARTHUR P. STEWART, JR.

"Art" Tufts

Secret Ambition: To be boss of his own laboratory.

Activities: Camera Club, Class Play Committee.

Although not coming to Winchester until his freshman year, "Art" soon made friends and got into school activities. His favorite subject is chemistry, and for many years he has performed and perfected experiments in his own private laboratory. Such qualities can't be denied, and we know he'll have that Lab.

JEAN STILLMAN

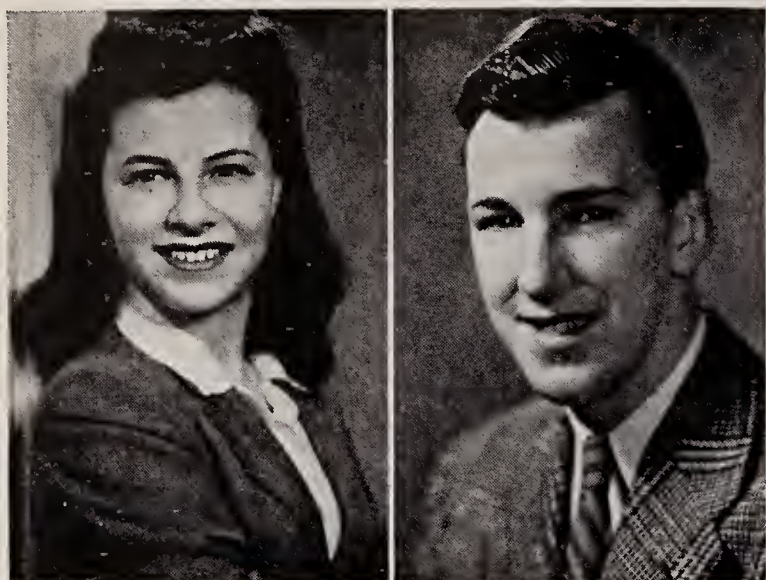

"Egno" Radcliffe

Secret Ambition: To own a sailing sloop.

Activities: Dramatic Club, Orchestra, Vaudevil, Junior-Senior Play Committee, Science Club Executive Board, Co-Editor, Red and Black.

Demure, clever, and devilish in an angelic sort of way, Jean has kept in the service of everything. She accepts A's as natural, and happily exists defending her point of view from the milling mob. The halls of WHS will certainly seem empty and gloomy without "Egno's" cheery presence.

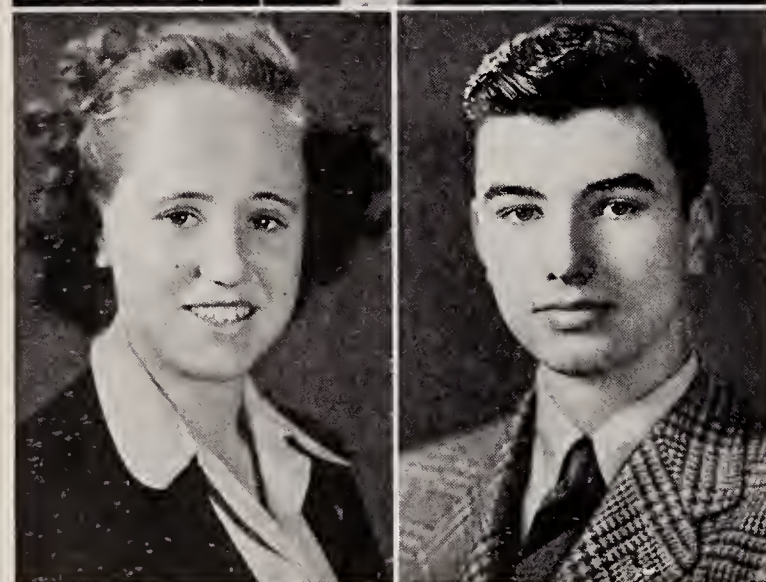

VIRGINIA LEE STRAGHAN
 "Virg" American Airlines
 Secret Ambition: To know a "million" people.
 Activities: A. A. Executive Board, Red Cross, Class Play, Dramatic Society, Traffic Squad, Cheerleader, Aberjona, Vaudevil, Prom Chairman.

Whizz! There goes "Virg" again! Why is it she can't keep still — a finger in every pie at school, and bobbing around outside. Her contagious merriment and zest for living put new pep into us all. We'll never forget this piquant whirlwind who made things "tick" at WHS.

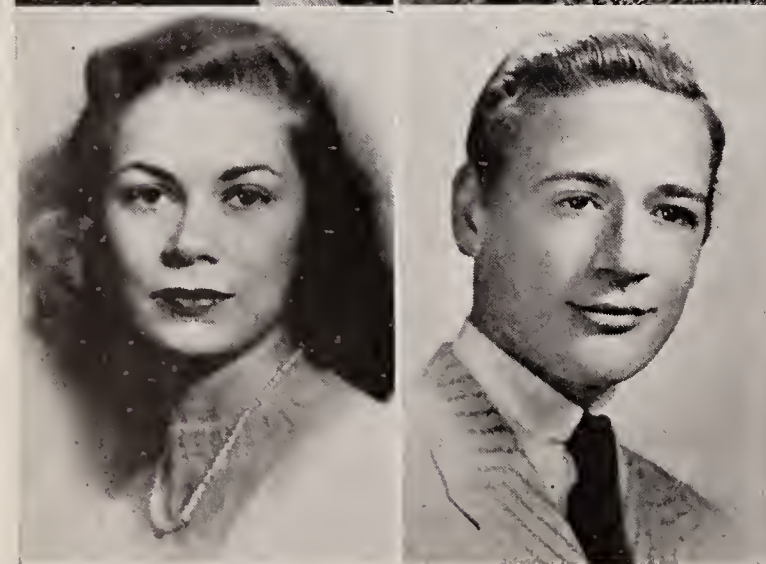

PARKER SYMMES
 "Arzie" M. I. T.
 Secret Ambition: To be able to riff like the Count on the "88."
 Activities: Science Club Treasurer, Track, Banker, Class Play, Vaudevil, Cum Laude.

Parker is one of those quiet chaps with the brain matter. He is an avid jazz fan and enjoys playing boogywoogy on the piano. Mainly interested in aviation, he plans to go to Technology, and probably from there into the Air Corps. Whether it be jazz or aviation, Parker is on the ball and will be a success at whatever he attempts.

LOIS VIRGINIA THOMPSON
 "Addi" Nursing
 Secret Ambition: Travel around the world.
 Activities: Dramatic Club, A. A., Library Club.

Lois is the girl that can talk on air and every subject, and most always wins out in the end. Has an ardent respect for the Coast Guard??? Is going to don a nurse's cap, and we wish her the best of luck!

NATALIE JEAN TISDALE
 "Tiz" College
 Secret Ambition: To be "Wright."
 Activities: Traffic, A. A., Vaudevil.

"Tiz," that pretty blonde who hailed from Kansas City, has made a tremendous hit with us all. She is gifted with those lovely eyes and lashes that are so rare. "Tiz" brightens her surroundings anywhere with gaiety and sincerity. Full of pep, her charming manner will take her a long way.

DANIEL JOSEPH SULLIVAN
 "D. J." Naval Air Corps
 Secret Ambition: Take ice out of Ireland.
 Activities: Banker, Traffic, Red Cross, Cum Laude.

D. J. is the fella that has a deep interest in the opposite sex. There is also a magnetic flux created at Brigham's. Dan is a swell boy and we wish him all the luck in the world in the Naval Air Corps.

JOHN APPLETON TARBELL, JR.
 "Jack" U. S. Marines
 Secret Ambition: A month in "Sun Valley."
 Activities: Freshman Football, Tennis Team, Captain of Tennis, Basketball, Class Play, Vaudevil Show, Science Club.

From playing a flashy game of tennis or basketball to enjoying a "bull session" Jack is right there all the time. This adventurous spirit is shown by his joining the Marine Reserve. Jack, with his happy-go-lucky nature, will surely take life in stride. Here's to a man's man!

CHARLES EARLE THORTON, JR.
 "Charlie" Engineering
 Secret Ambition: To own my own plane.
 Activities: Math Club.

Charlie entered WHS as a junior. He is a quiet individual and has a swell personality. He is very air-minded and hopes someday to own his own plane. He also likes to collect classical and popular records and is interested in photography. He is a true friend and we wish him good luck.

RICHARD C. TOURTELLOT
 "Jive" U. S. Army Air Corps
 Secret Ambition: $10,000 a year and Claire.
 Activities: Vaudevil.

Dick is the suave, blond, "southern" type, who regularly trods the beaten path to 37 Woodside Road. While seemingly completely independent, we have a feeling he might love to be tied down. His dream—a Model A, a home on Cape Cod, and a blonde to share them. How about it, "Jive"?

ROBERT EDWARD TREACY

"Bob" U. S. Navy
Secret Ambition: To be a bachelor.
Activities: Freshman Football, Varsity Football, Varsity Track, Vaudevil Show, Chorus, Traffic Squad.

Possession of "the build you'd like to have," and a happy-go-lucky attitude toward life makes Bob a well-liked fellow in WHS. He is a very willing fellow too—willing to do anything for a woman. Bob is also well-known as an athlete's athlete, and is an accomplished artist. Here's a boy who's going to make the world take notice.

MARILYN PAULA TUCKER

"Tuck" Undecided
Secret Ambition: To be an actress.
Activities: Vaudevil, Red Cross, A. A., Dramatic Club, Class Basketball.

"Tuck" is that vivacious young Miss with the snappy clothes. Rechristened "Blondie" by Mr. Keeney, her bright smile and winning ways are known far outside of Winchester. "Tuck" can't help but reach the peak of success in life.

MARIA HENRIETTA VON MERING
Radcliffe

Secret Ambition: To be a foreign correspondent.
Activities: A. A., Cum Laude, Class Play Committee, Aberjona, Red and Black, Vaudevil, Science Club.

Though she has been in WHS for only two years, Maria has won the hearts of many. Tall, blond, and attractive describes this young miss. Full of pep, she is always ready to laugh where the laugh fits best. We are sure that Maria will succeed.

WILLIAM IRVINE WEST

"Bill" Naval Air Corps
Secret Ambition: To be able to swim!
Activities: Co-Capt. Freshman Football, Varsity Football, Captain of Football, Varsity Basketball, Varsity Baseball, Vaudevil, Student Council, Traffic, Vice-Pres. of A. A., Thrift, Pres. of Soph Class.

That handsome guy with the super physique is known as "Monk." You probably know him better as the triple threat on the football field as well as an outstanding basketball star. Although he is one of the most popular boys in the school, he is most modest about it all. Hail to Bill!

MILDRED MAY TROOP

"Peggy" Nursing
Secret Ambition: Active service as an overseas nurse.
Activities: Basketball, Dramatic Club.

Quiet, shy, and a little hard to become acquainted with is Peg, but when one knows her, her sense of humor and dash of devilry will brighten up any gathering. Serious, yet full of fun, she is also a whizz on the basketball courts. How well we shall remember her.

EVERETT M. TWOMBLY

"Pete" Armed Forces
Secret Ambition: It will come in four years.
Activities: Captain of Basketball, Chief of Traffic Squad, Freshman Football, Vaudevil, Vice-Pres. of A. A., Treasurer of Freshman Class, Vice-Pres. of Soph and Junior Classes, A. A., Baseball.

Pete is that long, lanky boy with the capacity for making friends wherever he goes. Popular, athletic, a leader of men, and a follower of women, makes him just about the perfect specimen. Lots of determination and grit makes him an essential part of Winchester High.

BARBARA ANN WASHBURN

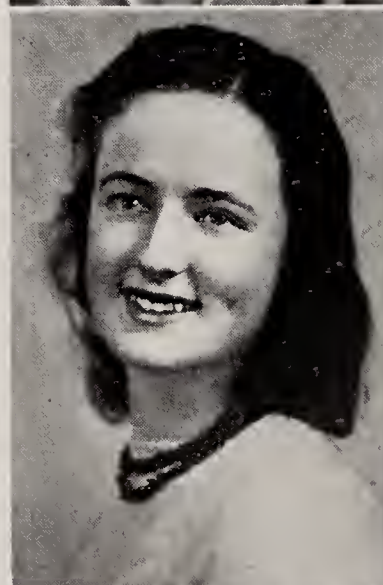

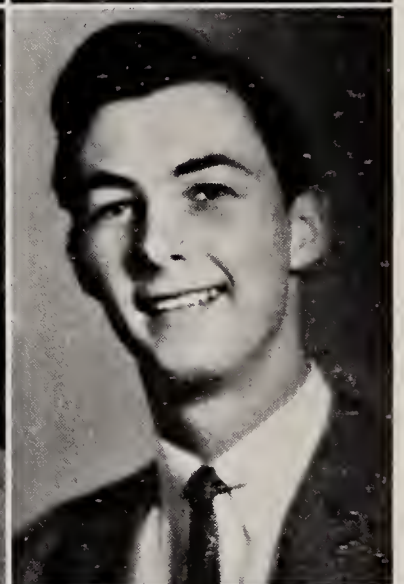

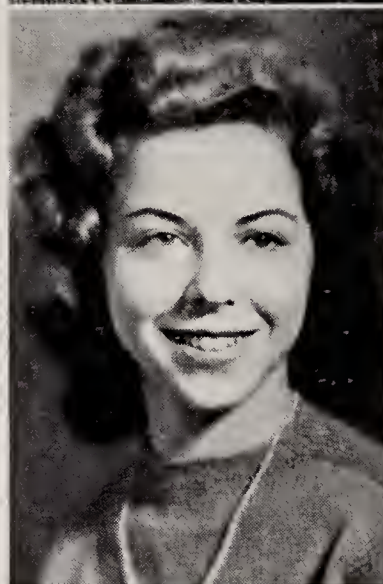

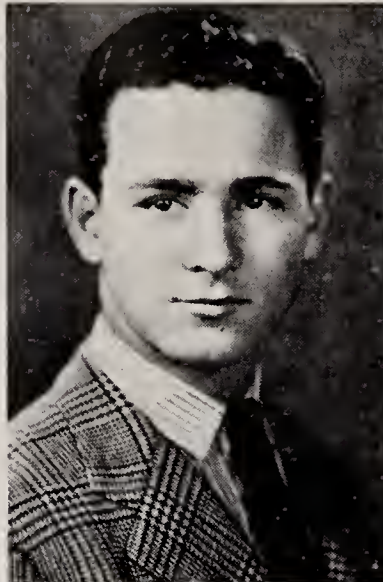

"Barb" Nursing
Secret Ambition: Spend my honeymoon in Hawaii.
Activities: Chorus, Library Club.

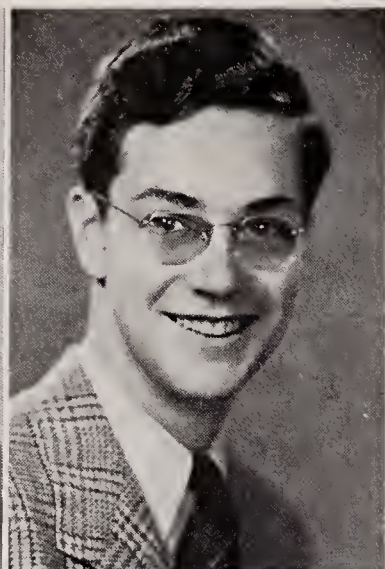

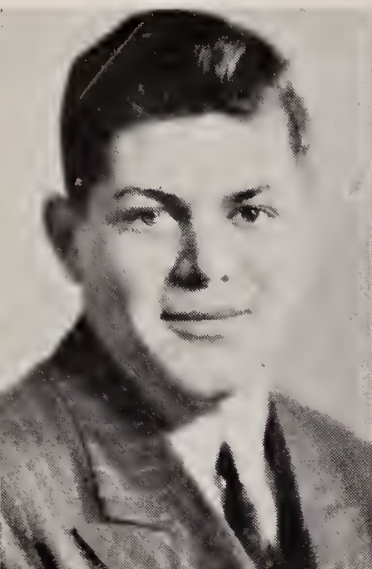

"Barb" is well-known because of her energetic smile, overflowing personality an' charm. She is an ardent admirer of the Navy, now as ever, but Harvard also plays a prominent role in her life. She also frequents the Bal-a-Roue, and how! Frankly, however, we're counting on "Barb" to be in our WHS Nurses' Corps already.

JOAN WILD

"Doey" Smith
Secret Ambition: To be serious when I should.
Activities: Varsity Hockey, Varsity Basketball, Vaudevil, Traffic, A. A. Representative.

Cheerful, beautiful, and with personality to boot! That's "Doey," one of our most vivacious seniors. You will find this A-1 gal running up and down a basketball court or hockey field. A true fun-loving girl, who always has a smile and will always have success and happiness.

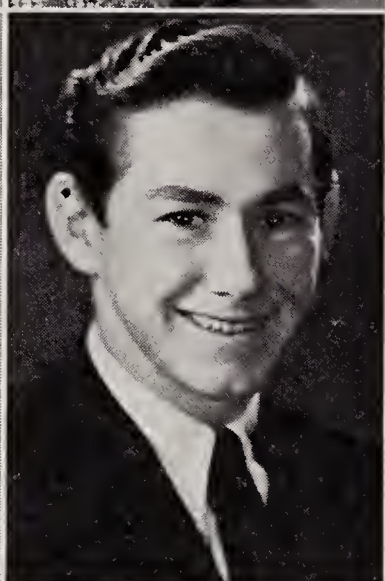

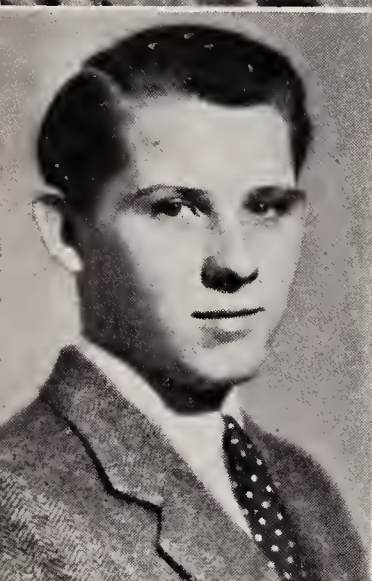

ROBERT DOANE WILKINSON
"Wilky" Coast Guard
Secret Ambition: Skeet Champion.
Activities: Traffic.

"Wilk" has been enjoying himself all through life and will probably go on. School and other such things never take up much time, so he has just tons of it to give to the things that seem to interest him: blondes, cars and gunning trips to the Cape. Always looking for happiness, may he always find it.

PAUL FRANCIS WILLIAMS
"Will" U. S. Army
Secret Ambition: To retire at 20.

Where is "Willy"? Over at shop as usual. Willy is that nonchalant guy that strolls around the corridors and hasn't a worry in the world. Most of his time is spent down at Brigham's. All kidding aside we wish him all the luck in the world. And we know he'll find it.

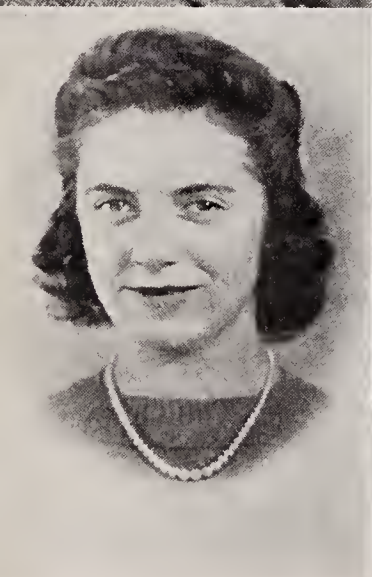

VICTOR HAMMOND WOOD
"Vic" V-12, Dartmouth Secret Ambition: To be in "Who's Who."
Activities: Traffic Squad, Vaudevil Stage Committee.

WHS got the best end of the bargain when Vic Wood came from Missouri. In addition to studying, "Vic" finds much time for extra-curricular activities. If he keeps on, he surely will succeed in his ambition!

KENDALL WRIGHT
"Ken" Army Air Corps
Secret Ambition: (Censored).
Activities: Science Club, Traffic, Thrift, Basketball, Vaudevil, Class Play Committee, Secretary of A. A., Junior-Senior Prom Committee, Baseball.

Ken is a student and a great sport. Girls go for him and visa versa. He is the man-about-school, knows all the secrets, and never keeps them. An ardent football fan, he is also tops in basketball. Many happy landings, Ken, and good luck in the Army Air Corps.

MARION RUTH WYMAN
Office Work
Secret Ambition: To visit Honolulu.
Activities: A. A.

Teachers often wonder why they sometimes find it impossible to decipher the handwriting of this young lady, known to the students for her winning smile and radiant personality. The secret: She has writer's cramp, from keeping the servicemen of many, many camps happy. Happiness is her by-line; may she find her full share.

ANDRONEKE ZAMANAKOS
"Niki" Chandler
Secret Ambition: To fly around the world.
Activities: Library Club, Varsity Hockey, A. A., Junior-Senior Class Play.

Tiny, pert, and slaphappy, this charming redhead occasionally explodes with a priceless piece of wit. She certainly does display those talents at the proper time. Her sparkling laughter has many a time rung through the classrooms and we'll miss it and the little screwball.

CLEMENTINE ETTA DODSON
"Clem" Undecided
Secret Ambition: That's telling!
Activities: Red Cross, Chorus, Banking, A. A.

Featuring one of those friendly people, easy to get along with. A swell companion with personality plus. Shy in school, but outside it's a different story. We wish you the best of luck in the many years to come.

WILLIAM ELMER TWOMBLY
"Bill" Undecided
Secret Ambition: To find the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.
Activities: A. A., Red Cross.

Permanent Honor Roll

Again it is our pleasure to honor those of our class who have excelled in scholastic achievement. Maintaining an average of 85 or better since entering Wadleigh's fatal walls, the following have earned the highest academic distinction that can be bestowed by the school:

We, the class of 1944, facing the conclusion of this, our Junior Year, pause to reflect upon our most recent successes.

Ken Harvey, Tom Derro, Fred Hicks, Ralph Muehlig, Jim Kimball, Angelo Amico, Harvey Clarke, Steve Greene, Sam Tomkins, Doug Cromwell, Carmen Tofuri, Mike Penta and Frank DiMambro won the acclaim of the crowd for their outstanding work on the football field. His teammates further honored Ken Harvey by electing him captain of next year's team.

Our class had more than its share of basketball players as Dick Callahan, Bert Moore, Gordon McGovern, Ted Atkinson, and Dick Coon thrilled the crowd with their amazing shots and all around fine playing.

Earle Spencer, Herbie Clement, Joan Mullan, Larry Smith, and Virginia Terhune added that unmistakable "Junior touch" to the annual class play and did much to make it a grand success.

Not to be outdone by other classes, the Juniors turned out in grand style for the Vau-Devil show. Of course it was our skits, singers, dancers, and chorus girls that made the show a sell-out. (?????)

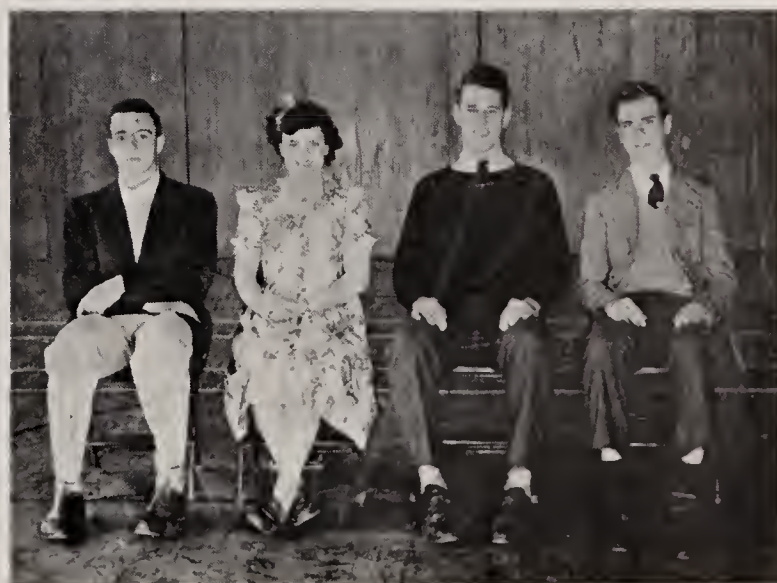

Deep Concentration

The baseball team was sparked by the presence of many Junior boys, all of whom handled the horsehide with considerable skill.

The initiative and sportsmanship of the Junior girls contributed much to field hockey and basketball. Virginia Terhune, Edith Dover, Marilyn Drake and Virginia Wallace starred on the hockey field and Ann Penniman, Muriel Howard and Edith Dover were "tops" on the basketball court. The girls also supported the boys' sports with their customary pep and vigor. They gave the boys the spirit to go out and win.

We are now looking forward to next year when we will try to fill the shoes of the Senior Class, who have built up such a grand reputation. We humbly pledge ourselves to uphold all the traditions of spirit, co-operation, and leadership.

The Sophomore Class

 Vice-President George Litchfield

The sophomore class is endowed with brains as well as brawn. Examples of brain are Francis Sleeper and Jim Ware, while examples of brawn are numerous, including such gridiron standouts as Jim Miliacci, Francis Lambiase, and Jim Tibaud. Another star was Bob Quine, who surprisingly snared a long pass and scurried to a touchdown. Others not so famous but important to a good team and who also earned awards were Bergquist, Collins, Joe Errico, Faieta, Lovejoy, Prentice, Roche, S. Smith, Swiedler, Walsh, and Washburn.

Our donation to the ever-famed hoopsters included Joe Errico, Slack, Way, and Roche, the latter shooting first team on occasion.

The feminine side of the sophomore class is also athletically inclined. Examples of this are shown in the field hockey records in letters big and bold. They tell of the feats of such stars as Bradlee, Dickson, Dolloff, Duffett, Murray, Jackson, Pride, and Russo who all proudly wear the shield of WHS. Sophomore managers were Nancy Nutter and Polly Ferro.

The young femmes also excelled in basketball with Duffett, Dickson, and Snow leading the group in stellar performances.

Priscilla Morrill is undoubtedly a second Ethyl Barrymore, as was proved by her performance at Vau-Devil. Janet Pride and Bud Way also scintillated.

Barbara Gay was appointed Vice-President of the Class when George Litchfield moved to Louisville.

The Freshman Class

President John Patterson
 Vice-President Jane Rainie
 Secretary Patricia Eberle
 Treasurer Peter Rooney
 Advisor Mr. Nichols

Our class is the largest in the school's history. Two-hundred and forty-nine pupils entered the Wadleigh Building, surpassing last year's class by sixty. We have come from all parts of the country, Alaska, and Hawaii.

Elections were held early in the Fall for class officers, and though their duties are mild, we'll agree that our class made an excellent choice.

In the sports world we see that Sam Tibaud, Bill Bird, Roger Latham, Gene Thomson, Stue Tisdale, and Pat Patterson have won second team letters in basketball.

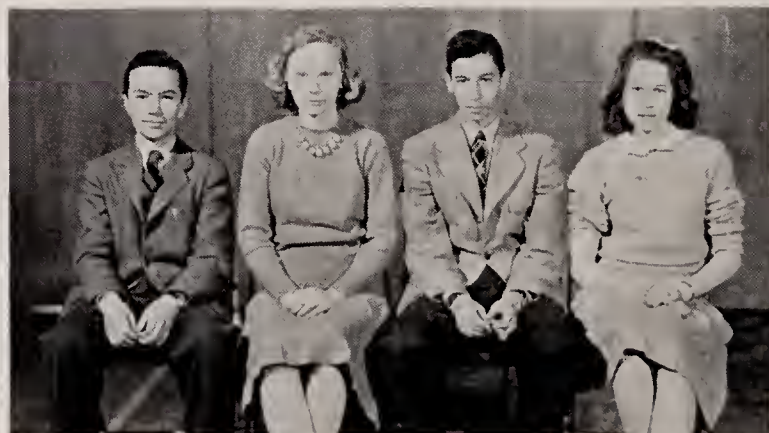

We all felt the effects of the war when our Freshman football team, capably coached by our principal, Mr. Nichols, was unable to get a schedule. Nevertheless we joined the "Blacks" and "Whites" of the Varsity squad and received our "blacks and blues," with Patterson and Haggerty showing great promise.

Dramatic Club claimed eleven of us, while we had 29 girls and fourteen boys in the chorus. Harold Blenkhorn and Hubert Smith represent us in the orchestra.

Corinne Marvin, "Dudie" Jennings, Peg Daley, Fay Pike, "Patty" Root and June Moffette showed that basketball will be well taken care of for some time.

Camera and Library Clubs, Red and Black, and Track Squad all felt the enthusiastic lift of the "Frosh."

Watch us, WHS; we're on our way!

The major problem faced by the Council at the beginning of the year was to place itself on a firm financial basis, so it could carry out its plans and work. This was accomplished by running popular dances and selling pictures of the football team and the Vau-Devil show. As the group is not a business enterprise, the profits were at once turned into value in the form of Student Council projects. Notable among these was the sending of a copy of the "Red and Black" written especially for this purpose to every graduate of the past five years now in the armed forces.

The Guidance Office, under the capable direction of Mr. Swenson provided an excellent outlet for the talents of the group. Through their efforts, an excellent Vocational Day program was conducted for the first time in the school's history.

Other important achievements of the Parliamentarians were the formation of a Friendship Committee to aid students to fit into the school life, the creation of an Advisory Committee to assist Mr. Graves in dealing with school discipline problems, standardizing rules and regulations for study halls, the founding of an Honor Society for meritorious students, presenting assemblies for student benefit, and the general improvement of school government.

In addition to the tangible accomplishments of the Council, valuable experience in parliamentary procedure was given to the participating students, plus practice in poise, reasoning, and public speech while debating motions before the group.

The Student Council suffered defeats as well, but went down with colors flying, thereby showing the real strength of the Association. Everyone can ride with a winner, but it takes the shocks of adversity to prove the merit of a council that will see the reason of proposals that can't be accepted as benefiting the whole school.

We must also take this opportunity to compliment the energy shown by the freshman representation from the Wadleigh. Such astute thinkers well bespeak success for our Council in the future.

Yes, the High School is helping the war effort with an "E" for excellence as far as banking is concerned. For the first time in several years the school reached the 100% mark not once, but eleven times. We students realize only too well the importance of banking and that regular saving must become part of our daily lives.

The organization is composed of a faculty advisor, and student officers. Mrs. Stacy is always ready with a helping hand and a cheerful smile when things begin to look difficult. John Murray, besides making everybody else work, contributed to the success of this year in his efforts as an able and well-liked executive. James "Jimmy-on-the-spot" Kimball looked out for the freshmen and reaped great success, while Ginny Terhune and attractive assistants Ruth Tapley and B. J. Smith provided a little glamour as well as a lot of hard work to the association.

Another amazing record was established by the individual home rooms. One-half of the entire school — eleven out of twenty-two — have had 100% every Tuesday. Hats off to rooms 1, 4, 6, 8, 13, 17, 21, 23, 26, 35, and 37. In the way of other statistics, the High School has had 99.3% or better every Tuesday since the first week. The average student banks approximately 35 cents each week.

War Stamp Campaign

Quite early in the year, it was announced that war stamps would be on sale in the home rooms one day a week, and, by ordering ahead, students could purchase them there. This plan was just moderately successful at first, until a campaign to buy a jeep was started. In two weeks so many more stamps had been bought that a letter commending our efforts was received from the Post Office. Since then, we easily collected the money required for one jeep, and were well on the way to a second before the close of school.

Special recognition must be given to the freshmen of the Wadleigh who in the nine weeks from February 15 to May 4, invested $592 and averaged 69% of the class per week in purchasing power.

The success this program has received shows what a fine spirit the students have, and it is hoped that much more will be collected next year.

Junior Red Cross has had a somewhat different career this year. Formerly, it was the custom for each home room to send one able but very often reluctant representative to the customary banking-schedule meeting. Looking to the "many hands make light work" adage, Miss Mackedon, paragon of chic-ness, and successful faculty leader of the Junior Red Cross, decided to invite as many students as wished to, to act as home room representatives. The turn-out was remarkable. Some home rooms had two or three willing representatives. This increased representation plan gave many more people the chance of actual service.

The annual Thanksgiving food drive was an overwhelming success. The collected stacks of luscious vegetables, jams, and jellies, and multi-colored canned goods were enough to make any hoarder's mouth water.

Nor was the Yuletire drive slighted, for the Junior Red Cross collected Christmas cards for the veterans of the last World War, in the true spirit of the season.

All other drives were comparatively diminutive and negligible beside the largest one of them all, the task of making and fitting out ditty bags for the boys in the army. Miss Niven herself personally instructed a large group in the delicate art of sewing a fine seam. Miss Mackedon was on hand to teach the French seam, but no one seemed confused. For amateurs, the girls did a brilliant piece of work, and the bags were whisked up in no time. The home rooms answered to the call for the necessary articles. Several times in the early fall months, money was collected, while later on the students volunteered to buy the toothpaste, soap, and all that sort of thing. Seventy-five bags were completed.

Another service worthy of notice was that rendered by certain members of the Junior Red Cross to the Senior Chapter. They helped at the Red Cross Center, where they filed papers, cut bandages, and did odd jobs.

After a belated start, the Science Club got under way in mid-November. The officers were elected along with the executive board of Ruth Tapley, Jean Stillman, James Kimball and Stephen Greene.

The first demonstration experiments were conducted by Parker Symmes on the subject of carbon dioxide. In February, President Goddu gave a short dissertation and a few experiments on water.

One of the highlights of the year was Vice-President Ellis's talk on the fluid drive. He had a working model which even opened the "Doc's" eye a little.

Bob Goddu again took over the meeting in April. He told of the new important subject of "Firearms and Explosives." Interesting relics of former wars made the talk the more timely.

At the last meeting, which was held in May, Parker Symmes, with aid of other members of the Club and fine slides, helped us to learn something of Meteorology.

Many of the members took advantage of being able to use the high school's telescope to view the heavens. Owing to gas rationing there were none of the usual outside trips.

Every member will agree that again the Science Club has had a banner year.

Camera Club

President George Gould
Vice-President Patterson Smith
Secretary Arthur Butters
Treasurer Arthur Stewart
Advisor Miss Peabody

Camera Club has been very successful this year. The main activity was the introduction of a series of excellent illustrated lectures on the various phases of photography by Pat Smith.

Although our activities have been greatly restricted by war shortages, our members have still managed to take and submit many pictures, particularly for our bi-monthly print criticisms. Each member brings in some of his best or worst prints, and the others try constructively to point out the faults.

This year there was a new addition to the Libe Club - a few boys who bravely helped the girls and Miss Wilfert behind the desk and behind the scenes in the workroom. The males are now invading the girls' sanctuary - and enjoying it immensely. Nearly every period of the week the library is covered by a student who checks books in and out, returns books to their shelves, files cards, and helps prepare new books. Members of the club also put up displays which have been borrowed from different departments of the school. Material has been loaned by the Guidance office, arts and crafts classes, and the main office.

During the fall a number of the girls made a trip to the Book Fair held at Symphony Hall. The Club members, under the guidance of their most efficient officers, also collected books for the servicemen during the Nationwide Victory Book Campaign. The year closed with a most enjoyable spring party and picnic.

For the first time in many years, the Winchester High School Chorus has become a definite asset to the school's extra-curricular activities. Under the able guidance of Miss Renehan, the large group has made an admirable showing before the school and the general public.

At the Christmas pageant, an ensemble selected from the girls' chorus sang several numbers. When spring finally arrived, the boys and girls combined to give an excellent concert for all Winchester music-lovers which was well received by all who attended.

 Mr. Brown*Director*

For the past two-and-one-half years the Winchester High School Orchestra has been under the able direction of Mr. George Brown. Mr. Brown, himself an excellent cellist, is also the conductor of the Melrose orchestra.

Besides the annual spring concert, this year the orchestra played at the Junior-Senior Class Play in January, and for the Rotary Club in March.

When, at their Tuesday morning sessions, they were not practising for a performance, the organization played for its own amusement. The programs, public and private, suffered from no lack of variety. Pieces ranging from Strauss to Sousa, and Wagner to Gershwin were played.

The program at the spring concert consisted of a suite by Lulli, Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," featuring Pauline Milne in a star performance at the piano, "Wood Sketches" by Alice Parker, and others.

The members of the orchestra this year were Harold Blenkhorn, Dorothy Carr, Harvey Clarke, Herbert Clement, Eugene Clennon, Judson Curtis, Eloise Dimbleby, Betsy Drake, Marilyn Drake, Richard Gallagher, Frank Horne, Arthur King, Charles Lovejoy, Pauline Milne, Alice Parker, Larry Parker, Robert Ramsdell, Hubert Smith, Shirley Snyder, Jean Stillman, and Dominic Talone.

The Band

A recent addition to our numerous extra-curricular activities is our school band. Under the guidance and leadership of Mr. George Brown, the band has progressed as far as the present conditions permit. Mr. Brown has had wide experience with bands and orchestras around Boston, and has also been the conductor of our school orchestra during the last two and one-half years.

At present, the band consists of seventeen members. However the future of the band is very bright and this number is expected to increase to about forty in a few years. This prophecy is reliable because of the new musical program that has been started recently. Many talented people have been given an excellent opportunity to receive instruction in most all kinds of musical instruments. In a short time these people will be able to strengthen the band effectively. The success of the band depends on the success of this program. Another source of material is the Junior High School orchestra, which has been reorganized by Mr. Brown. The members of this group are gaining valuable experience now that will enable them to fit into the band easily. As yet, marching and uniforms have not been considered, but, naturally, these will fall into line as the band strengthens.

Traffic Squad

ChiefEverett Twombly
Lieuts. Frank Buzzotta and Francis Poirier
AdvisorMr. Cooper

The evolution of the traffic squad from a teacher appointed and controlled organization to one elected by the student-body and under the control of the Student Council was accomplished this year.

Under the plan adopted by the school last year, one squad was elected to act as guardians of the halls from September until after Mid-Years, when another group was selected to serve until June. In this way, twice as many students have participated as in former years, and it is the fond belief of Pete Twombly the chief, and Mr. Cooper, the advisor, that this plan made it a more efficient organization.

Traffic has operated much more smoothly this year, and great credit must go to the officers.

Thirty-six freshmen, having been appointed by the Wadleigh faculty, met in October to organize their traffic problems under the direction of Mr. Smith.

The squad which went on duty first was headed by Pat Patterson and his lieutenants, John Rutherford, Virginia Lovejoy, and Conrad Rosander.

The second squad is headed by Bob Swanson, with lieutenants Donald Armstrong, Patsy Eberle, and Jim Haggerty.

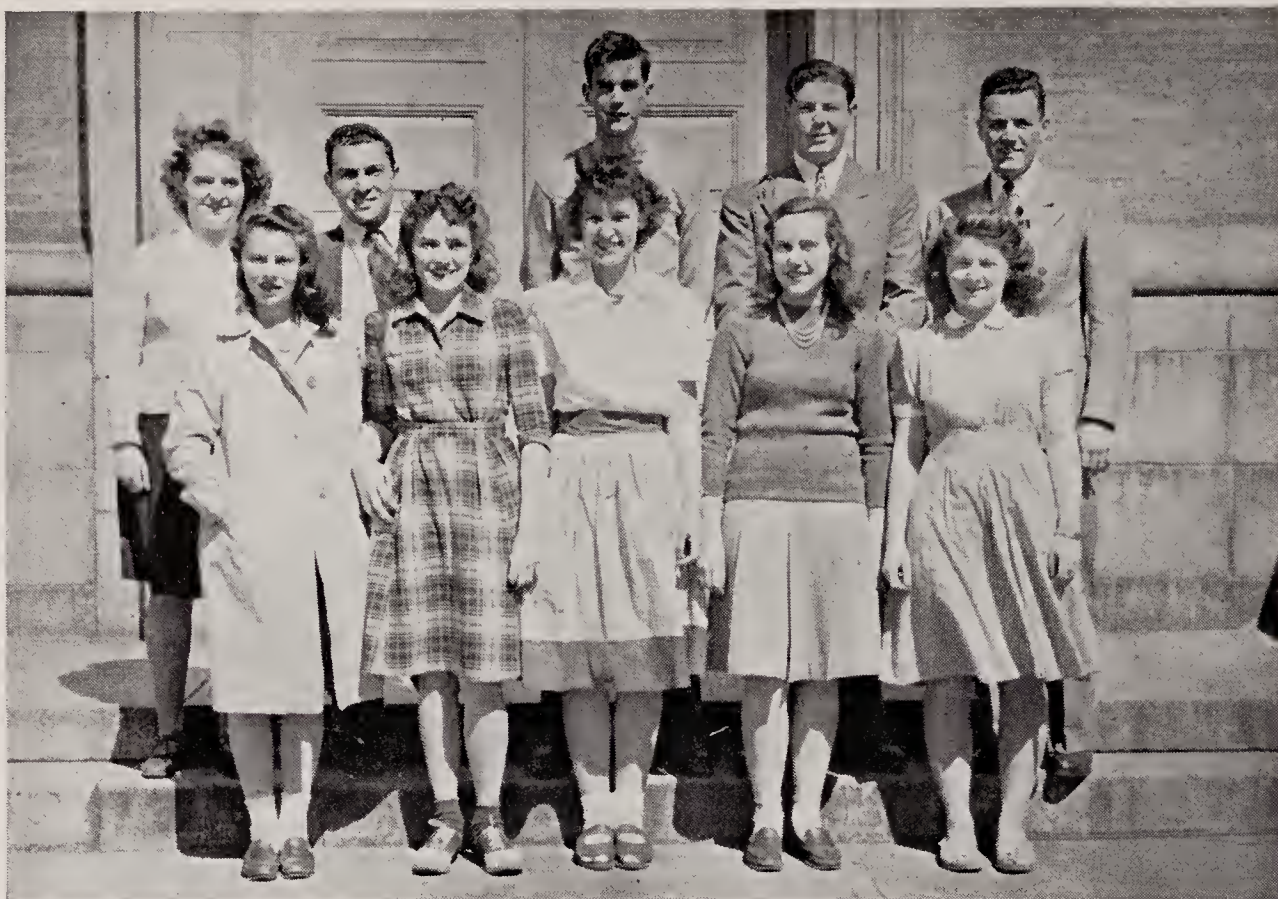

The street Safety Guards are headed by Robert Halstead and Ted Ginsberg, with lieutenants Bob Stoffregen, Mark Strawbridge, Frank Nolan, and Harry Stinchcomb.

They are on duty at the five way street intersection to stop traffic for the pupils when going to lunch and assemblies.

ARNOLD E. NICHOLS, Faculty Advisor

Here, in the middle of the book, is the time and the place for us to express gratitude and appreciation to the many people who have helped in the production of this "ABERJONA 1943." Carol Crandall, our assistant editor, has done most of the heavy work herself, as is the way of the underdog, and her enthusiasm and brainstorming have carried us through many a tight spot. And at this point, may we say that Virgie Straghan did not stick to her own job of advertising, but was willing to stay and work long hours with us on personal write-ups and articles. Many others, including underclassmen, came down to Room Three to spend an afternoon helping us out. This aid has been invaluable.

Carrie Gay had all her features in on time and that's a record to be proud of. Joan Hevey and Dick Phinney did a grand job on their sports. Genaro Cirignano, assisted by Yvonne Clennon must get due credit (and a lot is due!), for all the art work in this volume, except the cuts we swiped from last year's book! Sally Sherburne did all the hard work on compiling the statistics, and Nan Mortensen was ready to step in and finish up for her when she became ill. Claire Smalley and Virg collected more ads than the "ABERJONA" has seen for a long time; thanks to them we've been able to include many features, the expense of which would have been far beyond us without these ads. Finally, business manager Jim Farrell and assistant, Annette Croughwell, have carried on a fine selling campaign, insuring the success of our book.

We've spent long mornings, afternoons, and evenings on the different sections of the book. We've worked hard, but it's been a wonderful experience, and we've learned a lot — mostly never to tackle one of these again. All along, though, Mr. Nichols has been our guiding light, continually beaming forth with bright ideas and personal comments which kept us from going crazy, and which lightened our often-drooping spirits.

We present this "ABERJONA" to the student body with our compliments, and hope that you have as much fun reading it as we had writing it.

The "Red and Black"

Although major vacancies in the staff necessitated a late debut in the 1942-43 Red and Black, the school tabloid became the student guide to all happenings of scholastic and athletic nature with the first issue and remained throughout the year. As co-editors, Alice Parker and Jean Stillman worked untiringly to produce material of the best possible character from a student body lacking in talent.

Ever alert Betty Mullan and Junior Dick Fenno combined thoroughness and a nose for news to produce a complete coverage of all possible events in their roles as news editors. Another Junior, Bert Moore, kept the student body well informed on the progress of the school's great athletic teams in his capacity as sports editor. The most difficult department of the paper, that of features, was handled by Paul Blake in that conservative but perfectly satisfying manner which is his. A serious decrease in the ranks of local merchants with an advertising fever provided many headaches for Marie Moore and Libbie Derro, who, in spite of this barrier, persisted in supplying the necessary advertising.

In its fourth year of operation the Red and Black kept abreast of every event and did some war effort work on the side. On January 13, the staff published a "Service Men's Issue", the biggest issue in the paper's history, which included names and addresses of graduates in the service. The very next issue contained plans for the High School to purchase the now famous "WHS Jeep" through War Bonds and Stamps. This drive multiplied the school's purchasing power by five in its very first week.

Some of the interesting columns appearing in the paper this year have been: humorous articles on the "Commandos", a regular column by Mr. Swenson, the Meet Your Neighbor column introducing new students to the school, constructive editorials by Bob Lynch, directed as a benefit for the school, and Locker Room Lingo.

In mid-January the Juniors took over and, with their abundance of experience and enthusiasm tried hard to match the wonderful record of their predecessors.

Stomping to Krupa

Dances

The school calendar for the year 1942-43 was dotted with many social functions including hops, promenades, and barn dances.

The student council made its debut into the social world by sponsoring three gala step sessions. The first of these was one of those come-as-you-are affairs. Music was supplied by some of the top bands in the nation in record form. The council provided a little diversion for the local hep-cats and put on a beam shaking barn dance. The hay hop was well received. Everyone let their hair down and swung their partners. Lastly, a patriotic promenade came into the offing. This time the music was supplied by Bing Grindle and his orchestra. The decorations were one of the chief highlights of the dance. A real patriotic atmosphere was affected with the stars and stripes dangling from the walls and draped over the backboards and doorways.

"Black Magic", "Night and Day", "This Is the Army",—all these songs will remind us of the dances we went to. We'll remember seeing our own lamps in the corners of the gym, and the wild dashes across the floor for the first chance at coke and cookies. Saying "hello" to Coach and Mr. Graves in the patrons' corner, and looking with envy at their comfortable chairs while we sat on the bleachers. These melodies, and more, will remind us of long walks through the snow on crisp, cold nights to get to basketball games and then a dance.

The A. A. came across with three successful dances per usual. First was the Fall Sports Dance. Music was supplied by Bing Grindle and his orchestra at all these dances. The Fall Sports Dance was decorated with pumpkins, hay-cocks and college banners, giving the required harvest season effect. The Mid-Winter Sports Dance was a successful gathering patronized by a large majority of the school's loose jointed leg-limber lads and lassies. The gym was camouflaged into an artificial sun valley or something. There were snowmen galore with red and white banners streaming along the walls. The old gym could hardly be recognized. Last, but by no means least, was the annual Prom.

That dance of dances on that night of nights, the Junior-Senior Prom on May 1st, hit a new high in color, melody, and gayety this year. With Pete Twombly as its leader, the Prom Committee broke all previous records by creating the finest annual dance yet. Lovely lassies in lovely dresses graced the jiving gym. And a strange looking gymnasium it was, strange but beautiful, thanks to a large and capable decorating group with Virginia Straghan at its head. In true May Day fashion, flowers were the theme, forming baskets and wreaths in strategic points around the "ballroom." Reeves' rhythm blended with soft lights completed a perfect evening which was over only too soon. Then good night to the "line" and so home . . . eventually.

Once again the Broadway-ites rose to fame as three groups of the WHS Dramatic Club gave superb performances under the able guidance of vivacious Miss Bailey.

The first curtain rose at our Christmas assembly when Claire Smalley directed group "A" in the play, "Where Lies the Child". This lovely Christmas story was ably acted out by Virginia Terhune, Herbert Clement, Bill Everett, Priscilla Morrill, and Shirley Palson. The annual Christmas pageant was also presented at this time with very beautiful lighting effects.

Group "B" presented a thrilling mystery play, "The Bracelet of Doom", under the direction of Laurie Nickerson. Those participating to make it a super-performance were Janet Eaton, Janet Pride, Marilyn Campbell, Earl Spencer, Bill Everett, Ted Atkinson, Ken Way, and Sue Hight.

"Elmer and the Love-Bug" was produced and directed by Virgie Straghan in May. This hilarious tale was acted out before the school in an assembly with a grand cast earning much-deserved credit. They were Emily Hanson, Barbara J. Smith, Barberie Harmer, Larry Smith, Dorothy Byford, Stearns Ellis, Charles Lovejoy, Nancy Greiner, Marilyn Campbell, Marion Horwood, Ruth McCarthy, and Charles Greene.

Boardman O'Connor, Mark Strawbridge, and Herbert Smith handled properties throughout the year, while Peggy Fitzgerald and Mildred Dorsey made up the characters very realistically.

Each year the Dramatic Club's varied productions grow more and more finished, and more and more appreciated by the school. May they go on for many years to come, keeping the same standards of excellence they've always had.

SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE By J. D. S.

Taking full advantage of the enthusiasm of a capacity audience that had walked from all parts of the town to enjoy the annual Junior-Senior play, the able and vivacious cast of "Seven Keys to Baldpate" turned in a praise-worthy performance last Saturday evening at the high school auditorium. Coached by J. Roy Newton of the English Department, Frank Horne and his senior classmates combined well with Joanne Mullan and her junior class underlings to re-enact the late Geo. M. Cohan's melodrama based on the novel of the same name by Earl Derr Biggers.

All action in this perennial favorite takes place in the lobby of Baldpate Inn.

Using the only key to unlock the door to Baldpate Inn, Parker Symmes and Virginia Terhune as the Quimbys, playing literally under wraps did an admirable job in setting up the element of mystery.

From the moment of his entrance on the stage until the end, Frank Horne was master of the situation. Committed to the task of handling a huge number of lines and situations, Frank kept the tempo of the melodrama fast and furious at all times.

Next to try the only key was Earle Spencer as John Bland. His stint was to leave the sum of $200,000 in the inn's safe and depart, but when interrupted by McGee, Earle did his sly act commendably.

Heralded by the shrieks of Janet Eaton as Mrs. Rhodes, Joanne Mullan played up well to McGee, but maintained her reporter's manner from start to finish.

Janet Eaton cast as an excitable older woman was effective by not overdoing the melodramatic, which a less well poised individual might have felt called upon to do.

The darling of the audience was undoubtedly the inimitable Herbert Clement as Peters the hermit. Practically flowing on the scene from time to time and aided by a particularly good make-up, Herbert had to remain stationary much of the time to give the play back to the others.

Genuine consternation accompanied the entrance of Claire Smalley as Myra Thornhill. Claire, glamorously attired, added a brand new touch to the mystery as she played from "grand lady" to "triple crosser." Probably the most difficult feminine role, Myra Thornhill kept Claire busy prancing mightily and relaxing regally. Her lines, though few in number, came like shots in the dark and not one fell as a dud.

Jim Cargan, crooked mayor, and Lou Max, his man Friday, played by Larry Smith and Bill Daley have to be considered together, because neither would have been so effective without the other. Larry furnished the pomposity of the offended politician while Bill played the trigger man. Both kept strictly "in character" and in that lay their power.

Whereas John Tarbell as Hayden, railroad president, had little occasion to shift from one mood to another and hence was able to blend with the general story. Stearns Ellis as Jiggs Kennedy, police chief, rocked the audience with howls of mirth by his impersonation.

The Executive Board consisted of Marion Philbrook, Virginia Straghan, Crosby Grindle, and Francis Poirier. Miss Fenton and Mr. Knowlton ably assisted in the faculty guidance.

Although wartime regulations threw a monkey wrench in the machine, so to speak, the Athletic Association carried on in its usual manner, although many barriers had to be hurdled in order to achieve goals which in peacetime would have been completed more readily.

The perennial Fall Sports and Mid-winter Dances were capably directed by Virginia Straghan, the Social Chairman throughout the year, and were very successful.

Because of the critical shortage of manpower as well as the rising cost of food, the annual Sports Banquet was revised and presented as a Football Banquet for our championship team. Sweaters were presented to the varsity by the Association. School spirit reached its peak during the gridiron campaign with the climactic march to the Stoneham game. It set off a much desired spark in the school.

During the basketball season, attendance records climbed to new heights as the gymnasium was constantly packed throughout the season with spectators.

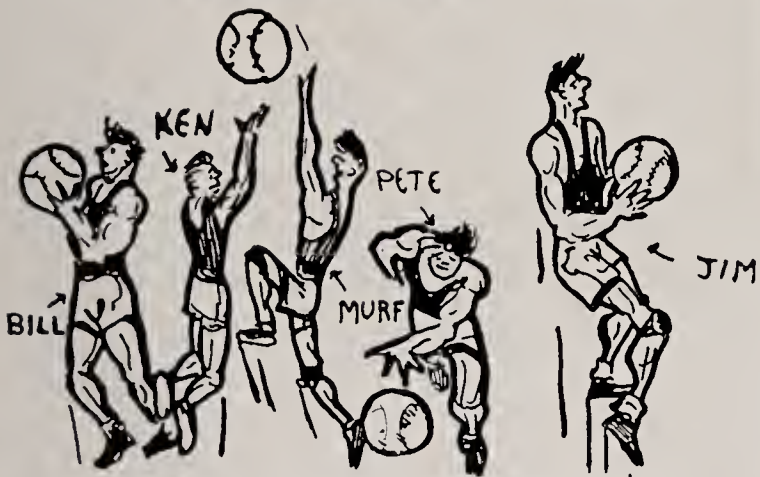

The membership of the Association reached an even greater peak with seventy-three out of every seventy-five students enrolled.

Kendall Wright handled the advertising, with some assistance from various members of the board.

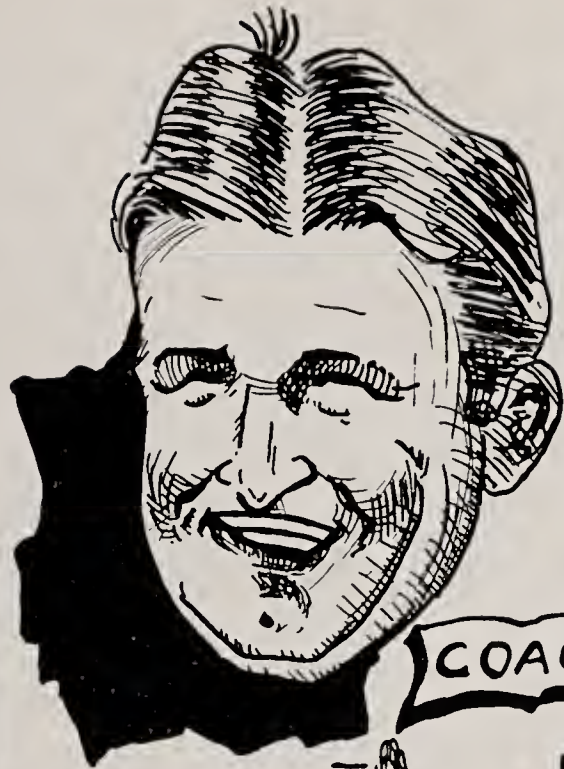

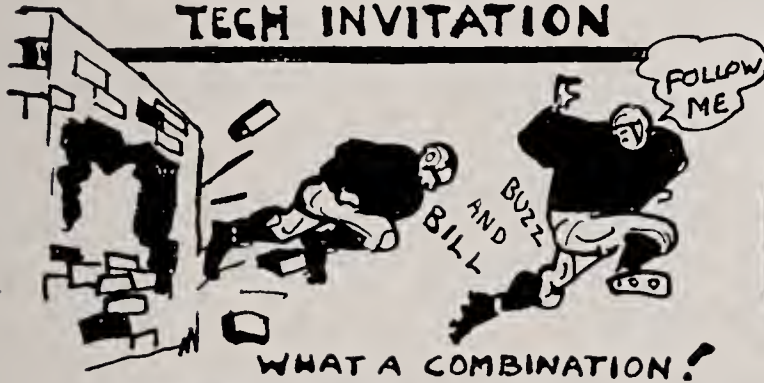

The Association gave the Student Council a big push, cooking up a small scale "lend-lease," which gave this organization a much needed financial lift.

The entire school year was a success financially as well as a success in achievement.

Football

Captain William West
Manager Allan Bugbee
Coach Mr. Knowlton

After placing third in Class "C" last year, this year an undefeated ten game schedule brought Winchester its first State Championship of its class. Still another event made this team outstanding. This was the selection, by almost all of our Boston papers, of Bill West as All Scholastic. Bill was high scorer in the state with 97 points and was also voted, next to Al Cannava of Medford, the outstanding player in the state.

The team opened the season by defeating an outplayed Framingham eleven. Next came one of our toughest ball games with Swampscott, in which the "Tide" barely edged out a 7-0 win. The next five games were fairly easy contests. We defeated Lexington 19-6, Danvers 19-0, Punchard 27-0, Maynard 24-0, and Reading 27-0, the game in which Bill West won himself the title of "The Star of the Week" by making all four touchdowns.

The next three games proved to be very exciting and nerve-straining for the team. The visiting Stoneham eleven which brought down several hundred faithful followers, only to be outnumbered by at least five hundred Winchester students, played a hard, fast, and good ball game. After going into the lead by 10-6 on a touchdown and a field goal, Stoneham was determined to hand our boys their first setback. However, due to the inspiration of Bill West and a timely pass by Fran Poirier, the Red and Black scored in the last 25 seconds to win the game 12-10. The next game at Belmont also proved to be a tough one to win, but despite the cold weather, the hard ground and a good Belmont defense, Fran Poirier and Bill West gave us the game 18-14. The traditional game with Woburn on Thanksgiving Day proved to be another second-half game for Winchester with Bill West and Bob Jackson each tallying once to give the "Tide" a 13-3 win for its first undefeated season with 179 points for and 33 points against.

Great appreciation and respect are given to our head coach, Henry Knowlton, and assistant coach Palmer, for their excellent coaching and leadership by the following first team fellows:

At the football banquet, Ken Harvey was presented as next year's captain. Here's good luck to the team of '43 from the team of '42.

This year the cheerleaders went after results, just as the football team did, and both came out victorious. The team went after the majority of points in each game, more good sportsmanship, more players participating, more originality, better appearances, and split-second co-operation. The cheerleaders felt this was a much-to-be-desired program and that it could also be applied to cheerleading. So, led by Carol Crandall, they lit into the problems which hindered a successful cheering squad. A separate freshman squad was broken in, practice hours were increased, new cheers were introduced, rules on uniforms were more rigid, and co-operation was the rule. In other words, they really meant business. As a result, the cheering section was confronted with a squad of girls who were ditto down the line, who stayed together, of all miracles, and who had enough energy left over to make the spectators really enjoy themselves. Their line-ups were different and attractive, and many a school became fired with ambition to make their cheerleaders as good as Winchester's.

Everyone who had anything to do with football knew the trouble of transportation. The team was patriotic, even if it meant starting the game a little late. The cheerleaders had their troubles, too. Always providing their own transportation, they scraped all the harder for possible rides, for the team needed support. They were true to the colors, and as a result every game had some red and white energy making noise.

This year was the hardest and yet the easiest cheerleaders have ever gone through. Hardest because the new rules kept them on their toes. Easiest because it doesn't take much will power or persuasion to cheer for teams like the ones we had. Altogether, Winchester High School is proud of a cheerleading squad which wasn't left entirely behind in the dust by its championship teams.

Coach Mr. Knowlton

Although an early season slump slightly marred their final record, the WHS hoopsters completed a very successful season in 1943. Despite a scarcity of lettermen, Coach Knowlton's men finished second in the Middlesex League and drew an invitation to the Tech Tournament, for the first time in the school's history.

Captain Pete Twombly and Center Jim Farrell collaborated to score over 300 of the team's points. Charley Murphy rounded out the starting forward line and proved a sensation in his first year out. At guard, Kenny Wright and Bill West teamed up to form a very effective defense. Jack Errico and Fran Poirier excelled as first line substitutes.

Probably the biggest accomplishments of the season were the defeats of Arlington and Woburn. Arlington is a Class A team which WHS hasn't played in many years and defeating Woburn twice the same year in basketball had been almost unheard of.

The J. V.'s, too, hit pay dirt many times, losing only two games out of the fifteen played. Dick Callahan was high scorer for the "seconds" with close to 100 markers.

Commando Training

During the past summer, the School Committee approved Coach Henry Knowlton's idea for a compulsory physical fitness program for all Junior and Senior boys not out for football. The purpose was to build these boys into hardened specimens of manhood by following the conditioning routine suggested by the Army Air Corps.

The course consisted of wall-vaults, ladder-climbing, log-running and similar tactics. Touch football and soccer were also enjoyed in regular league style. Team captains were Pete Twombly, Bob Pynn, John Ottiano, and Bill Wilde. Relay races of all kinds were added to the program from time to time.

Coach Smith was ably assisted in the calisthenics period every day by Bob Pynn, the squad's very capable leader. After November 15 the Commandos came indoors for a daily sixth period gym workout with Coach Knowlton. This indoor program lasted until early April when the baseball and track squads attracted these stalwarts.

Baseball

Captain Frank Russo
Manager Allan Bugbee
Coach Mr. Knowlton

The wartime edition of the WHS baseball team opened its 1943 season with only two returning lettermen. However, after the first game, Coach Knowlton was forced to build his starting nine almost entirely from scratch. Captain Frank "Gee" Russo left school early in May for work, and the other letterman, Angelo "Scratch" Amico, was declared ineligible even before the season got under way.

To an interested spectator at Manchester Field, this year's diamond edition looked like this. Jim Tibaudo is stationed behind the plate. Tibaudo is one of the finest prospects to reach WHS in a long time. Dick Nihan is Tibaudo's understudy. A. A. president, Charlie Murphy, was the starting first baseman. Bud Mahoney and Ken Harvey were Murphy's reserves. "Sonny" Walsh, a converted catcher, was this year's keystone custodian. Dick Callahan and Sammy Tibaudo rounded out the first team infield at third base and shortstop respectively. Dick Coon and Harold Bergquist were the subs for the two previously mentioned boys at the hot corner and short.

Viewing the outfield an observer would see fleet-footed Tony Saraco cavorting around in left field, Bob Swymer in the centerfield pasture, and Chucker Roche in the remaining right field garden. Pitching was really the main headache after the loss of Pete Provinzano on the pitching hill. Gordon "Stretch" McGovern vacated a first team tennis berth to try his luck on the mound. He is the lone southpaw of the hurling corps. Other pitchers who take their regular turns on the rubber are Guy Washburn, a curveball artist; Harvey Clarke, a lanky fireballer from New York, and "Chucker" Roche, the hard-hitting outfielder who also pitches in his spare time. Sam Tompkins and Red Hannon round out the pitching staff.

It should be mentioned at this time that this year's squad was not expected to emulate last year's championship team. However, before the year is very far advanced, the current WHS nine will subject and often startle an opponent with a good old-fashioned shellacking. Before anyone passes criticism about this year's diamond team, he should remember that it is a young, rookie team with plenty to learn, and that eventually they will master and click together before long. If they don't come through this year, give them another year and then —.

Track

Co-Captains Richard Briggs and John Murray
ManagerWilliam Eaton
CoachMr. Smith

Winchester's 1943 track prospects are very bright as we go to press. The squad of forty, managed to get in two weeks' training before the Intra-squad meet held on April 15.

Early in April the squad suffered the loss of Co-Captain John Murray to the armed services. John had been one of the 1942 co-captains as well, and was our leading 220-yard dash man, anchor on the 440-yard and 880-yard relay units, and the squad's best broad jumper.

Patriot's Day found our track squad at Concord in a septengular meet. Winchester finished third behind Lynn English and Belmont, just nosing out their hosts by $\frac{1}{2}$ point. Arlington, Lexington, and Lowell finished behind Concord.

On April 27th, we took on powerful Medford, here on Manchester Field. The boys had looked forward for a long time to running against this third best team in the state. We took them on; they took us over 47 to 21 — but both teams seemed to enjoy this first cinder contest between the two schools.

An innovation brought about by war transportation problems found our boys defeating Concord, 46-31 "by postal card"! We ran at home, they at Concord, both against time, with the results being exchanged by mail.

On May 8, Winchester proudly maintained its championship form for the second successive year by again winning the Class B trophy at the Annual Lynn-Saugus Invitation Relay Carnival.

Later that same week we were nosed out by one point by Belmont in a triangular meet with Cambridge Latin.

At this writing the squad looks forward to the remainder of its schedule, which is as follows:

May 15—Belmont State Relay Carnival.
 May 18—At Lexington.
 May 22—State Meet at Newton.
 May 26—At Arlington.

Boys' Tennis

Captain John Tarbell
Manager Robert Coon
Coach Mr. Rodgers

This year's tennis team under the capable leadership of Jack Tarbell enjoyed a successful season. Many varsity lettermen returned from last year's squad including Stearns Ellis, Ted Atkinson, John Tarbell, Jim Ware, and Dick Fenno. Although this is one of the small organizations in the High School, the players enjoy it as much as a major sport.

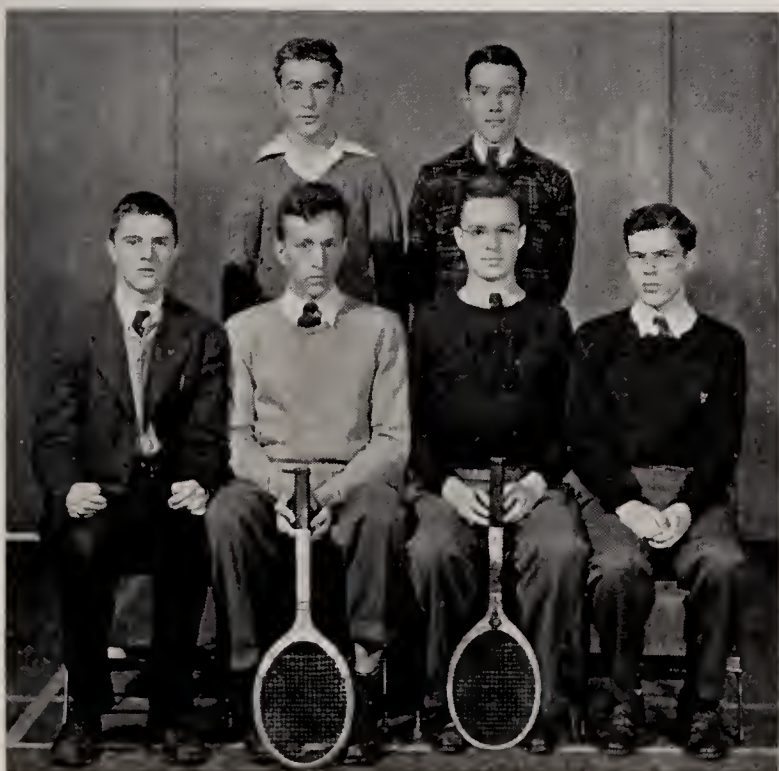

The freshman class provided our team with some new material with which to develop future winners for WHS. The boys included in this group are Conrad Rosander, William Bird, and Russell Penniman.

"Chubby" Ellis and "Jack" Tarbell are famous as a double pair, with smooth co-ordination. Ted Atkinson, Jim Ware and Dick Fenno are among the best of singles champs, and have brought many laurels back to WHS. As only a sophomore this year, Jim has made an excellent record for himself.

Mr. Rodgers, known to most as a math teacher, but to a few as our tennis coach, spent much time with the boys giving them valuable assistance, and we are all very much indebted to him. Bob Coon did a fine job as manager, and arranged all the plans very neatly.

Only two boys are being lost through graduation this year, so a great deal may be expected of the next year's team.

Seated: Ware, Tarbell, Capt.; Atkinson, S. Ellis.
Standing: Rosander, Fenno.

Girls' Tennis

Captain Betsy Drake
Manager Alice Parker
Coach Miss Fenton

Winchester's female furies again passed their magic wands over all tennis opponents. Games were scheduled with Melrose, Arlington, and Winsor at home, while the game with Belmont provided another transportation worry.

The girls had the tennis season well in hand last year, standing undefeated and with only three points scored against them during the entire season.

Playing on the varsity squad are: Betsy Drake, Capt.; Mary Keyes, Muriel Howard, Peggy Ware, and Ann Penniman. Others completing the lineup are: Virginia Wallace, Marilyn Drake, Marilyn Chefalo, Nancy Snow, and Sue Wolff.

Meanwhile there is a fine group of Freshmen who are working hard on their game in anticipation of joining the squad later.

The girls' tennis teams in Winchester have always held a very high position among suburban Boston teams and with their 1943 lineup, they surely came through again.

With only two Seniors on the squad this year, it is plain to see that future prospects continue to be very bright.

Seated: S. Palson, Philbrook, P. Russell, Miss Fenton, Wild, C. Leary, B. Drake.

Standing: A. Penniman, Richardson, Dover, Tapley, B. J. Smith, Keyes.

Field Hockey

Captain Esther Capone
Manager Anne Penniman
Coach Miss Fenton

The 1942 Hockey Squad really had a heartbreaking season. Facts on paper show that they had one win, one tie, and four losses. There are, however, many other things besides these facts which have made the season very encouraging and which have given future hockey teams a decided level to live up to.

We saw a great new crop of sophomores descend upon Miss Fenton; the juniors joyfully about to see the day when their brilliant careers weren't to be hindered by seniors, and the seniors themselves, playing their games with vigor and skill, — looking forward to May, but feeling an undeniable pang when they shot their last goals.

Esther Capone led this year's eleven at left inner. She and left wing Edie Dover (Mutt and Jeff), made quite a pair but boy! they got the results. Betsy Drake has played right wing every minute in every game for three straight years. Almost every team has one versatile player—Shirley Palson surely is it!

Mim Philbrook, center half, was on the ball everywhere and anywhere at all times, always emerging triumphant. "Doey" Wild terrified many an opponent with her flying stick and hair, which yielded amazing results. Charlotte Leary's veteran handling of the ball kept the team on an even keel, and the forwards where they could score. Char's running mate was Mary Keyes, our nine-day wonder who came as an answer to a prayer to fill in an important fullback position. Phyllis Russell's fast-moving stick always started the games and the great things her clever stick merely suggested, encouraged the team to get that goal. The sight of the goalie pads lumbering down the field with Mary Murray inside them gave the team relief from worrying about goals that might be made against Winchester. If it hadn't been for B. J. Smith, the team might have been lost forever.

Ruth Tapley played a never-to-be-forgotten part in this team as right half and she'll be a great help next year. Anne Penniman was a capable and efficient manager, and will do a grand piece of work next year, too, we're sure.

Hockey letter winners are as follows: First Team: Betsy Drake, Shirley Palson, Phyllis Russell, Esther Capone, Capt.; Edith Dover, Ruth Tapley, Marion Philbrook, Joan Wild, Anne Richardson, Mary Keyes, Charlotte Leary, Mary Murray, B. J. Smith, Anne Penniman, Manager.

Second Team: Carol Crandall, Capt.; Betty Doll-off, Jean Bradlee, Virginia Wallace, Natalie Dickson, Jane Duffett, Marilyn Drake, Virginia Terhune, Lillian Murray, Marty Jackson, Janet Pride, Muriel Howard, Lucy Russo, Evelyn Stangroom.

Seated: Tapley, Dover, Philbrook, Capt.; Wild, Palson. Standing: Miss Fenton, B. Drake, Howard.

Girls' Basketball

CaptainMarion Philbrook
 ManagerJoan Hevey
 CoachMiss Fenton

Granted the season wasn't a complete success; however, led by Mim Philbrook, the feminine sextet ended the year with three wins and three defeats. The team improved considerably as time went on, so much so that if they had more games to play and were boys, they probably would have been asked to play in the Tech Tournament. Despite a sprained ankle, Miss Fenton coached as never before, and the whole squad certainly appreciates all the work she has done.

Veterans from last year's team were Mim "hefty" Philbrook and Doey "swisher" Wild. Center this year was Edie "deadeye" Dover, who was outstanding on the second team last year. Edie replaced veteran Shirley Palson who was disabled at the beginning of the season with a sprained ankle. Edie is captain-elect for next year, and we certainly wish her all the success in the world. To complete the starting line-up were junior guards, examples of perfect teamwork, namely Muriel Howard, Barbara A. Smith, and Ruth Tapley.

Mim was a knockout with those rolled-twisted back shots. Doey truly lives up to her name in running the other team "Wild" for she's anywhere and everywhere all the time. Edie, in the first game against Belmont, proved her worth by scoring sixteen of Winchester's eighteen points. Ruthie is the last of the long line of Tapleys, and she certainly lives up to the reputation the rest of her family has left behind. Barbara, better known as "B. A.", is the hardest working member of the squad. And, frankly, we can't fathom how opponents made any baskets with tall, beautiful Muriel Howard there to stop them.

Others playing on the first team were guards Betsy Drake and Marjorie Smith, and forward Shirley Palson.

We certainly can't forget to applaud Joan Hevey. She certainly went all out in supplying the squad with their needs, scheduling games, etc., besides being score-keeper.

Obtaining second team letters were Esther Capone, Capt.; Nancy Snow, Virginia Wallace, Ann Penniman, Carol Crandall, Marilyn Drake, Marie Herlihy, Bunny Harmer, Jane Duffett.

Class Oration

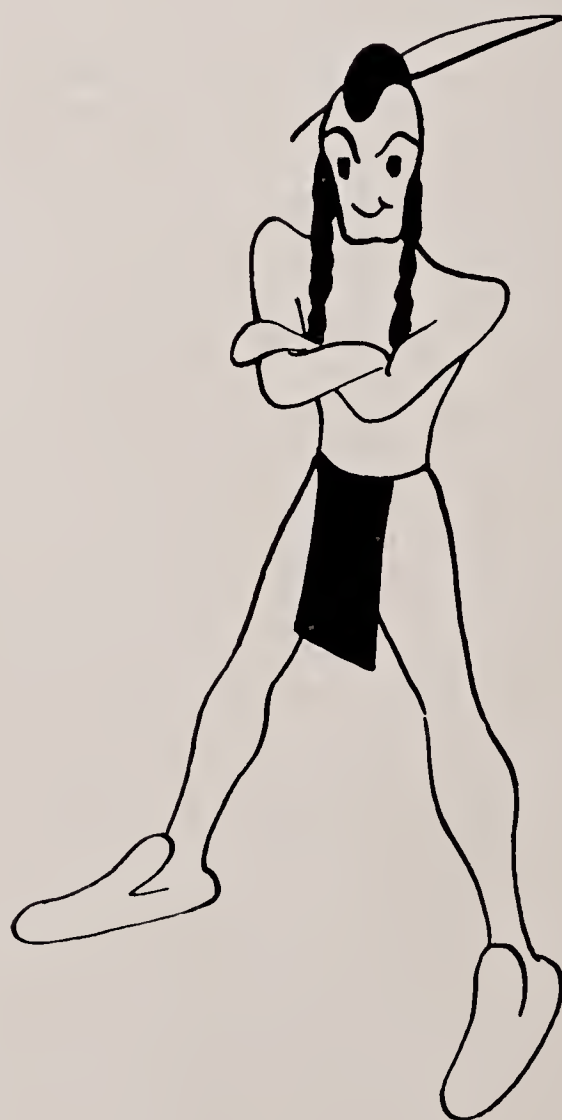

Has school been four years of grind? Did all Friday 6th periods seem years away? After a quiet week-end of movies, parties, and dances, supplemented by seasonal sports, did Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday in school seem an unsuitable place to rest up for the next week-end? Have you wondered why all 24 outside reading books were waiting to be read the night before they were due, why the last bell always rang at eight fourteen and a half, or why they never had Esquire in the library? Have you dreamed of ice cream sandwiches containing vanilla ice cream exclusively? Have you hoped for four years that the "no school" signal would blow?

Has school been four years of grind, kids? Well, it won't be in the future; get a load of a 1963 Winchester High School day! Learning is the least consideration in our streamlined school of tomorrow. Johnny Student parks his auto-giro on the roof at ten. He doesn't rush into his homeroom because he has no homeroom. Why have a homeroom when homeroom notices are flashed over the intra-mural radio? No, the first thing Johnny Student does is speed to the gym on one of the numerous fluid drive escalators. There he is put thru vigorous military exercise by General Bartlett and Commodore Small, recently back from Berlin and Tokyo. When Johnny has worked up an appetite he steps into the vitaminized cafeteria where coffee and cigarettes are forced upon him. After a dehydrated hot dish, he takes an elevator to his one and only class for the day, and what a class! No more desks in the 1963 classrooms, nor blackboards. Divans and fireplaces, no less, are standard equipment in '63. Suppose Johnny Student is seized with thirst. He steps to the drinking fountain, where not water, but ice cold Coca Cola greets his turn of the handle. Returning to his class, he has a lecture from his Spanish teacher in Madrid by television. For practical purposes Johnny studies modern languages, for instead of a week-end in New Hampshire, he flies over to a European friend's house. For the same air minded reason, he has classes in geography, map reading, and aeronautics. Johnny spends the remaining afternoon playing baseball in the school stadium and then has a swim in the sterilized swimming tank. Ultravioletly dried, Johnny flies home to dinner, but returns to school in time to hear Glenn Miller starting a dance in the Winchester High School Ballroom. You see, friends, with school every other day, Johnny can go out every other night. Sleep is a minor point in 1963, for, with Dr. Alley's Rest Fluid, sleep can be injected into Johnny's veins. By such sleep-insuring methods he can afford to spend more time at his super ultra high school. And a super building it is too, for although the government could afford but five million for a tiny town like Winchester, such a sum was sufficient to create a fine educational plant for all the Johnny Students to fly to school every other morning.

Yes, by 1963, in our socialistic America, the Winchester Federal High School will certainly be the envy of the class of '43.

Class Prophecy

Time: June, 1953.

Place: Home of Bette Shea, now Mrs. ——— U.S.N.

She is expecting her bridge club, seven young married friends she went to school with.

"Why, hello, girls, come on in! I've been wondering where you were."

"Oh, Bette, didn't you know?" piped up Shirley. "They're having the most wonderful show tonight at Winchester Theatre — just bunches of celebrities — and all graduates, mind you, of the Class of '43."

"Yes, Bette," chimed in Maria. "It's a benefit for the Veterans' Park they are dedicating tomorrow at old Ginn Field. Remember when Joan Wild, Mary Murray, Shirley Palson, Mim Philbrook, Mary Keyes, and of course Esther Capone used to practice their sports out there? Well, I suppose you know that Esther, Mim, Mary Murray, and Shirley are all coaches now, and that the rest of them are on 'pro' teams?"

"And don't forget to tell her about Billy West's Eleven that's touring the country, not to mention Bob Goddu's Nine and Pete Twombly's Five. Of course Fred Lindberg is still captaining his track team, and Dick Briggs is the trainer. Jim Farrell and Addison Augusta are coaching for Fred this season, but I haven't glimpsed them yet," put in Doris.

"And imagine how they all got here! In that new transport plane that Andre Redding designed; of course he'd have no one pilot it but Frank Melaragni. "Nini" Luongo is the co-pilot. Thomas Saragosa, the radio operator, and Bob Jackson came along as the Army Air Corps representative. They've got some of the cutest hostesses, too! Remember Virgie Straghan, Niki Zamanakos, Marilyn Tucker, Marion Wyman, and Carol Gay? Well, they're doing a honey job of it! Of course the line is owned by Danny Sullivan, "Gee" Russo, the Ellis Brothers, and Charlie Thornton. They're making it successful, too. They have a cute little coffee shop at the field. Carol Crandall is hostessing in there. Sue Burr sings there in her spare time, just because the people like her voice, and Alice Parker plays the piano for her," offered Smitty.

"And why are you so quiet, Barbie?"

"Well, I was just thinking how nice it is for all those executives and engineers to come when they must be so busy. Why, Paul Blake left his oil job in Texas, and rushed east with his secretaries, Charlotte Foley, Charlotte Leary, and Marjorie Griffiths. Of course Frank Buzzotta whirled in with Lillian Bryce, Anna Gallelo, Norma Boyle, and Pauline Josephson, all taking dictation at once.

"Jack Errico came home and left an important job in his steel mill. His sister is here, too. She has all her clothes done by Anne Cogan. Oh, I didn't tell you Rose is in charge of Herlihy, Morrow, and Holbrook, Fifth Avenue, did I? And remember Genaro, that wonderful artist? Well, he did the interior of their shoppe! Sound good? It is! Even blase Arnold Cummings likes it, and you know how fussy that man-about-town is!"

"Well, the whole show is going to be pretty lavish I guess," came from Yvonne. "It seems that Betty Comita is one of the entertainers, and even if that weren't enough there's a star-studded cats to put on the show. Janet Eaton and Vic Wood are straight in from Hollywood, and Phil Kelly and Mary McIssac are dancing their way to our hearts again. Then there's Charlie Murphy, hot off Broadway."

"And the most amazing thing happened," exclaimed Sally. "Bill Daley, the foreign correspondent y'know just got in from Europe, and he'll be able to speak a little while tonight. That will be fun — you know how he is! And for the serious side of the show there's Ellen Jackson's book reviews — she is literary critic of James Shaughnessey's newspaper. For the orchestra, Bing Grindle's back, with Kenny Wright, Robbie Ramsdell, Cosimo Simonetta and Parker Symmes beating it out again.

"Jack Tarbell, the tennis star, will be here, and Laurie Nickerson and Bob Wilkinson are going to lecture about horses and dogs. Senator Robert Pynn will speak to the youth in the audience, and Patterson Smith will talk on the television of today."

"Of course there are loads of others who are just here for the reunion, but they're all so famous!"

There's Nancy Mortensen, Mildred McLaughlin, and Claire Smalley who model for John O'Leary's Department Store on Park Avenue. Nancy Marceau is here, too. She models for Jergen's ads. She has such beautiful hands! Bill Eaton does publicity for all those glamour gals!

Francis Poirier, Richard Tourtellot, John Post, and Don Marchant are here, too. They're all in business for themselves, as you probably know!

"And do you recall Herman Carlson who used to be a soda jerker? Well, now he owns a chain of drugstores! Barbie Mitchell's his head dietician, and Priscilla Pratt works in his laboratories. Doctors John Murray and Porter Smith see that everyone who works for Herman is healthy, and June Record, Natalie Larson, Shirley Snyder, and Mildred Dorsey are his nurses. Beautiful blonde Natalie Tisdale is their medical technician, and she keeps them all happy," said Shirley.

"Well, what about the dedication tomorrow?" asked Bette. "I heard that Richard Cordice is the orator and Bruce Hamilton, guest of honor—he's worked up so high in the Coast Guard — he's making it his life work. Yes, he's going to be there, brass buttons, braid, and all. David Holmes is representing the Navy Air Corps, and Bob Bolivar will be here for the Army, itself.

"O, it's going to be a supershow, girls. Let's not miss it! We'd be sorry, I know.

"And now, let's settle down to a little bridge!"

CLAIRE SMALLEY

Class Essay

It was lunchtime in the cafeteria shortly after the opening of school in September, 1940. The unprovoked attack on Poland by the Nazis came up for discussion by the senior boys; a highly respected group.

The impending tragedy of Poland held the individual attention of all. Everyone had his say, wise or otherwise. What effect the war would have on America and the rest of the world; what would be the stand of France and Great Britain; how that fox Mussolini would jump. These and other questions of finance and strategy came up, not forgetting the dismissal of Japan with scant ceremony. Back and forth various opinions and surmises were tossed.

At length, towards the end of the meal, a young, innocent sophomore, known as Joe for the purposes of this article, was asked his meager opinion concerning the absorbing topic.

The tall young stripling, who hitherto had been a keen and intelligent listener, smiled half-heartedly and said, "I'm going to keep my head cool and my feet warm. And whatever the President and the Congress do in the matter will be all right with me."

The speaker sat back and eyed the mighty clique with an inferior smile. All were silent for a moment, as if each listener was digesting the speaker's recent words.

Soon the students scattered to their various classes.

Today Joe's two-sentence declaration holds good. With the collapse of France; Dunkirk; the over-running of most of Europe by the fanatical Nazi hordes; the previous stalemate of the Battle of Britain; the crushing of the Balkans and Greece; Pearl Harbor and Bataan; only one fact, one single fact, stands out like a steadfast beacon on a rockbound coast in a night of storm; the heroic stand of the Russian people.

An age, resplendent in many ways, is dying in blood and tears and the whole world is in mighty travail with the birth of its successor.

After all is said, Tojo is our hardest nut to crack. And we Americans will have to do the heft of the cracking, as the other Allied Nations will feel that Japan lies well within our sphere of influence in the Pacific.

So far the Allies have only scratched the surface in our effort to give lasting defeat to the Axis. Much spade work remains to be done before we can even lay the foundation stones of our stately edifice of victory, stained though it may be by the most precious treasure ever given by man: the lifeblood of heroes and martyrs, the tears and moans of women and children. No temple e'er rose with costlier things built into its every stone and column.

These are plain (and painful) words; but the time and the place call for them.

In the meantime let us each pray to God, as does Joe, to keep us steadfast in the faith that no weapon forged of man shall prevail against God and His righteousness.

CHARLES MURPHY

Class Will

Know all men by these presents; that we, the members of the Class of 1943 of Winchester High School, being of sound mind do hereby devise and declare this last will and testament, revoking all former wills constituted by us, to bequeath our characteristic traits and certain idiosyncracies in order that our successors, named hereinafter, may dutifully carry on the undergraduate life of the aforementioned school;

We, the members of Winchester High School's football team of '43, bequeath fond memories of our successful football year under our beloved captain, Bill West.

I, Barbara Bray, will my quiet disposition to Barbara Bonnell.

I, Jackie Tarbell, now and forever, return to the Murphys, O'Rourkes, and Hooligans, their brogue.

To Gloria Herrick, do I, Jeannie Kenton, leave the "too easy to appear" blush.

I, Lois Thompson, do regretfully bequeath my gray flannel slacks to Marjorie Carson.

I, Pauline Milne, after many years of occupying the piano bench, leave those ivories, to our up-and-coming Ann Richardson.

To Joan Ray, do I, Joan Hevey, will those little orange slices in the hope that the team will get an abundance of vitamins and win some games.

To the Woburn girls, do we, Norma Boyle and Dot Carroll, return their boys in the hope that there will be a few left.

To my flirtatious sister Eleanor, I, Charlie Murphy, will my fickleness, as past experiences have proved variety to be the spice of life.

I leave:

Calm leadership, ability, and being "right on the beam,"

To next year's captain of the basketball team.

Then you will say, "Why, who do you mean?"

And of course, it's Everett "Pete" Twombly.

We, Bob Pynn and Yvonne Clennon, do solemnly promise never to fight again!

I, Mildred McLaughlin, do bequeath my arresting eyes to that slap-happy junior, "Ginny" Terhune.

I, "Bill" Daley, sometimes known as "Willie the Wolf," leave my passion for telling "different" jokes, to Bob Johnston.

We, Joanie Blanchard and Shirley Howland, leave our constant companionship to those two glamour gals, Betsy Allen and Jean McGrath.

To Gerre Goldsmith, do I, Kaye Freygang, leave my ability to "get around" even with the gas rationing!!!

I, Janet Eaton, leave the custody of West Point to that Blonde Bombshell, Ruth Allen.

To Shirley Salyer, do I, Sally Sherburne, leave my beautiful complexion.

I, Bette Shea, relinquish my ad-getting energy to Anne McGuerty.

To any wistful-looking undergraduate do I, Richard Cordice, leave my quiet look of superiority.

I, Barbara "B" Browning, leave my unexcelled sunny disposition to Anne Richardson.

I, Genaro Cirignano, vacate my position as master of the art room to some hopeful young undergraduate.

I, Rita Flannagan, hereby bequeath my Irish dimples to Theresa O'Melia, in the hope that she will have the chance to use them.

I, "Mim" Philbrook, relinquish my stock of stunning clothes to another stunner, Joan Hanson.

To Jean Ebens, do I, Doris Lawson, leave my appetite for being late to school.

I, Maria von Mering, sadly forsake my Harvard males to another fan, Ruthie Tapley.

To "Ginny" Terhune, do I, "Tis" will my doll-like lashes for her own private use.

I, Fatty Buzzotta, forlornly leave my well-earned position on the gridiron to my successor, Buddy Lambiase.

To Glenn Prentiss, do I, Wallace Parkin, relinquish my usher's suit of the Winchester Theatre.

I, Hugh Hawkes, leave all my secret formulas of charming the fairer sex to Russell Pynn.

To the air corps, do I, Pearl La Fontaine, relinquish my fondness for their insignia.

To that energetic sophomore, Mary Jane Penta, do I, Charlotte Foley, bestow my hilarious disposition.

I, Dick Sheehan, do hereby will and bequeath my masculine position among the clerical classes to Russell Dockham.

To John Ottiano, do I, Norman Lundin, leave my artistic ability.

To that handsome junior, Larry Norton, do I, Marty Joyce, willingly will my rolled-up pant legs.

I, Arthur Stewart, surrender my everlasting tardiness in attending assemblies, to any unlucky junior who rides to school on the bus.

Upon Russ Pynn, do I, Phil Ewell, bequeath my flirting manner.

I, Arthur Butters, after much consideration, do hereby will my executive position as stage manager to Alan Bugbee.

To any skillful skier of the junior class, do I, Bob Salzman, offer my ski equipment.

I, David "Five-by-Five" Holmes, willingly leave my ski sweater to that dashing young "sweater boy" of the junior class, Ken Harvey.

I, Alice Parker, hustler of the graduating class, do hereby will and bequeath my ambitious nature to Ginny Terhune.

To any daring junior, do I, George O'Leary, welcome my noisy manner acquired mostly in Miss Parker's English class.

To some undiscovered, bashful junior girl, do I, Elvira Mottolo, bequeath my quiet personality.

To B. A. Smith, do I, Janet Johnson, leave my brains, with the hope that if she ever needs them, they will come in handy.

I, Phyl Russell, leave my roller-skating ability to Peggy Philbrook.

I, Dick Phinny, bestow upon Larry Parker the ability to pick hot platters.

I, Clark Collins, leave the hope that Mrs. Stacy will find another corduroy jacket to admire.

To Lucy Russo, do I, Marie Barron, leave my "four-foot-eleven formula" to come up in the world.

To Joan Ray, do I, Shirley Fitzgerald, leave my ravishing red hair.

I, Harry Boodakian, leave the task of convincing Miss Parker to see my point of view to any junior open to such a proposition.

I, Doris Daigneault, surrender my quiet nature to Priscilla Hurd.

I, Barbara Washburn, leave, with the knowledge that long after I am gone — the Navy will still go on!

I, Carol Crandall, leave my slap-happy disposition to Mary Powers — although I doubt if she will ever need it.

I, Carol Gay, leave my sweet disposition to B. J. Smith.

I, Peggy Fitzgerald, leave to the underclassmen the knowledge that "it's better to be late, than never."

I, Doey Wild, leave my unusual combination of brains and beauty to that promising young Gloria Herrick.

I, Cashie Giuliani, leave my love for the Navy to Barbara Kenton.

To Nancy Griener and Emily Hanson, do we, "Smitty" and Annette, surrender our flirtatious ways — knowing they will be used to full advantage.

I, Gaspie Lentine, leave my vacant spot on the gridiron to the new candidates, Sam Tompkins and Patsy Bergquist.

I, Marie Moore, leave my blondness to petite Ingrid Carlson.

I, Virgie Straghan, hereby will my business-like nature to Bert Moore.

I, Alice Nash, leave my passion for driving my Buick for the duration.

To Kaye Murray, do I, Eileen Gray, bestow my talkative ways.

To Maestro Herbert Clement, do I, Jean Stillman, relinquish my seat in the violin section, so he may continue to be the joy of Mr. Brown's life.

I, "Clem" Dodson leave to my dearly beloved sister, Fran, the keys to the Senior High.

To the waste basket, do I, "Nae" Capone, reverently bequeath all my letters from the armed services.

I, Fran Quimby, readily leave my sweet smile to Betty Bush, in the hope that her nice nature may stand out a bit more.

To the commandos, do I Peggy Troop, bestow my athletic ability.

We, Bill Twombly and Lawrence Bacon, leave our quiet nature to the Sophomore Class.

I, Paul Williams, leave my handsome manliness to Dick Nihan.

To next year's geography class, do I, Bob Cox, will my knowledge of all the states in the United States.

I, George Schad, leave my favorite song "Sweet Elouise" to anyone who can pick it up where I left off.

I, Claire Smalley, leave my green eyes to Nancy Davidson.

To Charlie Lovejoy, do I, Frank Melaragni, leave my "Charles Atlas" physique.

I, Bernard Rassat, leave my quick change of voice to Roger Curtis.

I, Roland Hallberg, promise never to take any more of those beautiful handkerchiefs.

To my sister Pauline, I, Robert Donahue, leave my embarrassing manner of blushing at the wrong times.

I, Betsy Drake, leave my outstanding ability in sports to my sister Marilyn, with hope that she will follow in my footsteps.

I, Helen Elliott, leave my ability to capture "A's" to Francis Sleeper.

To Jimmy Kimball, I, Robbie Ellis, leave my capacity for being a grand pal to everyone.

To Herbert Clement, do I, Frank Horne, leave my superb dramatic talent.

I, Crosby Grindle, leave my ability to win the fairer sex without even trying, to Ken Harvey.

To the Sophomore class, do I, Dean Squires, sadly leave Jean Hatch, with the knowledge that she won't be lonely for long.

To any unfortunate junior, do I, Rosemary McGuinness, will my aptitude for catching the measles more than once.

I, Kay Seaton, bequeath my ambitious ways to "Ginny" Lafan, another go-getter.

I, Franny Poirer, will willingly give up my right arm, but never "Ginny."

To any lucky undergraduate girl, I, Phyl Kelly, leave that "lady-killer" of the junior class, Sam Tompkins.

I, Kenny Wright, bestow my "li'l old hat" to next year's most boisterous cheer-booster of W. H. S.'s teams.

We, Marj. Nowell and Shirley Josephson, leave our steno pads to next year's blooming secretaries.

I, Johnny Murray, bestow my brainy ways and winsome smile to that intellectual genius, "Stretch" McGovern.

To Marjorie Kimber, I, "Libby Deroo, leave my "crush" on lucky Jim Kimball with the hope that she makes out better than I did.

I, Nat Nelson, will my ability in shooting those "long-shots" during basketball practice, to Nancy Snow.

I, Bob Treacy, will my sarcasm and back talk to any daring junior of Miss Parker's English class of '44.

I, Clara Capone, leave my typewriter to my sister Florence.

I, Phyl Anderson, bequeath my cable-stitched socks to Jean Freygang.

To my brother Kevin, do I, Jim Burke, leave my locker for his own private use.

Signed, sealed, and delivered to us, we, the executors (and witnesses), at the request of the aforementioned, in the presence of each other, sign our names at this date of May 22, 1943.

An Retrospect

September first! What a blow! It seemed that we were starting school with two strikes on us, but the school life soon took our minds off the date.

Days went by, and then the first football game came. We were a happy class all through that stellar season with its multitude of victories. It was a thrill to read about our boys being Class C Champs. This was our year. All through the fall one could see the spirit that ran high throughout the school. We were a proud and happy-go-lucky crowd when this season ended.

We entered the winter season with many doubts. Finally, the basketball team got going, and it too, felt the thrill of success. A bid to the Tech Tournament, the first in our school's history. Although the team couldn't click its spirit didn't break. A record of fourteen won and four lost wasn't to be sneezed at.

Then came a pause as we realized we were almost through the season, with only about 40 days of school left. We had work to do and it must be done. We soon missed familiar faces that had left for the service. All our activities seemed dwarfed beside this bigger job that we had suddenly discovered.

Many entered Vau-devil with new vigor. This was going to be their last real "bang-up" appearance at the school. It went over wonderfully well, with sell-outs both nights. The show had a patriotic tingle which drove home the bigger job ahead to an even greater degree.

Next, Prom, Graduation and Class Night began to be "hashed" over. Aberjona had started, and the Prom date was set—May first! Our last school social event of the year! It was then that we realized that we had a million and one things left to do and school immediately seemed to become a maelstrom.

The baseball season had added its havoc to the final rush. Very little was known about this squad, but everyone knows our coach. He can make a team out of anything. We didn't wait long for this great team to make its debut and prove its worth.

Now we see the change that has come over us. A more serious, businesslike, and studious group is going forth. We shall leave this school with varied regrets, never forgetting the preparation it has given us for the job ahead.
